Committee Acts To Boost Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Appropriations Committee voted Saturday to put into a catch-all appropriations bill an additional 190 million dollars in foreign aid funds which President Eisenhower has called necessary to the nation's security.

This action moved the postconvention session of Congress another step toward adjournment this week—although this indirect method of meeting part of the President's request must be approved not only on the Senate floor but in the House where opposition to foreign aid spending has been stiffer than in the Senate.

The unresolved foreign aid question and an apparent Senate-House deadlock over minimum wage legislation remain the principal barriers to adjournment so Congress members can turn to the campaign battles.

The House-approved compromise on a bill including medical care for the aged still was before the Senate but its acceptance seemed likely.

Both Senate and House Friday quickly turned down Eisenhower's appeal to reopen conference committee hearings to restore to the regular foreign aid bill half a billion dollars trimmed from the President's recommendations.

But in voting with the House to accept the compromise, the Senate left the door open for more money by suggesting that if Eisenhower could make a case, the Appropriations Committee would approve urgently needed funds and put them in a catch-all bill covering miscellaneous appropriations.

The Senate and House have agreed on cutting over half a billion dollars from amounts originally asked by President Eisenhower for overseas aid—with the result that the President protested the sum is inadequate for the nation's security.

Eisenhower originally requested that $4,281,704,000 be authorized but both House and Senate agreed on an appropriation calling for $3,722,350,000. The Senate leadership, however, gave the administration a chance Saturday to make a case for more funds.

The White House renewed its plea for more foreign aid money Saturday, with presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty saying Congress still has time.

With the House recessed until Monday, the Senate spent the first hour or so of its session Saturday extending 52nd birthday congratulations to Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas.

Although Johnson is the Democratic nominee for vice president, politics mostly were put aside for the occasion, including a bipartisan munching of birthday cake.

Study Possible Red China, Soviet Feud Over A-Weapons

WASHINGTON (AP)—A dispute over possession of nuclear weapons within the Communist bloc may lie close to the heart of the great and increasingly bitter ideological argument raging between the Soviet Union and Red China.

This is one of the possibilities being studied by top officials here in their search to discover the hard, real issues behind the angry, wordy debate over "peaceful coexistence," as preached by the Soviet Union versus the inevitablility of war, as argued by the Chinese.

One aim of the United States and its Western allies in digging out all the information possible on the dispute is to discover if there are ways it may be exploited to the benefit of the West. So far no dramatic opportunities have occurred.

So far Washington leaders are persuaded that, however violent the words may become, the forces which pull Moscow and Peiping together in their common interests are much greater than the forces which push them apart.

Yet it is the central importance of their common interests which gives significance to the dispute that has slowly built up between the two Red powers over the last year or more. It is this element, indeed, which suggests that behind the denunciations and name-calling which both sides now employ are vital interests in solid issues which tend to split them apart.

One of these is the problem of nuclear weapons, over which Moscow has a complete monopoly within the Communist bloc. In their war of words Moscow and Peiping have not touched on this issue. They have, in fact, avoided any references to the specific probelms behind their controversy.

Top officials here say, however, that it must be assumed that Communist China wants or will want nuclear weapons for its arsenals. Without such weapons China must remain a second-rate power.

Chinese science and production capacity eventually would be able to create a nuclear weapons output of its own but aid from Moscow could speed the process tremendously. The same is true of atomic energy for peaceful uses.

Against this obvious Chinese need for nuclear might and for the rocket power necessary to give it real military meaning stands the Soviet unwillingness to

Considers Compromise To Condemn Mr. K For Threats

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP)—A compromise resolution to avoid a direct shot at Cuba and instead condemn Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev for threatening a rocket defense of Cuba ran into trouble Saturday at a meeting of hemisphere foreign ministers.

Mexico was reported spearheading the idea of naming Khrushchev specifically in the proposed resolution brought before the 10-nation study session. Four of the 10 nations had spent hours hammering the new wording together.

This study group at the Organization of American States conference must decide what kind of resolution might gain full support when all 20 member nations meet to vote—one decrying extra-continental intervention in general, the one blasting Khrushchev for his threats, or one aimed directly at Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Once the full conference gets the resolution, a two-thirds majority —14 of the 20 nations in OAS— is enough to pass it. But experts here say the big goal is unanimity, in keeping with OAS' record of full accord in major resolutions during its 70-year history.

One delegation objects to the latest plan because it believes the United States would accept it as it exists. The delegation called the plan a clever draft that tries to equate Cuba and the United States.

Another objection is that the proposal makes no attempt to create an OAS committee to watch the situation in Cuba. Without such a committee, Cuba could argue that OAS has finished its debate on Cuba's economic aggression charge against the United States, thereby entitling Cuba to haul the matter before the U. N. Security Council.

U. S. officials have made it clear they want the final resolution to be strong, no matter what the exact language—one that specifically recognizes the extent of Red Chinese-Soviet threats to the Western Hemisphere.

Sorority Members Face Suspension From High School

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Philip J. Hickey, superintendent of instruction in St. Louis schools, Saturday said members of a high school sorority may be suspended from school as a result of a dance and drinking party Thursday night.

Heavy fines were assessed against nine youths who were arrested and charged with disturbing the peace when officers investigated reports that minors were drinking at the dance.

Police said the Beta chapter of Omega Sigma, a social sorority composed primarily of Cleveland High School students, sponsored the dance. Eighteen persons, including eight girls, were taken into custody as a result of the disturbance. About 250 persons were reported to have attended the dance at a hall in South St. Louis.

Hickey said, "We don't propose to have that kind of stuff going on in the public schools."

He said, "We don't permit sororities or fraternities to pledge members in the school or to carry on any kind of activities in the school buildings."

3 Experts Spot Unidentified Object In Orbit Around Earth

CHICAGO (AP)—Three expert astronomers disclosed Saturday they spotted an unidentified object circling the earth in an orbit opposite to those of known American and Soviet artificial satellites.

"I have no explanation for it," commented Robert I. Johnson, director of Adler Planetarium on Chicago's lakefront.

"None of the 29 artificial satellites of the United States or Russia should have been over Chicago at that time."

The sighting occurred Friday night as Johnson and 200 spectators gathered at the planetarium to observe the scheduled passage of Echo I, U.S. balloon communications satellite.

Johnson, scanning the heavens, said he caught sight of the unidentified object by chance, and that two planetarium associates confirmed the observation.

Johnson described the object as about one-tenth the size of Echo I and reddish in color.

It was moving from west to east about twice as fast as Echo I, he said, and apparently was seen by several persons between Bensenville, Ind., and the Chicago area.

"It was in orbit opposite the rotation of the earth — and all our satellites are launched with the earth's rotation," Johnson said. "They need that extra speed to escape the atmosphere."

Dr. Gerald Kuiper, University of Chicago astronomer and former director of Yerkes Observatory in Williams Bay, Wis., said he and fellow staff members watching for Echo I did not see the mystery object.

He said it might have been an airplane.

A meterorologist at the U. S. Weather Bureau said there were ice clouds 30,000 feet above Chicago at the time of the sighting, and these were capable of reflecting a searchlight as a luminous pinpoint.

ILLINOIS WOULD BENEFIT IF MEDICAL AID BILL PASSES

WASHINGTON (AP) — Illinois could draw an additinoal $9,816,000 in federal funds by putting up $5,911,000 of state money under the compromise medical care plan for the aged being put through Congress by Republicans and southern Democrats.

The Illinois figures were contained in an estimate by the Social Security Administration Saturday. The estimate showed additional costs to federal and state governments for the first year if all states participated in the medical care plan for the aged.

Overall, the formula, developed by Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla), would provide up to 202 millions of federal funds if states put up less than 60 million.

Kerr's formula would give southern states — with low average incomes and larger populations— the biggest bargains under the legislation.

Critics Demand U.S. Break Diplomatic Relations With Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP)—A break in relations with the Dominican Republic brought a demand in congressional quarters Saturday that the United States take the same course with the "equally despotic Castro regime in Cuba, which is Communist besides."

The United States, said Rep. Armistead I. Selden Jr. (D-Ala) was "sadly and badly outmaneuvered" at the hemisphere foreign ministers' conference in Costa Rica.

It was "a terrible blunder," he told a reporter, for those responsible for U. S. foreign policy to join the move against the Dominican Republic "without being absolutely certain that simultaneous action would be taken" against the Castro regime in Havana.

"They are both dictatorships, and bad ones," said Selden, chairman of a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee on Latin America.

Both in Congress and among other government officials there was frank dismay at the turn of events in Costa Rica.

The foreign ministers' meeting in San Jose convicted Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo's Dominican regime of aggression against Venezuela. Venezuela accused Trujillo officials of backing a plot to assassinate Romulo Betancourt and to overthrow his Venezuelan government. The Dominican Republic denied the charges.

Chairman Harold D. Cooley (D-NC) of the House Agriculture Committee commented: "it seems crazy to me for us to break relations with a regime which has been friendly and cooperative in every way for years, in the hope of overthrowing this regime and creating a situation where a dictatorship worse than that in Cuba can move in."

Some officials said privately the developments at Costa Rica may have brought a new crisis in U.S. relations with all Latin America because of public wrath at Prime Minister Castro and disappointment that Latin American nations did not support the U. S. position in Costa Rica.

The United States proposed a watch-dog committee to supervise free elections in the Dominican Republic but went along with other nations on the sterner measure of a break in relations. It sought a flat denunciation of the

Kennedy Invades New Hampshire, Maine Thursday

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP — Sen. John F. Kennedy has set his campaign sights on sewing up Maine and New Hampshire. He is invading both states next Thursday.

Pierre Salinger, the Democratic presidential nominee's press secretary, contended, "Our chances are very good in both Maine and New Hampshire."

Kennedy had hoped to work in a stop in Vermont on his Thursday expedition into New England. But that will have to come later, if at all.

The Democratic candidate is staging the formal kickoff of his campaign at Anchorage, Alaska, next Saturday. Salinger said Kennedy will speak there on the "development of Alaskan and Western resources."

And, he said, economic growth, an issue between the rival candidates and rival platforms, will be the topic of Kennedy's Labor Day speech in Cadillac Square, Detroit Sept. 5.

Salinger announced that Kennedy is making his first television speech on purchased time from Washington the night of Sept. 20. He said it will be a 30-minute effort, probably over all networks.

The senator is spending a weekend at his summer home on Cape Cod. And the emphasis is on rest. Salinger said Kennedy played for a while in the morning with his 2½-year-old daughter, Caroline, then went out on the 53-foot family motor launch for a cruise in Nantucket Sound.

Eight Hospitalized; U.N. Makes Strong Protest To Lumumba

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Rampaging Congolese army troops raided a United Nations office and attacked the crew of a U. S. Air Force Globemaster in Stanleyville Saturday, U. N. headquarters announced.

The United Nations made a strong protest to the Congo government.

Eight U. S. airmen were taken to a hospital after the attack by Congolese soldiers. A U. N. spokesman said all eight had been "maltreated."

Three of the Americans at first were reported missing. Officials said they were seized by Congolese army police and taken to a military camp. They later were released by Ethiopian U. N. troops and taken to the hospital.

Two Canadians and a Swede were reported beaten in the attack on the U. N. office. One of the Canadians was hospitalized.

A U. N. spokesman here said there was no shooting in connection with the Stanleyville outbreak. Congolese soldiers in the past have used their rifle butts freely in incidents of violence.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force Saturday identified the members of the C124 Globemaster crew attacked by Congolese troops in Stanleyville but had no immediate information on which ones had been hurt.

Dispatches from the Congo said eight U.S. airmen had been "maltreated."

The Air Force listed the plane crew as:

Capt. Elvert L. Mott, Box 992, Glenmora, La.

Lt. Kenneth Stickevers, 34 Holland Court, Valley Stream, N.Y.

Lt. Armand A. Kelsenberg, Pierz, Minn.

Lt. William M. Shaw, 7 Sheridan Road, Asheville, N.C.

T. Sgt. Kenneth E. Bennett, 2527 Woolsey St., Norfolk, Va.

Lt. Gerald T. Henery, 2113 Fort Davis St., S. E., Washington, D.C.

T. Sgt. Fred M. Kaiser, 284 North Street, Smyrna, Del.

S. Sgt. B. E. Bossa, 4019 Iola Drive, Sarasota, Fla.

The Globemaster is based at Dover, Del.

U. S. Ambassador Clare Timberlake discussed the situation with Ralph J. Bunche, U. N. chief in the Congo. Bunche later sent a protest to Congo Foreign Minister Justin Bomboko. A spokesman termed the protest very strong and said it reminded the Congo government of the commitments it accepted under the Security Council's resolutions furnishing military and technical assistance to the African nation.

The Elthiopian brigade commander of U. N. forces in Stanleyville reported the situation there was serious and asked for instructions. There are about 1,800 Ethiopian troops in the Stanleyville area but only about 400 in the city itself.

(U. N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold called a meeting of his 15-member advisory committee on the Congo at U. N. headquarters in New York. There was no announcement after the two-hour meeting but informants said the talks presumably dealt with the incidents in the Congo. The committee represents the countries which have forces in the Congo with the U. N.

U. N. officials called the incidents "the most serious in the history of the U. N. Congo operation."

The attacks emphasized Premier Patrice Lumumba's demands that the U. N. forces quit the Congo, turning over the job of maintaining order to his army. Lumumba himself flew to Stan-

GOP Jubilant Over Reception South Gave Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon's spokesman claimed jubilantly Saturday that probing actions in the South have shown a strong trend for the Republican presidential nominee.

Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's press secretary, said the trend is such that it has forced Sen. John F. Kennedy to reassess and step up his campaign plans.

Kennedy, the Democratic nominee, is resting over the weekend at his summer home in Hyannis Port, Mass. He begins intensive campaigning Sept. 3 with a swing that will take him to Alaska, Michigan, the Pacific Northwest and California.

Klein said Nixon won't take off on any comparable day-after-day campaigning until about Sept. 15. In the meantime he will fill individual dates, including a possible trip next weekend.

The press secretary said Nixon's warm reception on a visit Friday to Birmingham, Ala., and Atlanta, Ga., had stirred up enthusiasm for a two-party South.

"The vice president's success have forced Sen. Kennedy to step up his efforts," Klein told a news conference. "They have forced Sen. Kennedy to change his pace. During the first week of September he is going to be on the road a lot more than we."

Klein told newsmen that a telephonic check has been made of Republican leaders in all 50 states.

And how did they feel?

"Highly optimistic," Klein said. "Their optimism has reached a degree that we're trying to temper it. This is a campaign in which both candidates will have their ups and downs."

Klein said that Nixon had ordered those working on his campaign schedule to include a major speech in the South during the first two days of his first long trip. He said a talk in Texas is among those being considered.

The press secretary said Nixon will speak at a campaign school for GOP publicity directors here early this week. The vice president will address the American Bar Assn. convention here Thursday.

Klein confirmed only one other definite date, a talk to a women's club meeting in Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 15.

In response to questons, Klein denied that Nixon is bringing religion into the campaign despite his promise not to talk about it. Kennedy is a Roman Catholic and Nixon is a Quaker.

"The vice president is taking every precaution against religion's becoming an issue in the campaign," Klein said. "No one has worked harder to keep this from becoming an issue than he has."

Hopes Dwindle For Safety Of Abducted Girl, Intensify Search For Blond Gunman

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP)—Hope for the safety of a teen-age girl dwindled Saturday, three days after a young gunman shot her fiance and carried the girl from a lovers' lane.

Federal, state and local authorities intensified their search through the southern reaches of Illinois for a trace of the 17-year-old waitress, Mary Lily Ellen Roberts, and the blond gunman who kidnaped her Thursday.

While investigators, including the FBI, said they were hopeful the girl would be found alive, most expressed doubt she would be.

The girl's parents, too, expressed the belief she is dead.

"I think my girl may be dead," said the mother, Mrs. Mary Lee Roberts. Her husband, a farm worker, said he, too, believes his daughter was slain.

A young gunman abducted the girl from the automobile of her fiancee, John Bryant Jr., 20, after shooting Bryant in the face and taking his wallet. The gunman appeared as the young couple were parked on the shore of Crab Orchard Lake in the Crab Orchard Wildlife Refuge, five miles east of Carbondale.

More than 100 volunteers joined in the hunt for the girl in some of the state's roughest terrain. They searched abandoned houses, wells, and coal mine ventilating shafts in the 44,000 acre game refuge.

A torn white shirt was turned up and investigators tried to determine if stains on it were blood.

Meanwhile the search continued for a green and white 1955 model car which Bryant reported the girl's kidnaper was driving. Some campers in the wildlife refuge also reported seeing the same car.

Mary Lily Roberts

Bryant, reported in fair condition in a Carbondale hospital gave investigators this version of the shooting and kidanping:

He and Miss Roberts were sitting in his parked car when the green and white car was driven into the parking lot.

A tall, bond man about 25 got out and, gun in hand, advanced on the Bryant car. He ordered Bryant to get out, and shot him in the face as he stepped from the vehicle.

Bleeding, and semi-conscious, Bryant said he heard the gunman drive off as he lay on the ground. Later, Bryant said, he managed to get back into his car and drive two miles to a busy highway.

A restaurant operator saw the wounded man and summoned help.

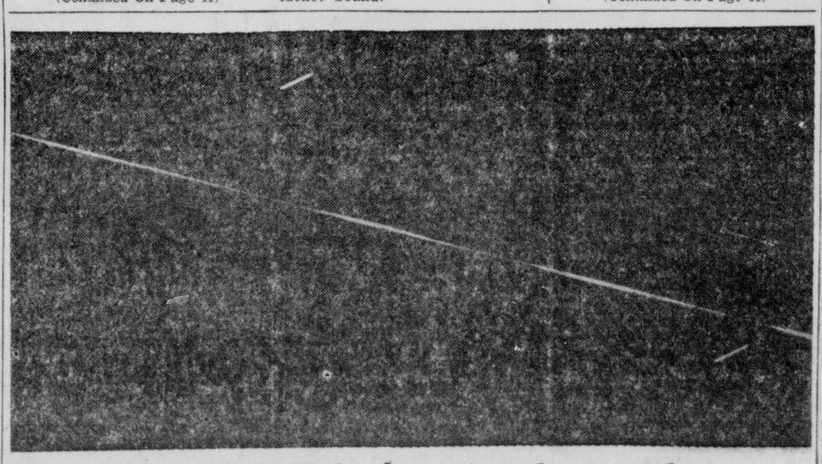

The kidnaper eluded a net work of road blocks, leading police to believe he was familiar with the area.

Bryant told police he was positive the kidnaper's car was a green and white 1955 Buick sedan. Police ran down scores of leads to such cars but none turned out to be the car sought.

FBI agents entered the case because the crime occurred on federal property and the girl, missing more than 24 hours, was presumed to have been taken across state lines, a violation of federal law.

Miss Roberts worked as a waitress at a Carbondale drive-in restaurant. During the week, she lived in Carbondale in a trialer she shared with another girl. On weekends she usually returned to her parent's home in nearby Cobden.

The girl's former high school teachers and her employer described her as a quiet person and a good student.

School To Begin August 30 In White Hall Unit No. 2

WHITE HALL — Supt. W. J. Ritchey of the White Hall Community School Unit No. 2 has announced that bus transportation will be the same as in previous years, with seven routes to be in effect and on Tuesday, the 30th of August, the first day of school, all children riding busses, will be picked up at the regular time in the morning and returned home by possibly 12:30 of the first day. All children living one and one half miles from the attendance centers are eligible for bus transportation.

The kindergarten under Miss Margaret Kinison is to be held in the basement of the White Hall elementary building east end, and children whose birthdays occur in June, July, August, September, October and November, are to report on Aug. 30th before noon. Those having birthdays during the remaining months of the year, report in the afternoon.

Insurance

Insurance for pupils is to be paid on the opening day of school. Lunches will be served at all centers, at the cost of $1.50 per week for five days or $.30 per day. Payment for the first three days of the term of school shall be paid on the opening day, payment for the remaining weeks, to be paid on Monday morning of each week, and if paid by check should be made to the White Hall Unit No. 2 not to teachers or principals of the centers.

Football practice will be Monday, Aug. 29, equipment to be given out on Aug. 27th. All children wishing to play must have a health certificate on file from his doctor in the schools office.

Activity Tickets

Activity tickets will be available to all pupils, student price $2.70, adults $4.00 per person. Tickets to be purchased on the first day of the school year and for cash only. Adults may purchase tickets at the high school office at any time, or secured by the child attending school.

Pupils are to pay for work books and magazines on the first day of school, prices to range as follows: kindergarten, $1.00; first grade $3.65; second grade $4.40; third grade, $3.45; fourth grade $3.40; fifth grade $3.40; sixth grade $3.40; seventh grade $3.15 and eighth grade $3.85, with an average cost for high school students of $3.50 to $6.00 depending on the course taken. The latter will also pay a twenty five cent locker fee.

HISTORIC MARKINGS

PERRY, Fla. (AP)—Markings from the original U. S. government survey of Florida back in 1829 have been found in the heart of a cypress tree in North Florida.

A land survey crew found the survey marks and three so-called witness trees used to help locate a particular section corner.

The original surveyor chipped a slab from a tree and on the flat surface had marked the township, range and section numbers. The markings now are six inches deep in the tree.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Television, with its insatiable appetite and its vast audiences, has shaken up the social structure of this film capital as drastically as the advent of the talking picture three decades ago.

Once the kings and queens of cinema city were the great stars whose names and pictures were insurance of box-office success. Today's rulers, however, constitute a sort of ratings royalty whose crowns can be worn only as long as their programs remain among the top 20 in estimates of audience size.

In this charmed and nervous circle, Loretta Young is a regal standout. "The Loretta Young Show" soon will start its eighth consecutive season of weekly dramatic shows. In TV, seven consecutive sponsored years is an eon. Loretta's reign, in terms of sheer longevity, can be likened to that of Victoria Regina.

She is further remarkable for survival in a segment of the entertainment business which, in its preoccupation with horses, guns and corpses, has been particularly unkind to women stars.

When the 1960-61 season starts in a few weeks, only five women who have their own shows will be returning to the home screens.

Ann Sothern, who took a couple of years off between ending one series and starting another, notes wryly that she is "the last of the red-hot comedy mammas." Dinah Shore — entertainer rather than actress—has her popular variety show. June Allyson's anthology is now only one year old. And although Donna Reed's show bears her name, it is a family comedy in which her housewife's role is merged with others equally important.

Barbara Stanwyck will soon be entering the lists with a weekly series of dramas in which she will star. And Shirley Temple comes back to TV as hostess and sometimes actress in a weekly series aimed at the family audience, with emphasis on the small fry.

But that about sums up TV's woman situation.

Loretta, who was a movie star, got into television early, organized her own show carefully and shrewdly, and then worked so hard she almost killed herself to get it off to a flying start. Smooth and slick as a woman's magazine, its 30 minute dramas generally are compounded of things women enjoy—interesting clothes, neatly worked out happy endings and emphasis on identifiable problems of daily life.

It is neither experimental nor earthy, and it just seems to keep percolating calmly along.

The whole program is a reflection of Miss Young, her personal and very feminine viewpoint. All this has given it a reputation, in critical quarters, as a woman's show—of which there are certainly few in night-time TV—and a sort of evening edition of the daytime soap operas.

None of this disturbs Loretta.

"It's not fair to say that it's just a woman's show," she told this writer earnestly. "Of course, I'm a woman and our story editor is a woman, so it is possible that our thinking and our slants on life do reflect in the show."

HOG FREE CITY

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — Norfolk is now "hog-free."

But it required some official effort. The city had to move hogs from its Halstead Farm in territory annexed from Princess Anne county. A city ordinance prohibits hogs in the city limits.

Lay Cornerstone For Third Men's Dormitory

"This new dormitory is yet another symbol of progress at MacMurray College."

Mayor Robert A. DuBois made this statement Thursday afternoon as part of cornerstone ceremonies for the third men's dormitory, to be completed early in 1961 and ready for occupancy by September that year. It is located on Hardin avenue adjacent and north of Blackstock House, the first men's dorm.

The mayor was one of a group of Jacksonville businessmen and friends of MacMurray who took part in the ceremonies, presided over by Dr. Wendell S. Dysinger, Dean of the Faculty at MacMurray.

Marking the historic occasion with a few words of their own were Richard Yates Rowe, Sr., secretary of the Board of Trustees at MacMurray; Hugh Gibson, whose construction company has built all three dormitories; Dr. Russell Coulter, superintendent of the Jacksonville District of the Methodist church; and Hubert Smith, of Smith, Kratz, and Associates, whose architects designed the dormitories.

Speaking on behalf of the Men's Student Association, Edward Myers of Springfield, MSA President, said: "This is an occasion when we must exercise a sincere thanksgiving for the time and energy which has been spent in the creation of this academic institution. We are grateful to the men and women who have possessed the dedication and foresight to make this day a reality and this building possible."

Ceremonies ended with the placing within the cornerstone of a copper box, within which were copies of The Jacksonville Journal and Courier, St. Louis newspapers, and various other documents.

382 Register At Convention Of Baptist Churches

The 103rd. annual meeting of the Sandy Creek Association of Baptist churches was held on August 23 through noon August 25, at the Emmanuel Baptist church in Roodhouse, of which Eld. Albert Hinners is pastor. The Association was called to order at 10 a.m. Tuesday by the moderator, Eld. Ollie Phillips and Eld. Perry Sherwin presiding as clerk. Each session was opened with a 15 minute devotional conducted by various ministers.

There were 382 messengers and visitors registered. There are 42 churches in the Association. They reported 246 baptisms during the past year. Each phrase of the Associational work was emphasized and reports showed progress the past year.

One new church was admitted to the Association, the Charity Southern Baptist Church of Greenfield of which Eld. Marvin Walkington is pastor. This new church is at present building a new church, having been organized in October 1959.

Various pastors spoke during the meeting, usually three each day. The annual sermon was given on Tuesday by Eld. Warren Dawson, pastor of the First Baptist church of Beardstown. The doctrinal sermon was delivered by Eld. Wayne Hammon, pastor of the Baptist church in Chandlerville.

Next year the annual sermon will be given by Eld. Dean Spencer, pastor of the Grace Baptist Church of Winchester and Evangelist E. L. Banta of Jacksonville will deliver the doctrinal sermon.

With The Girl Scouts

September is almost here and the Girl Scout calendar for September is filled to the brim.

Highlighting all the activities planned for the month will be the Girl Scout rallies, held this year in each community to rally the girls together after the summer vacation and help them plan to begin the fall troop meetings.

Most of the rallies will be in the form of picnics and will feature outdoor games and fun. The Jacksonville rally will be held on or about September 17 at the Girl Scout Cabin on Lake Jacksonville. Further details of the rally will be given in this column, so watch for the announcement.

Another important date in September to remember is Sept. 15, the deadline for visitors to the National Council to register at the Girl Scout Office. The meeting of the National Council will be held November 14-18 at St. Louis, Mo. Delegates who will be attending as representatives of our Council will be Mrs. Ralph Sullivan, Mrs. Howard Choate and Mrs. Jack Wise. Any registered adult in Girl Scouting may attend this big meeting as a visitor for as many sessions as she wishes, but every visitor must be registered by Sept. 15.

Several important training sessions and workshops will be held in September for all interested adults in the Council. September 20, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. at the Scout Office, will be training session for neighborhood chairmen. Seventh grade troop leaders will attend a workshop on leading older Intermediate girls September 21, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. at the Scout Office.

Basic training for leaders of Brownie and Intermediate troops will be given September 27 and 28 at the Scout Office from the hours of 9:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. both days. This is a must for new leaders of troops.

This week two board committees will hold important planning sessions:

Public Relations Committee, Mrs. George McNamara, chairman, will meet Thursday morning, Sept. 1, at 9:30 o'clock at the Scout Office.

Program Committee, Mrs. William Gross, chairman, will meet Friday morning, Sept. 2, at 9:30 o'clock at the Scout Office.

As I See It

by E. W. BROWN

According to recent scientific reports, people aren't the only ones with "feelings" . . . plants are "human," too. Researchers now claim that, for example, tomatoes can feel pain and worry, and that they suffer "heart attacks" and "strokes," as do bananas and peas. Aircraft test-tubers have successfully induced "nervous breakdowns" and "complete frustration" in plants being tested as possible food for space travelers. Citrus scientists are trying tranquilizers on fruits to put them to sleep during frosty spells in winter. "Environment" is apparently as important to plants as humans, for one researcher claims plants in happy homes thrive better than those in unhappy surroundings. Looks like we'd better start pampering our plants, or we're liable to have a brand new "Beet Generation" on our hands.

A Minneapolis doctor sighed that he wished he would fall and break his leg so that he could catch up on his paper work. The next day . . . he did. That's fast service. You get that fast service at E. W. Brown . . . and courteous, dependable service as well. Whether you come in for just a tune-up or a brand-new Chrysler or Plymouth, you'll get the polite, friendly service you want and deserve. Here . . .

. . . I go

At 5:30 a.m. (Mountain Standard Time) on Aug. 16, Capt. Joseph W. Kittinger Jr., 31 and red-haired, started a balloon ascent from Alamogordo, N.M. One hour and 40 minutes later, he waved goodby to an automatic camera, top, and stepped out, bottom. He was 19½ miles above the New Mexican desert. Thirteen seconds after he left the gondola, a six-foot stabilizing parachute, opened. This prevented him from spinning through space and blacking out but did little to check the speed of his fall. He fell 84,000 feet in 4 minutes, 38 seconds, reaching a speed of 320 m.p.h. At 17,500 feet his big 'chute opened, dropping him to earth 8½ minutes later. The 1,200-pound gondola, containing these pictures, parachuted to earth later. Kittinger's jump was the longest ever. He's working on developing ways to evacuate space craft.

Ashland Makes Plans For Big Community Drive

ASHLAND—Plans are now being made for the Ashland Community United Fund drive, to be conducted in the area late in September. This drive, which incorporates four drives into one large effort, benefits Ashland Little League baseball teams, the Salvation Army, the Girl Scouts and the Boy Scouts.

Representatives of these four groups have been meeting in order to set up a permanent organization which will function from year to year. This group will be known as the Ashland Community United Fund Board of Directors and will be composed of three members from each supporting organization and three members-at-large. Robert Aggertt has been elected chairman of the board for 1960-61, and Carol Lohman, secretary.

Harold Allen, owner of Allen's Red and White store here, has accepted the chairmanship of the United Fund drive this year, and a definite program for the house to house solicitations will take place in September. Many solicitors will be needed to make this drive a success, it should be in order to insure an adequate program for the four participants: Little League, Salvation Army, Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts.

32nd DeMolay State Conclave Ends 2-Day Session Saturday

INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS concluded the two-day 32nd annual state conclave for the DeMolays of Illinois Saturday afternoon. Top officers installed, left to right: Lonnie Woods, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Woods, Chicago, State Master Councilor; Arthur Peterson, son of R. G. Peterson, Silvis, State Senior Councilor; and Dennis Gorman, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Gorman, Quincy.

PRECISION MARCHING in every section of the Black Knights Drum and Bugle Corps shows the makings of a real crowd-pleaser. A number of spectators applauded as the snappy champions passed in review through Jacksonville.

DeMOLAY SWEETHEARTS—top three contestants from a field of 14 entrants in the DeMolay Sweetheart contest were announced Friday evening at the Grand Ball.

Winner was Miss Sharon Kay Prather, center, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray F. Prather, 1008 East Randolph, Roodhouse. Miss Prather represented Eli Chapter DeMolays of White Hall. First runner up, left, was Miss Mary Louise Barnard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Barnard of Route 4, Canton; and second runner-up, right, Miss Betty Lou Suohinin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Suohinin of Chicago.

A SURE HIT enjoyed by all present at the Grand Banquet Friday evening were Pantomimics Extraordinaire Ned Jackson and Jack Barwick, on stage, during one of their performances.

THE BLACK KNIGHTS, National Champion Drum and Bugle Corps sponsored by Tancred Chaper, Order of DeMolay, Belleville, helped make Friday afternoon's Parade of Sweethearts one of the most enjoyable of the year for downtown spectators.

This view shows the towering DeMolay color guard marching to the drum beat and bugle chorus along the parade route.

Governor William G. Stratton and Mayor Robert A. DuBois were the honored guests at the head of the parade.

THE GRAND BANQUET held Friday evening drew a full house of DeMolay members and honored guests. The speakers' table across the rear of banquet room at MacMurray College was lined with representatives from every Masonic body in Illinois.

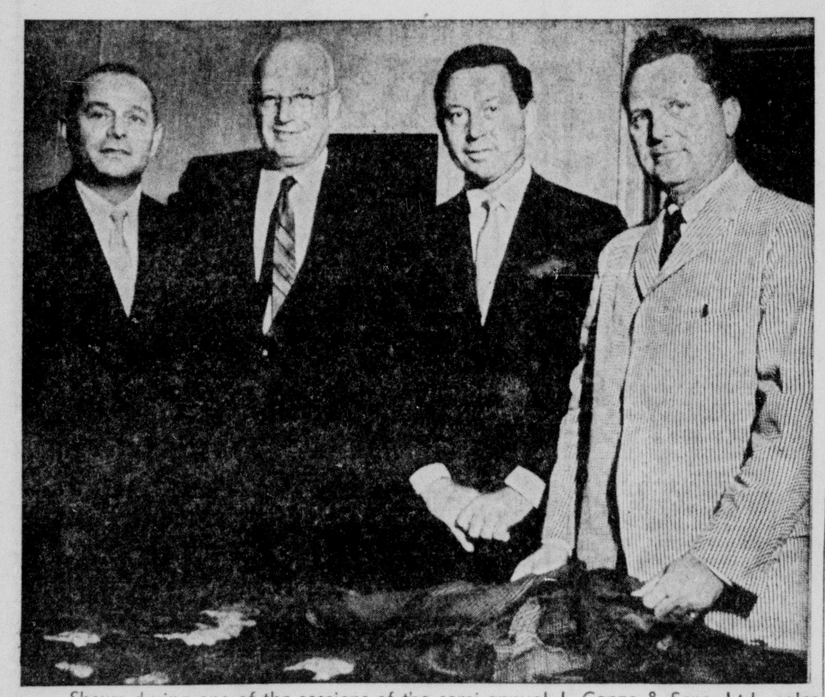

GUESTS OF HONOR—Governor William G. Stratton, left, and Mayor Robert A. DuBois shared the same convertible for Friday's parade through downtown Jacksonville.

J. Capps & Sons, Ltd., held their semi-annual sales meeting last week. Ten salesmen from all parts of the country attended the Spring and Summer 1961 showing of the company's fabrics, models, merchandising, and advertising promotions.

Harry Friedes of Friedes Associates, Inc., flew in from New York to discuss the problems and progress of styling in the mens wear sport coat field. Mr. Friedes is known throughout the country as one of the finest and most talented sportswear and outer coat stylist.

During his two hour presentation to the sales organization and members of the firm of J. Capps & Sons, Ltd., Mr. Friedes explained the importance of tying in the development of new styling with the changing pattern of the American way of life.

Whereas twelve years ago the emphasis was on suburban living, the influence of suburban living has played an important part in the American public thinking on style. This is not only effective in mens wear fabrications, but also the design of cars, homes, and leisure time.

Friedes explained that as the American consumer's living habits change, so does styling. He stated as an example that a few years ago an abundance of chrome on cars was the important thing, now automobiles are made with more austere styling. This has similarly affected the fabric and model styling of mens clothing. A few years ago the broad shoulder, wide lapel look, was the most widely accepted model interpretation, today the trimmer, slimmer, neater look is in vogue.

Friedes, who represents the W. J. Dickey & Sons Mills (founded in 1838 one year before J. Capps & Sons, Ltd.), stated that the Dickey Mills had been running on three eight-hour shifts a day for the last eighteen years—that the amount of merchandise produced by their company was not only among the best styled in America, but of the finest quality.

Mr. Friedes was accompanied on his trip to Jacksonville by Mr. Michael Blidner of Chicago, sales representative of the Dickey Mills most closely associated with J. Capps & Sons, Ltd.

Mr. Friedes and Mr. Blidner were both introduced to the sales organization and members of management by Robert M. Capps, president of J. Capps & Sons, Ltd.

Illinois De Molays End 32nd Annual Conclave

More than 500 Illinois DeMolays ended a two-day state conclave Saturday afternoon on the MacMurray College campus. All meetings were held in Annie Merner Chapel. Housing was provided in dormitories.

Friday's session opened with registration and luncheon in McClelland dining hall.

The opening of the conclave provided a colorful public ceremony for Jacksonville area guests. Representatives of all Masonic bodies in Illinois were represented and presented to the conclave session.

Ralph E. Hemphill, Knights Templar, was the featured speaker of the opening session. His topic was "The Supreme Council—It's Functions and Operations."

The Parade of Sweethearts through the streets of downtown Jacksonville featured 14 girls selected by DeMolay chapters throughout Illinois as their local "Sweetheart" vied for the coveted title of "Miss DeMolay Sweetheart of Illinois for 1960."

The parade was highlighted by the appearance of the Black Knights, national champion drum and bugle corps from Belleville. Governor William G. Stratton was the honored guest of the afternoon. The parade was under the direction of Fred Bailey.

The Grand Banquet Friday evening featured Judge John S. Self of Jerseyville as speaker. Honored guests were introduced at the banquet and a program of entertainment was presented during the meal.

The Grand Ball followed in McClelland dining hall to the music of the Hi-Fi's.

High point of the evening was the coronation of the State Sweetheart, Miss Sharon Kay Prather, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray F. Prather, Roodhouse. Miss Prather Eli Chapter DeMolays of White Hall. The Eli chapter received its name from a well-known Jacksonville firm, Eli Bridge Company. Owners of the firm were instrumenal in starting the chapter when they were in business in White Hall, prior to moving to Jacksonville.

Saturday's session closed after installation of officers and announcement that next year's conclave will be held at Oak Lawn.

The installation team of Swordsmen's Chapter, Joliet, handled the colorful ceremonies Saturday afternoon in Annie Merner Chapel.

A memorial service for Dad Frank S. Land of Alton was held Saturday morning.

The Barrel House Bums with Sweetheart, Margaret Eppy, of Creve Coeur Chapter, Peoria, provided the entertainment for the noon luncheon Saturday.

Twenty young men received the Degree of Chevalier in the afternoon.

The conclave staff included: George Wilbur Bell, executive officer; and William Dean Jarrett, district deputy, general chairman.

STATE SWEETHEART, Miss Sharon Kay Prather, receives the credentials of honor from Master Councilor James Rice at ceremonies Friday night. Rice had untold difficulty crowning Miss Prather until someone arrived with a handful of hairpins to hold the crown.

Miss Prather is a blue-eyed blond and enjoys dancing and bowling. She is the holder of the Miss Greene County Fair title.

U.C.T. HOLDS PROMOTIONAL DINNER

Jacksonville Council 182, United Commercial Travelers, sponsored a promotional dinner Thursday evening at Hamilton's Restaurant. Fifty members and guests attended the dinner meeting to hear several of the organization's key personnel explain the benefits of membership.

Chicago Livestock Market Report

CHICAGO (AP) — Butcher hog prices continued their downward trend every day this week and on Friday reached the lowest peak prince since last spring.

On that day the top went no higher than $16.25 which equaled the previous low paid on March 23. The average cost of all barrows and gilts dropped to a little less than $16, a new low since May 12.

At the end of the week, butcher grades were 75 cents to $1 under last Friday while pork loins in the wholesale trade were going $1 to $2 lower.

On a slightly increased cattle supply, slaughter steers declined as much as $1 a hundredweight with the extreme setback on choice and prime grades.

The average price of slaughter steers slipped to $24.50, the lowest since October 1957 as did the price of steer beef in the meat trade.

The sheep supply increased somewhat and included a larger percentage of wooled spring slaughter lambs which were 50 cents to $1 lower for the week.

CHICAGO (AP) —(USDA)—Following is a summary of the hog, cattle and sheep markets for the week:

Hogs —Compared Friday last week—on each successive day this week, prices worked lower and the downturn for the week measured 75 to 1.00 on barrows and gilts. Sows were also under pressure every day and compared 50-75 lower than last week's close.

On the close, mixed grades No 1 and 2 and mixed No 1, 2 and 3 200 265 lb barrows and gilts sold from 16.00-16.25, several loads at 16.25 including weights up to 265 lbs. Mixed grades No 1, 2 and 3 and No 2 and 3 200-280 lb butchers 15.50-16.00. Mixed grades No 1, 2 and 3 and No 2 and 3 300-400 lb sows 14.00-15.50. Mixed grades No. 2 and 3 and No 3 400-550 lbs 12.25-14.00. Boars scaling 300-600 lbs 10.50-11.50.

Cattle—Steers sold 50 to 1.00 lower with many late sales choice and prime grades 1.00 lower. Heifers sold 50-1.00 lower, utility and commercial cows 25 to fully 50 lower, and bulls 50 to fully 1.00 lower, vealers steady. Loadlots high choice and mixed choice and prime steers 25.25-26.50 late with a few loads mixed high choice and prime included from 26.00-26.50, load prime 1400 lbs 26.25 and load mixed high choice and prime 1320 lbs 26.00. Few loads high choice and mixed choice and prime 1300-1450 lbs 24.50-25.25 with load mostly high choice 1450 lbs 24.50. Good to average choice steers 21.50-25.25 with load mostly high choice 1450 lbs 24.50. Good to average choice steers 21.50-25.25 but most average choice 24.00-24.75 late. Loadlots mixed good and choice 23.00-23.75 at the close. Good steers 21.50-22.75 and mixed standard and good 20.50-21.50 late. Few loads mixed choice and prime heifers 24.75-25.50, good to high choice heifers 20.00-24.50 late with choice 22.50 up. Several loads high choice with a prime and 900-1000 lbs included at 24.50 at the close and many loads mixed good and choice 22.00-22.25. Utility and commercial bulls 16.00-20.00. Good and choice vealers 22.00-25.00, standard 17.00 to 22.00.

Sheep — Compared Friday last week—spring lambs closed mostly 50 lower with some sales off 75-1.00. Yearlings fully steady. Slaughter ewes steady. Few lots of choice to mostly prime native spring lambs $1.75 to 22.00 early but very little passed 21.50 even at the best time and nothing above 21.00 on the close. Most choice and prime native spring lambs late 19.50-21.00 with bulk 19.50-20.50. During the week most mixed good and choice spring lambs 16.50-19.50, good to choice shorn slaughter ewes 3.50-5.00.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market's August rally this week stretched into its third straight week as Wall Street was cheered by a cut in the basic interest rate of the big commercial banks.

The reduction in the "prime rate"—the interest charged the biggest borrowers with the best credit rating—fueled a broad advance which left the market well ahead despite profit taking on the last two sessions. This rate was dropped to 4½ per cent from 5.

The renewed rally brought in a lot of money from the sidelines, both from individuals and institutional investors, brokers reported. This resulted in a boost of weekly volume to 15,298,260 shares from the prior week's total of 13,702,603. It was the largest weekly total since the week ended June 25 when 19,725,360 shares changed hands.

The advance demonstrated once more that the stock market loves easier credit. The rise was based also on expectations of a pickup in business this fall, brokers said.

The Dow Jones industrial average moved up 6.86 to 636.13.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 3.00 to 223.40.

The most active issue this week on the American Stock Exchange was Webb & Knapp, up ⅛ at 1¼ on 172,300 shares.

The first general easing of major bank lending rates since 1958 failed to cause much of a stir in the bond markets this week.

Government bonds just about steadied after a three week slide that cut ¼ to 2 points from the highest prices in almost two years. Corporates managed to finish on the plus side for the sixth straight week but the advance was only half as good as the previous week.

Volume edged forward to $24,368,000 par value on the New York Stock Exchange from $23,894,000 the previous week but was still below the five million a day average. A year ago trading totaled $22,524,000.

The week included the busiest day in two months (Tuesday) and the slowest in a month (Friday). The flurry of activity came in the session following the reduction in the prime rate to 4½ per cent from 5 per cent—the first drop in two years.

The charge, which is the most important of all bank lending rates, had held at a 29-year high for almost a year.

Announce New Library Hours At Roodhouse

ROODHOUSE — Mrs. Charles McIver, librarian, announces new library hours beginning Monday, Aug. 29. They are: afternoons, Monday through Saturday, 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.; evenings, Monday through Thursday, 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Rummage Sale

The Della Philathea class of the First Baptist church will hold a rummage sale Saturday, Sept. 10. Further details will be announced at a later date.

Educational Meet

Ross Manning, faculty member of the local junior high school, has returned from Peoria where he attended the conference for educational leaders at Bradley University. The conference gave considerable attention to ways and means by which the association can increase its effectiveness in improving the professional welfare of its members and the educational opportunities of the children of Illinois. Mr. Manning is vice president of the Greene County Teachers Association and chairman of the Greene County Teachers Welfare Committee. The conference was sponsored by the IEA.

Visitor

Miss Barbara Barrow, Peoria, has been a visitor in the home of her grandmother, Mrs. A. H. Barrow. Barbara, a graduate of the local high school, attended the summer session at Bradley University.

To Return Home

Mrs. Perry (Amie) Campbell, who suffered a fractured hip some weeks ago, is expected to return to her home here soon. Miss Pearl Gidney will assist in the care of Mrs. Campbell.

Scout Troop 113 Serves Gas, Oil

Members and several of the fathers of members in Scout Troop 113 helped boost their troop's treasury Saturday by serving oil and gas to customers at the Slavens Texaco Station, corner of Morton and Diamond.

The scouts arrived early in the morning and took over the station's operation which included enough boys to wash all the windows of customers' cars and others to serve hot dogs and set up a camp site on the filling station's parking lot.

A portion of the day's profits will be presented to the troop's treasury. The troop is sponsored by South Jacksonville school.

leyville, capital of Oriental Province in the northeast Congo. Stanleyville was his stronghold in his days as a nationalist leader under Belgian rule.

The five American members of the Globemaster crew were beaten up at the airport when they landed with communications equipment and Canadian technicians for Canadian forces in Stanleyville. The plane had flown directly to Stanleyville from Toronto.

Lumumba's forces were reported to have knocked off the capital of an ally of Katanga in adjacent Kasai Province.

Kasai rebel leader Albert Kalonji said 300 Congolese soldiers had captured Bakwanga, capital of his independent "mineral state" proclaimed two weeks ago. He charged three officers from Communist Czechoslovakia had led the invading Congolese force.

Kalonji, a political foe of Lumumba, was in Elisabethville, capital of Katnga Province, where he had gone to seek military help from Katanga Premier Moise Tshombe. He reported Congolese soldiers had captured a town about 20 miles from Katanga's frontier.

In Stanleyville, Lumumba was told of the Globemaster incident after he saw either an American or a Canadian walking across the field with a bruised face and torn overalls. There were patches of blood on the field.

Jean Finant, Congolese governor of Oriental Province, informed Lumumba he had succeeded in stopping a lynching of two U. S. pilots. Finant reported they were seriously injured.

NORTONVILLE CLUB TO OPEN YEAR

The first meeting for the coming club year of the Nortonville Community club will be held Sept. 2 at the hall.

The program leader will be Mrs. Herbert Clayton, with Mrs. Orval Mutch and Mrs. Hugh Burnett as hostesses. Mrs. Virgil Vedder will have charge of the social hour.

AT FORT MADISON RODEO

An outstanding feature of this year's Fort Madison Rodeo will be the appearance of the Ben Hur Chariot Racers. This thrilling race is staged with the same horses and chariots that were used in the filming of the Academy Award winning picture "Ben Hur" in Italy. Glen Randall, who trained these horses and designed the chariots for the picture "Ben Hur," will appear with his son as the drivers in the chariot race. The race ends in a neck-risking stunt as the horses fall on signal from Glen and he goes flying over their heads in what has been described as one of the most dangerous stunts ever performed before a live audience. It never fails to make the crowds catch their breath and bring them to their feet.

Also starring at the Rodeo will be Rex Allen and his horse KoKo and accompanying Rex will be a western musical group, the "Men of the West."

Those interested may obtain tickets by writing Rodeo Ticket Office, Box 302, Fort Madison, Iowa.

Friday Baseball

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Stan Musial and Warren Spahn, two 39-year-old guys who ain't done yet, are making a race of the run away in the National League pennant chase.

With Stan the Man socking his 425th home run and breaking a 1-1 tie, the St. Louis Cardinals rapped first place Pittsburgh 3-1 Friday night. Spahnie, striking out 11 for his 283rd victory, then broke up a 2-2 game with a home run that gave second place Milwaukee a 3-2 decision at San Francisco and moved the Braves within 5½ games of the Pirates.

Los Angeles swept Cincinnati in a twi-night pair, 10-1 and 2-0. And Philadelphia beat the Chicago Cubs 4-2.

In the American League, the New York Yankees retained a one game lead by beating Cleveland 7-6, in 11 innings and 7-5 in the first of three consecutive doubleheaders. Second place Baltimore kept pace, beating Kansas City twice, 2-1 and 11-3. Third place Chicago, two games behind, belted Boston 9-2. Washington defeated Kansas City 5-4.

Musial's 13th home run of the year, coming with a man on in the seventh inning, beat Bob Friend (13-11) and backed a four hit pitching job by Ernie Broglio (16-6) that sent the Bucs to their second straight loss. It was Musial's first home run since he walloped a two run shot that beat Friend on Aug. 11. This one tagged Friend with his second defeat in a row. The big right-hander now has won only two of his last seven decisions, and just four of his last 12.

Broglio, the first to win 16 for the Cards since Harvey Haddix bagged 18 in 1954, lost a shutout in the fifth, when Don Hoak doubled and Bill Mazeroski, who had two of the Buc hits, singled ahead of Bill Virdon's sacrifice fly. That tied it 1 all. The Cards scored in the second on Hal Smith's single after a walk and a single by Walt Moryn, who was 4 for 4 and has hit safely in his last six trips.

Spahn, heading for his 11th season of 20 or more victories, put away No. 16. This was his fifth in a row, and he now has won eight of his last nine decisions. The Giants managed eight hits, one a solo home run by Orlando Cepeda that tied it 2 all in the sixth, but Spahn walked only two. He struck out the side in the ninth.

Norm Larker, the NL's top hitter, and Duke Snider, coming through with a bang on his "night," backed fine pitching by Roger Craig and Don Drysdale in the Dodger sweep. Larker drove in five runs in the opener, hitting a home run, a double and two singles. He was 0 for 3 in the nightcap, but tops the league at .346.

Jay Hook (10-14) was the first game loser, leaving when the Dodgers scored five in the fifth. Craig (5-1) had the Reds shut out on three hits with two out in the ninth, when they scored on a walk and singles by Gordy Coleman and Chico Cardenas.

Snider, after sitting out the opener, backed Drysdale's three hitter with a home run and a triple that made him the Dodgers' all time extra base hit champ with 767. Drysdale, who had lost three in a row, walked three, struck out six for his 11th victory. Loser Cal McLish (4-10) left with a sore shoulder in the seventh, and the Reds then lost Vada Pinson and Frank Robinson when they collided in the outfield in the eighth.

A three run homer by Lee Walls and Johnny Callison's out of the park shot did it for the Phils and Robin Roberts (9-12). Bob Anderson (7-8) was the loser.

Musial's Tremendous Homer In Ninth Gives Pittsburgh 5-4 Loss

ST. LOUIS (AP— Stan (the man) Musial—before the biggest St. Louis Cardinal home crowd in four years—blasted a two-out solo homer in the last of the ninth inning Saturday night, bringing the Redbirds a 5-4 victory over the National League-leading Pittsburgh pennant express. Friday night Stan blasted a two-run seventh-inning homer off Bob Friend for a 3-1 St. Louis victory.

His victim Saturday night was the Pirates' ace relief pitcher, right-hander Roy Face.

Musial took two called strikes, then a ball, then pulled the next pitch onto the pavilion roof in right field.

It was Stan's 14th homer of the season—matching his total for all of last season—and gave him 52 RBI.

Stan also drove in the third St. Louis run with a single in the third after Joe Cunningham's double.

The St. Louis winner was former Pirate Ron Kline, now 4-8. He stopped the Pirates in order in the ninth. Face now is 9-7.

The defeat kept Danny Murtaugh's club 5½ games ahead of second-place Milwaukee and put the third-place Cards within 6½ games of the top.

The paid attendance was 30,712, largest since July 22, 1956, when the Cardinals drew 32,750.

Last-Place A's Cool Baltimore's Chase, 5-3

BALTIMORE (AP) — The last place Kansas City Athletics cooled Baltimore's heated run for the American League lead Saturday with a 5-3 victory over the Orioles.

Righthander Ray Herbert chopped off Baltimore's winning string at four as the A's came from behind with a three-run burst in the seventh inning.

Kansas City jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the top of the third on a flurry started by Herbert's single to left.

Baltimore's big third inning featured singles by Marv Breeding, a double by Gene Woodling, and singles by Brooks Robinson, Jim Gentile and Gus Triandos.

Kansas City wiped out the one-run deficit and put the game away in the seventh as Ron Hansen muffed Bill Tuttle's leadoff grounder to start the A's winning rally.

Tuttle moved to third on a single by Lumpe and scored on a double by Russ Snyder. Robinson fumbled a grounder off the bat of Norm Siebern, permitting Lumpe to score. Dick Williams came in as a pinch hitter and singled to score Snyder.

SOUTHERN COURTESY

LEXINGTON, Va. (AP) — A group of students at Washington and Lee University where Gen Robert E. Lee was once president, decided they would celebrate the birthday of Gen. U. S. Grant.

A cake with 138 candles was served in front of the Lee Chapel. Roger W. Payne, III, of Arlington, said the students just thought it would "be nice" since the school has a holiday on Lee's birthday.

No major roads or bridges were built in western Europe for about five centuries after the fall of the Roman Empire in 500 A.D.

Downstate Prep Notes

By JOHN CAMPBELL

Rich Brooks is the new assistant coach at East St. Louis High school and he was all state end a few years ago at East St. Louis. He is a 1960 graduate of Purdue U. Lou Vesely, former East St. Louis High cage star, is the new cross country coach and soph basketball coach at East St. Louis High. He is a graduate of Washington U. at St. Louis and Paul Browning is the new assistant football coach of the Flyers being a graduate of East St. Louis High and the University of Missouri where he was a regular lineman.

Southern Illinois University will get three more promising cage stars including Eddie Blythe of Carbondale Attucks, Mel Patton of Belleville and Dan Corbin of Villa Grove. Blythe is only 5-6 but he is a terrific ball handler and high scorer as he turned in two outstanding games last season against Herrin's Tigers.

Jim Di Girolamo of Springfield (Lanphier) is the new head basketball coach at Piper City High school and he will assist in football. He is a graduate of the U. of Illinois. Jimmie Evers will return to Centralia High as head football coach after suffering a heart attack which sidelined him last October. Centralia competes in the tough South Seven conference.

Gene McFarland is the new head track coach at Olney and he is a native of Johnston City. Jack Frost resigned as track mentor after six years for a sales job at Carmi. Bob Price, regular guard at Granite City High last season, is headed for the University of Houston. He played in the state tourney the last two years for Madison and Granite City and joins Ron Purcell as the only players to play in the "Sweet 16" tourney from two different high schools. Purcell played at Pinckneyville and Litchfield.

Charles Behrends of Decatur is the new basketball coach at Leaf River High and he is a graduate of Western Illinois University at Macomb. Jay Baysinger of Centralia is the head basketball coach at Sandoval High school and he is a graduate of Carthage College. He has been coaching nine years and last year he coached at Bloomingdale, Mich.

Coach Tom Peeler of Canton High has five senior lettermen returning including John Cruser, basketball star guard and end; Larry Ellis, tackle; Gene Duchardt, end; David Bruketta, halfback, and Gerry Blackburn, end. He reports that 19 sophs will be out for opening drills August 29 and he has issued equipment for 47 players. Juniors that lettered last year include big fullback Dick Siders and Jim Menne. Graduation took a heavy toll including Dick Flynn, Dale Harris, Joel Bates, Harold Walker, Ed Cox, Al Fink, Chuck Gibbs, Chuck Savill, Dave Anderson, Doug Denham, Bill Cook, Dick Mayall, Larry Utt, Jim Reid, Bill Jones, Steve Essex, George Bruketta, Ronald Kinzer and Steve Nelson.

Alton High will open the 1960 football campaign with two tough opponents as the Redbirds will face Parkview (Springfield, Mo.) and University High (St. Louis, Mo.) before facing East St. Louis in an important Southwestern conference game at Alton on Sept. 30.

New football coaches are many this season including the following: Glenn Whittenberg, Herrin; Glen Pickering, Madison; Clarence Bradley, Sparta; Dick Jostes, Moweaqua; Augie Di Censo, Benld; Ray Shannon, Amboy; Dean Puyear, Flanagan; Gene Jontry, Chenoa; Homer Barry, Forrest-Strawn-Wing; Cecil Hart, Hillsboro; James Schaive, Orion; Alex Takacs, Roodhouse; Chuck Edgington, Gibson City; Larry Kane, Lexington; Bob Ernst, St. Teresa (Decatur); Joe Venturi, Auburn (Rockford); James Lynch, Benton; Joe Springer, Schlarman (Danville); Don Groves, Elksville; Ralph Harkins, Carterville; Jack Wales, Johnston City; Robert Teater, Waverly; Jack Jordan, Dixon; Carl Cherrie, Wyanet; Tom Peeler, Canton; Edward Yonkas, Flora; Jack Hall, Newman; James Luallen, Illiopolis; Edward Johnson, Murphysboro; Dean Renn, Litchfield; Horace Morris, Mansfield; Bernie Behrendt, Metropolis; Lester Mathieson, Bement; Bob Colborn, Sterling; Bob Baletto, Peoria Richwoods; Tony Juska, LaGrange; Stan Patrick, Belvidere; Don Gustine, Greenfield; Frank Chizevsky, Lakeview (Decatur); Jerry Hart, Anna-Jonesboro, and Guy Niebuhr, Warrensburg-Latham.

Danville High lost a fine cage performer by the name of Jackson to Canton as the 6-3 forward has transferred. His dad has been transferred to the Canton area by the United Electric Coal company. Jackson will be eligible for coach Joe Adam's "Little Giants" five and his old mates will play in the second annual Canton Holiday tourney in December.

Nixon To Unveil Farm Program In September

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon is expected to offer farmers a program that sticks pretty close to recommendations President Eisenhower made to Congress early this year but which never became law.

Political associates and farm leaders advising the Republican presidential nominee said Saturday he will not stray far from the Eisenhower farm aid policies, even though he has moved to disassociate himself from Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson.

Benson himself said he expected no great deviation by Nixon from the Eisenhower program.

Guidelines for new legislation outlined by Eisenhower in a special farm message Feb. 9 will form the basis for a new program Nixon plans to unveil in a Midwest speech next month, Nixon advisers said.

United States Right In Middle Of Full-Scale Rhubarb At Olympics

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Editor

ROME (AP)— The first full-scale rhubarb of the Olympic Games erupted Saturday and the United States was right in the middle of it.

U.S. officials protested—and they claimed they had electronic devices to back them up—Australian John Devitt's victory over America's Lance Larson for the gold medal in the men's 100-meter freestyle swimming.

The protest had the entire Olympic community buzzing Saturday night and wondering what the final disposition would be when the International Swimming Federation meets to consider the case Sunday.

It also overshadowed gold medals won by Italy (its third in cycling, this one the tandem scratch event), Germany and England, and a world record by the U.S. men's 400-meter medley relay team.

While a fearsome Roman sun beat down and the temperature reached 90 degrees, Anita Lonsbrough captured Britain's first gold medal by shattering her own world record in the 200-meter breaststroke with a 2:49.5 clocking.

And blonde, 17-year-old Ingrid Kramer of East Germany shattered a 40-year U.S. monopoly by winning the women's springboard diving. Mrs. Paula Jean Pope of the U.S. finished second for the silver medal.

Devitt was declared the winner over Larson in an Olympic record time of :55.2, in a race so close that the naked eye could hardly separate them.

Said Max Ritter, U.S. member of the International Swimming Federation:

"The first-place judges voted two to one for Larson. However, the second-place judges had Devitt, two to one. Thus, there was a disagreement and the judging canceled itself out."

Ritter said that all three electronic machines had Larson the winner.

"They gave Larson times of 55.1, and 55.1," he added. "The times for Devitt were 55.2, 55.2, 55.2."

The U.S. position is that since the judges were in disagreement, they should have resorted to the electronic machines.

CRITICS DEMAND U.S. BREAK DIPLOMATIC TIES WITH CUBA

pro-Communist policies of the Castro regime in Cuba, and saw Latin American countries come up with a watered-down version.

There was some talk in Congress and elsewhere that maybe the United States ought to find out now where it has friends in Latin America and which countries are not friendly.

Among U. S. officials, there appeared no doubt the remainder of the 20 hemisphere republics would join the 12 which already have broken relations with the Trujillo regime.

Actually, Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, head of the U. S. delegation at the Costa Rica conference, advocated no break in relations with either the Dominican Republic or Cuba. But now that the United States has broken with the Dominican Republic, it is regarded as certain to face public demands for similar action against Cuba.

STUDY POSSIBLE RED CHINA, SOVIET FEUD OVER A-WEAPONS

cooperate. At least on the basis of all their contacts with Soviet leaders at many levels and in many conferences U. S. officials are convinced that the U.S.S.R. does not want mainland China to become a nuclear power.

One obvious reason for this is that the Soviet Union's own military strength would not be enhanced by such developments as establishment of missile bases on Chinese territory. The Russians have sufficiently good takeoff points in their own huge lands to aim at the United States or any other country with which they might consider war possible.

Additionally the Russians, in spite of their constant talk about Communist solidarity in peace, well know they lack any guarantee against grave trouble with Red China in future years.

State Department officials who watch every move in the strange Communist contest say that the nuclear weapons situation is not necessarily the source of the argument although it is undoubtedly one of the central issues as things now stand.

Jealousies between Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and Red Chinese leader Mao Tze-tung are believed to play an important role.

The impression here is that Mao, an old man who proved his skill and toughness independently of Mocow, regards Khrushchev as a newcomer whose opinions are not so important as Mao's own.

Another element at the center of the dispute is almost certainly the Chinese behavior toward neighboring areas. The Peiping Reds damaged Khrushchev's coexistence drive seriously in recent years by their ruthless takeover in Tibet and their seizure of border territories long in dispute with India.

Their unwillingness to completely renounce the use of force in connection with their claims on Nationalist-held Formosa, their threats and intrigues against the countries of Southeast Asia all add up to aggressive expansionist policies.

One of Khrushchev's aims in carrying on his dispute apparently is to put a halter on such activities.

GASOLINE FIRE

The Jacksonville fire department made a run to the Wareco service station on East Morton avenue at 7:40 p.m. Saturday.

Gasoline became ignited as it was being hosed into an automobile owned by Jim Ward, 1135 Elm street. Attendants at the station put out the blaze by the use of dry chemicals before the fire department got there. Only the paint on the car's fender was damaged.

Merritt Norvell

(Editor's note: After a long discussion in which I had to beg Merritt Norvell to write this article on his desires and anticipation concerning the upcoming Big Ten football season I find the article refreshing and of great interest to our readers. You did a fine job with it, Merritt, and you are indeed a credit to the Jacksonville community.)

I was asked to compare college football to high school ball. I am unable to speak as an authority on the subject because I will only be a sophomore and have yet to play my first Big Ten game.

As a high school student I thought all Big Ten and professional football players were Gods. I soon found this conception to be incorrect and learned that the only difference between them and others is their athletic ability.

When I reported to Wisconsin in September of 1959 I was about as frightened as any poor one soul could be. There were one-hundred of us frightened gentlemen but only forty-five on scholarship. Freshmen ball is regarded as the training school for the battle which will take place the following spring and fall.

In frosh ball you learn the system which is used by your school. You learn to play football their way and not like you did in high school. This sometimes hinders many freshmen players in that they are unable to break high school habits. The basic fundamentals are there but it is quite different.

I was impressed by the different coaching methods. Plays were shown to us on a chart and we were expected to remember them. In high school play sheets were passed out for study. My worst difficulty was in my tackling. All through high school I thought tackling a man around his knees was the correct way. It took me about two days to learn different. A good back can fake an opponent going for his legs. All defensive backs are taught to tackle from the waist up in open field.

Another difference between high school and college ball is that you will have seven or eight men right behind you waiting to move you out. Many times all it takes is one bad Saturday or an injury and you lose your job. There is a sign on the locker room door that says, "Make Good or Make Room."

Freshman season lasts nine weeks. We practiced every day from four to six. On Friday afternoon, we had our freshman intra-squad game and on Monday we played the second, third and fourth teams of the varsity. These are the days you have to produce, because you are under the watchful eyes of the varsity coaches. Also this is when you begin to get a taste of good old hard-nose football. Here is where the greatest difference of all appears, soreness. I have yet to wake up the next morning after a big scrimmage or game without feeling half dead. You get cut up quite a bit, especially around the hands and arms. It's not too rare to find a tooth or two lying in the grass the next day after practice.

The practices are run on a time schedule with players working at no one thing no longer than fifteen minutes. Through this method more things can be covered in practice. After practice come the sprints. These usually consist of 20 ten yard dashes, 2 fifties and 1 one hundred yard dash. It could be worse if we have a bad practice. We top that off with fifty set-ups and go in.

At the end of your freshman season, the squad is split into two units, the Cardinals and Whites. They play an intra-squad game which is open to the public. This year's freshman squad was rated as one of the hardest hitting groups of freshmen to appear at Wisconsin since the famed "hard-rocks" of 1952-53. I can verify that as the truth, because the next day I had a shoulder separation and a mangled ear. I was hit in the head on a dive play up the middle and lost my helmet. I didn't know where I was for two quarters although I didn't leave the game, I don't know how I played.

In the Spring all freshmen football players become varsity players. The coaches are able to spend time with you and are able to determine your ability. You practice three or four times a week. Each school is allowed twenty days of practice. Every Saturday, we scrimmage in the stadium and movies are taken. Each player is graded on every play. The alumni game concludes spring practice. The alumni who are former stars of Wisconsin band together for a week's practice. Many of these players are professionals. This year's squad consisted of many professionals as well as last year's Rose Bowl squad. This was my first experience with pro footballers and believe me everything they say about pro ball being rough is true. It was a great game which the varsity won 20-17. The alumni were supposed to win by four touchdowns. Everyone seemed pleased with our showing. Vince Lombardi of the Green Bay Packers stated that this year's squad appeared to be tougher and displayed more all around ability than last year's Big Ten champs. After spring ball, the coaches place players on teams for the coming fall. I was fortunate enough to be placed on th first team. All I have to do is stay there and do what is expected, provided I don't get injured. Many things happen in the fall to change the outlook.

The 1960 Badgers will consist of young inexperienced players many of whom have yet to play their first Big Ten game. We have only nine returning lettermen, I feel, as do many at Wisconsin, that with a year of experience behind us we should be tough and rank among the leaders in the conference.

I feel that there have been quite a few athletes that have graduated from J.H.S. in the past years that could have played Big Ten ball if they had been given the chance. I feel that in the following years you will see more players from this area in the Big Ten.

They look for four things in an individual; desire, speed, ability and toughness. The most important is desire. If you don't have guts, if I may use that word, you won't make it.

I hope I haven't turned anyone against the Big Ten conference. I speak for myself as well as a former teammate, Dave Bone (Northwestern). We think it's the greatest conference in the country. To us, in its treatment to athletes and granting them a higher education, it ranks number I.

I leave for Madison Tuesday to begin drills and I hope all goes well.

In all the football magazine football publications I have looked at so far Merritt is listed as Wisconsin's regular left halfback for the 1960 season. Although Merritt hasn't lost any of his confidence, he isn't counting on anything for sure. Because, as he put it he could be injured in the first practice and never get into uniform before the season opens. However, we feel sure Merritt's number 44 will be listed in all the Big Ten programs.

Jean Ashley, the 21 year-old sensation of the National Women's Amateur, has relatives living in the Jacksonville area and she used to visit here every summer. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ed Ashley of Chanute, Kansas. Her mother is the former Donna Johnson of this city. Miss Ashley lost in the finals of the amateur playoff Saturday and this was her first major tournament. When she visited in Jacksonville she used to play both the Country Club and Nichols Park courses and could score in the low 40s when she was getting into her teens. Her father is a past Kansas state champ and Miss Ashley could be termed a chip off the old block. Rumor has it she beat Tommy Farrell when the two were cutting their teeth on the sport. If the rumor is true then Tom has nothing to be ashamed of.

Farrell and Red Hofmann will try to qualify for the National Amateur starting Monday in St. Louis. Over 1700 are trying to make the final field of 181 and play will be staged for the 72-hole tourney at the St. Louis Country Club.

Jacksonville High has a number of football players scattered throughout the country that will be playing college ball this fall. They are: Merritt Norvell, Wisconsin; Dave Cade, Univ. of Illinois; Milton McPike and Bobby Watts, Northeast Teachers at Kirksville; John Sutphen, Knox; Gary Brockhouse, Valparaiso; Chauncey Whitaker and Gene Wells, Illinois College; Mike Scott, Upper Iowa; Dick Parker, Bob Rieman, Don Schillinger and Tom Long, Eastern Illinois; Perry Roberts, Missouri, and Ernie Hildner, Conn. Wesleyan.

Local High School Gridiron Mentors To Stage First Workouts Monday

Come Monday at 2:30 p.m. the procedure will be reversed and it will be the football candidates taking turns pulling the two man-power sled used for conditioning purposes. And there are various other gimmicks to keep the Crimsons busy in their first workout of the season. Kraushaar and his assistants will stage one workout per day with the possible exception of Tuesday when they might try to get in two drills before school starts.

Kraushaar, who is beginning his 17th season as head coach of the Crimsons, and Rosenberger, who is starting his 8th as JHS line coach, have issued equipment to 91 so far but this number is expected to swell to 130 when the final checkout time is held Monday at 1:00 p.m.

The 1959 Crimsons smarted back after two straight losses and wound up with a five win, three loss record. Their 20-6 loss to Eisenhower at Decatur in their initial encounter snapped an undefeated string of 31 consecutive games, which began in 1955.

Kraushaar has the same schedule as last year with the exception of Hannibal, which gives the Crimsons a nine-game card. The last time Jacksonville played Hannibal was back in 1956 and this assured the Jacks of a perfect undefeated, untied season. Although the contest was pretty hostile, it wasn't the reason for the break. Hannibal entered a conference.

The 1960 schedule: September 16, Eisenhower; Sept. 24 at Riverview Gardens; Sept. 30 at Monmouth; Oct. 7 at Beardstown; Oct. 14, Jerseyville; Oct. 21 at Feitshans; Oct. 28, Lanphier; Nov. 4, Bethalto; Nov. 11 at Hannibal.

Coach Bob Winstead, who will be starting his fifth season as head coach at Routt, ponders over the offensive plays his Rockets will use this season. Winstead, a graduate of Illinois College in 1956, has produced 24 wins against only 10 defeats in his four years with the Rockets. His only losing season came his freshman year when the team compiled a four win, five loss record.

In 1959, his gridders won six straight before injuries took over and crippled the squad for their two remaining games which naturally resulted in losses.

Routt's football boss is hopeful of 25 candidates when they open practice drills Monday morning at nine o'clock. Winstead will hold two daily workouts Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday before school opens Thursday.

Although Routt has eight returning lettermen, of which three were starters in 1959, Winstead lacks depth and experience and this creates a problem of what type offense he should use to try and balance the situation. In his four previous years Winstead has never had a 200-pounder and it doesn't appear he'll have one in camp for 1960. Returning veterans are halfbacks Fred Curtis and Jack Lawless, guard Tom McGinnis, end Bob Brennan, center Bill Clancy, quarterbacks Bucky Sullivan, end Ed Carroll and tackle Bill Critchelow.

Routt's eight-game schedule appears intact with the exception of the October 28 date with Pawnee. Instead of a Friday night game at the JHS field this contest may be moved to a Wednesday or Thursday night date. The 1960 schedule: Sept. 16 at Franklin; Sept. 24 Pleasant Hill 8:00; Oct. 1 ISD (Homecoming) 7:30; Oct. 7 at Waverly; Oct. 14 at Petersburg; Oct. 20 at Bluffs; Oct. 28 (Open) Pawnee; Nov. 5 Triopia, 8:00.

Illini Begin Workouts Thursday In Position Of Big Ten Favorites

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — Coach Pete Elliott's first University of Illinois football squad—76 strong—begins practice here Thursday morning in the unenviable position of pre-season Big Ten title favorite. Twenty-four lettermen, twenty-two returning squad members, and thirty newcomers will attempt to mold a unit capable of attaining the lofty ranking predicted for the 1960 Illini.

The squad actually will report Wednesday, Aug. 31. A picture-taking session will be held for news photographers at 1:30 p.m. that day.

Workouts begin in earnest at 7 a.m. Thursday, and will continue on a two-day basis for several weeks, possibly until beginning of classes Monday, Sept. 19.

Elliott will depart from the workout schedule of his predecessor, Ray Eliot. The new Illinois mentor plans an early morning workout each day to beat the heat. The team will return to the field at 4 p.m. for the afternoon session.

The Illini have been hit by losses, even since the end of spring practice. Halfback John Counts has been dropped from school for scholastic deficiencies and halfback Gary Kolb has signed a professional baseball contract. To help overcome the loss of personnel at the position, Elliott has moved junior quarterback Jerry Parola, Taylor Springs (Hillsboro), to left halfback.

Two high-ranking centers will be tried at other positions. Junior Bob Mountz, Vincennes, Ind. (Lincoln), will return to end, a position he played as a freshman, and Junior letterman Tony Parrilli, Maywood (Proviso), will probably work at guard, at least for a few days.

Elliott feels that many problems remain to be solved before Illinois' home opener with Indiana Sept. 24. He is particularly concerned about end and the middle of the line, and also seeks added speed and depth at halfback.

The complete invitation list follows (lettermen indicated by *):

Ends—John Austin, Effingham; Dick Bruno, Spring Valley (Hall); Dave Cade, Jacksonville; Ken Chalcraft, Maroa; Gary Hembrough*, Roodhouse; Ernie McMillan*, Chicago (DuSable); Bob Mountz, Vincennes, Ind. (Lincoln); Dick Newell, Utica, N.Y. (Catholic); Ed O'Bradovich*, Hillside (Proviso); Ron O'Neal, Centralia; Mel Romani*, Washington; Steve Thomas, Urbana; Thurman Walker, ElDorado, Ark. (Washington); Gerry Wood*, Mendota; Richard Wooley, Effingham.

Tackles — Don Bush, Chicago (South Shore); Robert Creviston, Arlington Heights; Jerry Cripe, Michigan City, Ind. (Elston); Darrel DeDecker*, Atkinson; Mike Godat, Owaneco (Taylorville); Larry Lavery*, Decatur (St. Teresa); Frank Lollino, Chicago (Lane Tech); Lindell Lovellette, Eldorado; Pat Murphy, Riverdale (Chicago Mendel); Roland Pearson, Rockford (Harlem); Don Presern, Cicero (Morton); Cliff Roberts*, Philadelphia, Pa. (Dobbins); Joe Rutgens*, Cedar Point (LaSalle-Peru); Bob Scharbert, East St. Louis.

Guards — Gary Brown* Moline; George Brooks, Alton; Robert Camp, Peoria (Richwoods); John Collins, Chicago (DeLaSalle); Dick Deller, Cincinnati, Ohio (Bacon); Ken Gehler, Mendota; Joe Geraci*, Grayslake; Pat Lennon*, Joliet (Catholic); George Petrulis, Danville (Schlarman); Jerry Rosengren, Franklin Park (Leyden); Dick Stanton, Chicago (St. George); Joe Wendryhoski*, West Frankfort; Tony Zeppetella, Collinsville.

Centers — Bill Erickson, Chicago (Amundsen); Dennis Gould, Chillicothe; John Kruze, Newton; Joe Mota, Chicago (St. Mel); Tony Parrilli*, Maywood (Proviso); James Plankenhorn, Utica (Ottawa Marquette); John Stapleton*, Decatur (St. Teresa); Stan Yukevich*, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio.

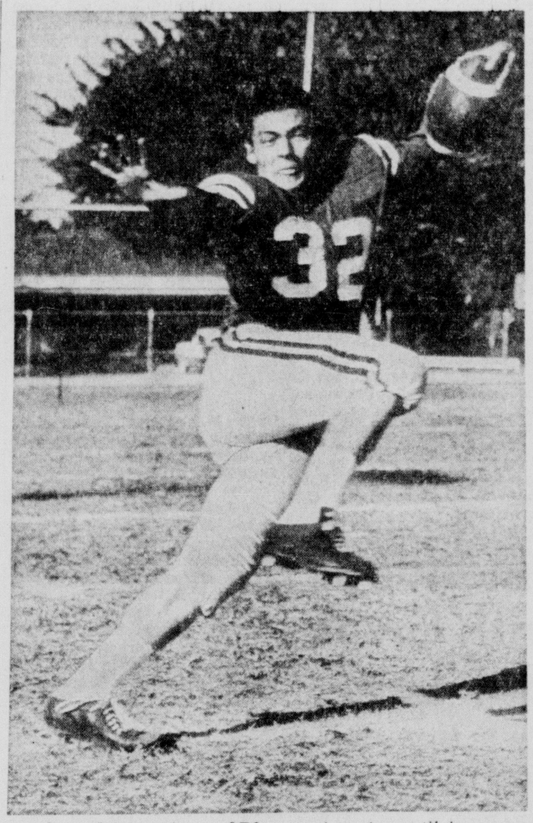

Quarterbacks — John Easterbrook*, Champaign; Paul Golaszewski, Harvey (Thornton); Russ Martin*, Carbondale; Dave McGann, Peoria (Spaulding); Mel Meyers*, Dallas, Texas (Washington); Mike Taliaferro, Wheaton; Gene Wright, Danville.

Halfbacks — Ethan Blackaby*, Canton; Bruce Cacciapaglia, Rockford (East); Pat Gilson, Miami, Fla. (Curley); Glenn Glauser, Peru (La-Salle-Peru); John Kenny, Chicago (St. George); Joe Krakoski, Westville; Dick McDade*, Urbana; Leonard Olson, Chicago (Mt. Carmel); Jerry Parola, Taylor Springs (Hillsboro); Marshall Starks* of Rockford (West); Norm Willis, Dayton, Ohio (Roosevelt); Ken Zimmerman, Aurora (West).

Fullbacks — Joe Brewer, Dayton, Ohio (Roosevelt); Bill Brown*, Mendota; Jim Brown*, Mendota; John Bush, Marshall; Dick Cast, Watseka; Bruce Singman, University City, Mo.; Al Wheatland of Streator.

The Institute of Life Insurance reports U.S. life insurance companies have a total investment in real estate of $3.78 billion.

JHS LEADER RETURNS

Gary Spangenberg, 170 pound senior, will be among the 12 returning lettermen in the JHS camp Monday when the candidates assemble for their first football workout of the season.

Although he was forced to miss the final two games of the 1959 season with an injured left thigh, Spangenberg still led the Crimsons in punting, scoring, ground gaining and pass receiving after the eight-game statistics were released. In six games Gary averaged 32.1 yards per kick in 19 punts, scored six touchdowns, caught nine passes for 153 yards and had an amazing 8.0 average per carry with 371 yards in 47 tries.

Other returning veterans are Jack McCarty, Ron Tomhave, John Wright, Ron Yates, Mike Mentler, Ken Norton, Erland Thady, Jono Hildner, Bill Stanford, Joey Wells and Jack Ricks.

The JHS camp will also have in it two transfer lettermen that should lend a helping hand to the gridiron cause. They are Wes Coulter, a junior fullback at East Peoria, and Tom Dailey, an end from a Minnesota school.

Illinois School for Deaf head coach Jim Bonds inflates the pigskin for the 1960 tuneup drills for the 29 selected candidates he has reporting early Monday morning at 8:30 a.m.

Bonds enjoyed a successful year in 1959, his first year as head coach of the Tigers, in chalking up six wins, one loss and one tie. But he is faced with a problem in 1960 as he lost 18 men off the traveling squad and has only four returning lettermen. They are halfback Bobby Poncar, tackle Edwin Carlson, guard Bob Hammack and tackle Nathan Wurtz. Another veteran, Richard Grob, will be at his quarterback post for ISD's opening game but the 19-year-old IHSA ruling becomes in effect for him the date of the Havana contest on September 23 and his prep career will be finished.

1960 will be a year of rebuilding for the Tigers as they'll lose only two players in 1961. The ISD frosh-soph played two encounters last season, beating Meredosia's varsity and Virginia's underclassmen. The squad definitely lacks experience for the seven-game slate of which only two are home affairs. The Tigers are on the road the first four games before playing Triopia in a homecoming tilt Saturday afternoon, Oct. 22, at three o'clock. They wind up the campaign at home against Petersburg November 4 at 3:00 p.m. This is a Friday contest.

Bonds will go with daily double-sessions until school opens September 7.

The schedule: September 16 at Dupo; Sept. 23 at Havana; October 1 at Routt; Oct. 7 at Pittsfield; Oct. 22 Triopia (Homecoming) 3:00; Oct. 29 at Wisconsin Deaf; November 4 Petersburg (3:00).

Stu Miller Handcuffs 2nd Place Braves, 3-1

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Stu Miller, a last-minute pitching choice, handcuffed second-place Milwaukee on three hits Saturday while San Francisco whipped the Braves and Lew Burdette 3-1.

Home runs by Felipe Alou and Willie Mays provided the key Giant blows before a Candlestick Park crowd of 27,061.

Alou's fourth-inning homer marked the first run off Burdette in 32 2-3 innings.

Mays' 28th homer sailed over the right field fence in the sixth.

Miller, now 4-5, kept the Braves buffaloed with his slow stuff and struck out six while walking two.

The third Giant run came on singles by Orlando Cepeda, Willie Kirkland and Hobie Landrith in the seventh.

Burdette gave up nine hits in taking his eighth defeat against 15 victories.

The Braves' run came in the eighth when Adcock led off with the second hit off Miller and pinch hitter Wes Covington singled. Adcock scored on the second of two infield groundouts.

FORMER COLLEGE AND PRO COACH DIES SATURDAY

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — M. J. (Mike) Getto, former college and professional football coach, died Saturday of a heart attack. Getto, 54, had suffered from Parkinson's disease several years.

Getto played football under the late Coach Jock Sutherland at Pitt in 1928. After graduation Getto came to Kansas University as line coach. He became freshman coach in 1939 and in 1940 and 1941 was assistant to Sutherland who was then coaching the Brooklyn Dodgers. After the 1942 season as head coach of the Dodgers, Getto came back to Lawrence and entered the hotel business.

In 1946 he went back to coaching as assistant to coaches George Sauer and Jules Sikes at Kansas. He returned to the hotel business in 1951.

U. S. Swimmers Break The World Record

Numerous Marks Fall By The Wayside Saturday

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Editor

ROME (AP) — Australia, Germany and England won gold medals, and a U.S. men's 400-meter medley relay team smashed the world record Saturday as the Olympic Games swimming and divent events sizzled with records in the 90-degree heat and broiling Roman sun.

Anita Lonsborough won Britain's first gold medal of the 17th games and shattered her own world record for the 200-meter breaststroke with a 2:49.5 clocking.

Blonde Ingrid Kramer, a 17-year-old Dresden Doll from East Germany, ended America's 40-year monopoly in women's springboard diving as the United States' Paula Jean Pope finished second for a silver medal.

Two Australians broke Olympic records. World record holder John Devitt, clipped the 1956 mark of teammate Jon Henricks in capturing the 100-meter freestyle gold medal by a raindrop over America's Lance Larson who had to settle for the silver.

Dawn Fraser, who holds the women's 100-meter freestyle world mark, eclipsed the day-old Olympic standard, in the semifinals of that event. She did 1:01.4, beating by a full half second the record time raced Friday by America's Chris Von Saltza. Miss Fraser and Miss Von Saltza led eight qualifiers, including America's Carolyn Wood, into Monday night's finals.

The big American news of the day was the world record time of 4:08.2 registered by the 400-meter medley relay team, and the United States' second straight basketball triumph, 125-66 over mismatched Japan. The United States also won in water polo, 10-4 over France.

In one of the big surprises of the day, Brazil defeated Russia in basketball, 58-54.

But the United States failed to win a gold medal on the first big day of finals.

The third day of the games which opened officially Thursday was generally quiet, with only a brief first fight marring the show in the Philippines 84-82 basketball victory over Spain. No one was hurt in the 15-second flareup touched off when a Filipino threw the ball at a prostrate Spaniard.

The death Friday of a young Danish cyclist, from sunstroke, echoed Saturday when the chief of the Danish delegation denied rumors circulated by Italian newsmen that the cyclist had taken stimulants before the race American hopes for beating Russia for unofficial team honors were dealt a stiff blow when Mrs. Pope and teammate Patty Willard, who finished fourth, failed to keep the women's 3-meter diving title in the U.S. victory column.

Counterbalancing the disappointment in the women's diving was the showing of Americans Sam Hall and Gary Tobian in the semifinals of the men's springboard. Hall led the field and Tobian was second heading into Monday night's final.

The record-breaking U.S. relay team, which topped the listed world mark of 4:10.4 held by Australia and a pending standard of 4:09.2 raced last month by another American team, was a patchwork quartet.

Each member swam 100 meters and the team was made up of Bob Bennett, backstroke; Paul Hait, breaststroke; Dave Gillanders, butterfly; and Steve Clark at the freestyle anchor.

U.S. Coach Gus Stager of Michigan said he would use Jeff Farrell, America's leading freestyler who failed to make the Olympic team in his specialty because of an appendectomy, and Larson, in the butterfly leg, when the final is held Sept. 1.

In a literal test of strength with Russia, American Greco-Roman wrestler Richie Wilson avoided elimintaion and shocked onlookers as he held world champion Ivan Kocherin of Russia to a draw.

U.S. cyclists and canoeists were eliminated in several events.

Bruce Hunter of the United States was fourth in the 100-meter freestyle final.

Germany took the silver and bronze medals in the women's 200-meter breaststroke as Wiltrud Urselmann and Barbel Goebel finished 2-3 behind Miss Lonsborough.

This is the fourth year Sharon Pinson has held this title, having won her first trophy in 1957 at the age of 10.

At the Jacksonville Country Club junior golfer's banquet Tuesday evening much praise and high tribute was given to Club pro Phil McCormick by the junior golfers, parents, Club president Carlos Bonjean, and President of the golfers association, Clarendon Smith. Mr. McCormick was presented with a gift in appreciation for the outstanding job he has done with the junior program.

Group lessons were given to 58 junior golf members each Tuesday followed by supervised tournaments and golf events during the summer months.

Preceding the banquet there was a contest for the longest drive from Number 1 tee. Winners of this event in their classes were: young girls—Beginners class, 1st Prudy Douglas, 2nd Lynn Pearce, 3rd Marilyn Doyle. Young boys—Beginners class, 1st Mike Herrin, 2nd Mike Bagale, 3rd, Steve Bockmeier.

Junior girls, 1st Sharon Pinson, 2nd Ellen Rammelkamp, 3rd Laurette Duewer. Junior boys, 1st Billy Pigott, 2nd Teddy Rammelkamp, 3rd Tommy Gardner. Lovely prizes were also awarded the winners of this year's handicap tournament. Junior boys, 1st Tommy Gardner, 2nd Warren Massey. Junior girls, 1st Sharon Pinson, 2nd Laurette Duewer.

The Jacksonville Merchants will play their final game of the season Sunday afternoon at 2:30 p.m. in Florence's Homecoming. The Merchants will be out to better their record of 17 wins against eight defeats. The team will depart from Lewis' "66" station at 1:00 p.m. Florence will treat the players to a fish dinner following the game.

Ashley Fails In Bid To Claim Amateur Crown

TULSA, Okla. (AP) —JoAnne Gunderson, daughter of a Kirkland, Wash., carpenter, hammered out a 6 and 5 decision over Jean Ashley of Chanute, Kan., Saturday and racked up her second national women's amateur golf championship within three years.

Miss Gunderson, a sturdy 21-year-old blonde physical education major at Arizona State University at Tempe, won the title in 1957 with an 8 and 6 victory over Mrs. Ann Casey Johnstone of Mason City, Iowa.

Miss Ashley, another 21-year-old making her first start in a major tournament, captured the fancy of a gallery of 1,000 at the Tulsa Country Club course. It was her determined effort which sidelined former Curtis Cupper Polly Riley, Mrs. Johnstone and defending champion Barbara McIntire.

Hawks Announce Most Ambitious Pre-Season Card

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Hawks of the National Basketball Assn. Saturday announced the most ambitious pre-season exhibition schedule in the club's history.

St. Louis' NBA entry will play seven games against the Philadelphia Warriors and nine against Cincinnati's Royals. Two of the exhibitions will be played at Kiel Auditorium in St. Louis.

The schedule: Sept. 29, Royals at Evansville, Ind.; 30, Royals at Peoria, Ill.; Oct. 1, Royals at Eldorado, Ill.; 3, Royals at Oklahoma City; 4, Royals at Lubbock, Tex.; 5, Royals at Albuquergue, N.M.; 6, Royals at Denver; 8, Royals at St. Louis; 10, Warriors at Lawrence, Kan.; 11, Warriors at Wichita, Kan.; 12, Warriors at Clinton ,Mo.; 13, Warriors at South Bend, Ind.; 15, Royals at Indianapolis; 16, Warriors at St. Louis; 17, Warriors at Kansas City.

Olympic Briefs

ROME (AP) — A fist fight involving a half-dozen players broke out during the Philippine-Spain Olympic basketball game Saturday.

Officials quickly rushed in to separate the angry players.

The flare up came midway in the second half of the tight game. The Philippines won 84-82.

Three players fell to the floor while wrestling for a loose ball. One of the Filipinos got up and angrily threw the ball at the face of a prostrate Spaniard.

Several members of the Spanish team rushed over with fists flying toward the Filipinos. It was all over in 15 seconds.

ROME (AP) — Ingrid Kramer brought an Olympic gold medal to the Iron Curtain part of Germany Saturday and with youthful bounce admitted she was "shooting for it" all along.

The 17-year-old Dresden, East Germany, fraulein smashed America's supremacy in the women's 3-meter springboard diving with a maginficent 155.81 point performance, beating Mrs. Paula Jean Myers Pope, the veteran American from Santa Ana, Calif.

"I was shooting for a medal, yah," said young Ingrid with cool confidence which belied the inner excitement she admitted. "We had heart the Americans were very good," she said. "But my coaches told me that I was good enough and they were right."

ROME (AP) — The United States Olympic cycling team was eliminated Saturday in qualifying trials for the 4,000 meter team pursuit race at the Velodrome. Nineteen teams entered and eight headed by Italy, qauilfied for the quarterfinals on the basis of best time.

ROME (AP) — Anita Lonsborough of Britain shattered her own world record Saturday, winning the Olympic women's 200-meter breaststroke final in 2:49.5. It was England's first gold medal of the games.

ROME (AP) — World record holder John Devitt of Australia won his country's first gold medal of the 1960 Olympics Games with a games record performance Saturday in the men's 100-meter freestyle swimming.

Record Field Of 25 3-Year-Old Trotters Slated For Du Quoin

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP) — The fastest, richest and biggest Hambletonian of them all is shaping up for Wednesday.

A record field of possibly 25 three-year-old trotters is expected to be named Sunday for the Kentucky Derby of harness racing.

"Most estimates peg the starting field at 23," Gene Hayes, president of the Du Quoin State Fair, said. "This would make a net purse of $150,797. However, there well could be as many as 25 starters, boosting it to $155,060."

This 34th Hambletonian, for the fourth year at Du Quoin, where pari mutuel betting is outlawed, undoubtedly will regain the title of the world's richest harness race. Last year it was worth $125,283, a record bettered this spring by the $142,776 Messenger Pace in New York.

The lightning-fast mile oval at Du Quoin will accommodate 20 starters. A larger field would force the event to be held in elimination heats.

K. D. Owen's Uncle Sam, trained and driven by Lou Huber Jr., and S. L. & K. Stable's Elaine Rodney, with Clint Hodgins at the reins, loom as likely favorites. However, as many as six candidates could be among top choices in what figures to be wide open competition.

Uncle Sam came to the front off straight heat victories in the final two major stepping stones to the Hambletonian—the Review Futurity at Springfield, Ill., and the Matron Stake at Sedalia, Mo.

He recorded a 2:00 1-5 at Springfield and a remarkable 1:59 3-5 this week in Sedalia — fastest mark ever posted prior to the Hambletonian by an eligible.

The 1958 Hambletonian record of 1:59 4-5 by Emily's Pride — the 10th filly to win the big meet—could well be erased.

Elaine Rodney has won her last six starts, including a 2:00 victory in an overnight race at Springfield.

Ralph Baldwin appears to be faced with quite a problem of selection. He trains and drives three top eligibles — Carlene Hanover, owned by the Hall Class Stables whose Diller Hanover won last year; and Castleton Farm's Quick Song and Star Performer.

Carlene took a 10 length triumph in a Sedalia Stake in 2:01. Then Baldwin won an overnight event with Quick Song with one heat in 2:00. He finished second to Uncle Sam in both trips of the Matron with Star Performer, being timed in 2:00 in the second heat.

S. A. Camp Farm's Blaze Hanover, the 2-year-old trotter of the year in 1959, has yet to reach top form but crafty Joe O'Brien, driver-trainer, may have him at his peak by Hambletonian time. Blaze's best mile this year was a second to Uncle Sam in the first heat of the Review.

Stanley Dancer has two fine hopefuls in I. W. Berkemeyer's American National winner, In Haste, and Dr. and Mrs. Nicholas Derrico's Volo Mon.

Del Miller has a strong pair in Armstrong Brothers' Hoot Frost, a full brother to the 1955 Hambletonian champion, Scott Frost, and Hempt and Cleveland's Lowe Hanover.

Hickory Fire, recently bought by Italian Ivone Grassetto for a reported $65,000 and to driven by Walter Baroncini, is a full brother of the 1957 winner, Hickory Smoke, and also deserves strong consideration.

Cubs Rally In 8th On Thomas' Single To Edge Phillies, 5-4

CHICAGO (AP) — Frank Thomas' pinch single in the eighth inning scored Ernie Banks with the winning run as the Chicago Cubs defeated Philadelphia 5-4 Saturday to square their series at a game apiece.

Don Elston, working the final 2 2-3 innings in relief of kayoed starter Dick Ellsworth, picked up the win—his seventh against as many losses. Short was the loser, bowing to the Cubs for the first time this season after winning three straight.

Phillies' pilot Gene Mauch poured four pinch batters into the seventh when his team scored three times for a 4-4 standoff and chased Ellsworth in the process.

Bobby Del Greco's single triggered the spurt. Before Don Elliston finally ended the four-hit spree Tony Taylor singled for the first run, Tony Gonzales delivered a pinch single for the second, and Tony Taylor scored the tying run on a wild pitch.

September 1 Application Date For Hunt Permits

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—The Illinois Department of Conservation Saturday set Sept. 1 as the application date for permits to hunt in the department's public hunting areas.

Public hunting areas for pheasants are located at Chain O'Lakes, Green River, Des Plaines, and Iroquois, Shelby and Clinton counties. The pheasant season is Nov. 11-30.

Duck areas are located at Rice Lake, Anderson Lake and Sanganois-Knapp Island. The season will run from Oct. 29 through Dec. 6.

Permits will be issued for the goose hunting area at Horseshoe Lake and Union County for Nov. 10 through Dec. 15.

The department said hunting applications should include name and address, name and address of hunting partner and date and location desired. A hunter will be allowed only one permit for each type of area: pheasant, duck and goose.

Senators Whip Detroit, 4-1,-- Killebrew Homers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Washington's Senators, solidly in the first division for the first time in 14 years, whipped Detroit, 4-1, Saturday in their bid to cling to fourth place.

Seven-hit pitching by Don Lee and Ray Moore gave the Senators a sweep of the two-game series and ran their victory total to 63 against 60 losses—the wins now equalling the club's total for all of the 1959 season.

Harmon Killebrew got the Senators off swinging with a first-inning homer off loser Bob Bruce. A single by Lenny Green and a double by Reno Bertoia in the fourth made it 2-0. In the fifth, the Tigers got their only run, off Lee, on a double by Chico Fernandez and a single by Ossie Virgil.

The Senators sewed it up off Detroit reliever Paul Foytack with two runs in the seventh.

Sievers Garners Batting Lead As He And Lollar Bat Pale Hose To 9-6 Win

BOSTON (AP) — Chicago slugger Roy Sievers took over the American League batting lead as he and Sherm Lollar homered to aid a 9-6 victory over Boston Saturday.

The triumph coupled with Baltimore's loss to Kansas City boosted the Go-Go Sox by a mere .001 past the Orioles into the runnerup spot behind league leading New York.

Sievers' 26th homer — three short of the club record for one season—and Lollar's sixth, highlighted a five-run outburst in the fourth inning when the pennant-battling visitors took a 5-1 lead. Sievers also doubled, singled, walked, reached on an error and scored three times to life his batting average five points to .324—one more than previous leader, teammate Al Smith.

Chicago's 14th victory in its last 20 starts went to righthander Bob Shaw who needed late-inning help from relief ace Gerry Staley.

Yankees Sweep Second Straight Doubleheader Win From Cleveland

NEW YORK (AP)— Ralph Terry pitched a two-hitter Saturday as the New York Yankees swept the second straight double-header from Cleveland, 7-4 and 3-0 and boosted their first-place margin over Chicago and Baltimore to 2½ games.

Vic Power and Johnny Temple got the only hits for Cleveland in the second game. Terry allowed only two other runners to reach base, both on walks. His season record is now 7-7.

Bob Cerv drove in the first two Yankee runs in the nightcap. He hit his 14th home run of the season in the first inning and singled home Bobby Richardson in the fifth.

Bill Stafford, recently brought up from the Yankees' Richmond farm club in the International League, gained his first major league triumph in the opener but he needed help from Luis Arroyo in the ninth when Cleveland scored two unearned runs.

The Yankees won the game in the fifth with a six-run outburst that sent southpaw Jack Harshman to the showers.

The defeat was the fourth for Harshman who has won only one game this season.

COMPETE IN SPORTS JAMBOREE

Five boys and girls from Jacksonville participated in the fifth annual Illinois Sports Jamboree at Springfield Saturday and all five made an excellent showing. Over 600 boys and girls competed in the meet and they represented the six sectional sites (Aurora, Bloomington, Carbondale, Champaign, Chicago and Sterling).

The results of the Jacksonville aggregation: 50 meter freestyle (14 & 15) Ron Yates 2nd. 50 meter butterfly (12 & 13) Candy Aichle 2nd. 50 meter breaststroke (10 & 11) Becky Massey 4th. 50 meter breaststroke (14 & 15) Jean Hemphill 4th. 50 meter breaststroke (14 & 15) Warren Massey 2nd.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Young swimmers from throughout Illinois splashed their way to 32 record-breaking performances Saturday in the fifth annual Illinois Junior Sports Jamboree.

Only two records survived the efforts of the boys and girls in three age brackets covering youngsters from 10 through 15.

Track and field athletes shattered 17 records and tied three others Friday.

Lynne Allsup of Bloomington was a double winner in the midget girls swimming competition and a member of the winning 200-meter relay team.

Lynne copped first place in the 50-meter free style with a :32.8 time and won the 50-meter butterfly event in :43.6.

Another double winner was Caroline Mayer of Champaign. Her 1:12.0 was best in the intermediate girls 100-meter free style event. Her :42.9 topped the field in 50-meter breast stroke competition. She also was a member of the winning 200 - meter relay team.

500 Rotarians, Wives Arriving In City For District Conference

Rotarians and Rotary Anns from 46 clubs throughout this section of Illinois will convene today in Jacksonville for what has all indications of being one of the biggest and best conventions of District 646, since the big wheel of Rotary International began spinning.

An attendance of 500 or more Rotarians and their wives is expected.

Jacksonville club committees yesterday had everything in readiness for the influx of visitors, with a series of outstanding programs and entertainment events scheduled for Monday and Tuesday. The Rotarians will go their way, and Rotary Ann's their way, as the convention unfolds meetings, tours, golf events, and luncheons.

Headquarters will be at MacMurray College, with several events planned for the Dunlap hotel.

District Governor Ketric Klingman of Canton will preside over the conference sessions.

A business session at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Dunlap hotel will usher in the activities, followed by a reception at 5 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Dunlap, 5 Milwood Manor. Dinner at 7:30 o'clock at the Triple Flame restaurant, west of the city, will ring down the preliminary events leading up to the convention schedule Monday.

KETRIC R. KLINGMAN
Governor District 646

The district conference will be honored by the presence of Ernest L. Vogt, Louisville, Ky., Rotary International President's personal representative. Mr. Vogt has been a member of the Rotary club of Louisville since 1919, is a past president of the club, and has served as District Governor.

Governor's Banquet Monday

Speaker Monday evening at the Governor's banquet will be Jeff Williams of Chickasha, Okla., lawyer, humorist and philosopher. He is a past district governor and past director of Rotary International.

Another outstanding address will be delivered by W. H. Edmund, executive consultant of Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Cuyahoga, Ohio. Prior to joining the Goodyear organization, Mr. Edmund held positions in the municipal and educational administrations of cities in Virginia.

Don Hahnestock is president of the Jacksonville Rotary club, whose entire membership is busy with details of the district gathering.

Robert H. Caldwell is conference chairman; James A. Dunlap, conference adviser; D. L. Hardin, conference secretary, and Elmer B. Lukeman, conference treasurer.

Befinning tomorrow the conference program will be:

Christian Youth Group Elects Miss Ann Garry

INDIANAPOLIS—Miss Ann Garry, 405 Sandusky, Jacksonville, Ill., has been elected a member-at-large of the executive committee of the International Christian Youth Fellowship Commission of Disciples of Christ (Christian) churches, it was announced here Friday.

A senior at Jacksonville High School, Miss Garry also serves as district CYF secretary and Illinois CYF Commission president. Last year she was associate president and attended the 1959 International CYF Commission in Denver, Colo.

Miss Garry is a member of the Central Christian Church in Jacksonville, where she has served the local CYF as study chairman, secretary, and president. She has been a member of that group for 12 years.

In connection with her school work, she is active in the National Honor Society, student council, class council, Y council, Tri-Hi-Y, pep club, a-capella choir, and student forum. She has been a class officer, on the prom committee, and active in a number of state music contests.

The International CYF Commission sessions, at which Miss Garry was elected and installed, drew 242 delegates together for six days of study at Lynchburg, Va. These youth represented 35 states, three Canadian provinces, and Jamaica.

Christine Crowe Feted At Party In Roodhouse

ROODHOUSE—Christine Crowe, Alton, celebrated her 12th birthday anniversary Thursday with a party held between the hours of 3 and 5 at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Woodson. Guests were Christine's friends with whom she formerly went to school in Roodhouse while residing here some years ago.

Present besides Christine were David Camp, Martha Hannaford, Chris McIver, Vicki Rawls, Debbie McConathy and Rhea Hogan. The social hour was spent playing Bingo and dancing. Prizes at Bingo were won by Rhea Hogan and Vicki Rawls. The door prize went to David Camp.

At the conclusion of the afternoon a plate supper was served of ham salad sandwiches, potato chips, with ice cream and ribbon cake and Kool-Aid. The birthday cake, bearing 12 candles, was cut and served by Christine. Assisting Mrs. Woodson with the games was Miss Mabel Hopkins, formerly Christine's teacher. Sending a gift but not present for the party was a friend, Mrs. Frieda Navins.

Wright May Support Kerner For Governor

CHICAGO (AP) — Warren E. Wright, defeated in the Republican primary race for U.S. senator, disclosed tonight he is leaning toward support of Otto Kerner, Democratic candidate for governor.

Kerner is running against Gov. William G. Stratton, with whom Wright has feuded for years.

Wright, a veteran of GOP state politics, twice was elected state treasurer. He was defeated in the April primary by Samuel Witwer, who had Stratton's endorsement.

"Stratton's tried to beat me every time I've run for anything," Wright complained, "and I'm getting tired of it."

He said he would support Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge, presidential and vice presidential nominees. But as for Stratton:

"I'm going to give him the same enthusiastic support he's always given me, and he can figure out what that would mean."

District 117 Schools Open Doors Sept. 1

School bells will ring again in District No. 117, Thursday, September 1. Students will get a break, however, in that the first day's sessions will be short and all elementary and junior high children will be home before noon.

Buses will operate one route only this year, therefore, all students will be picked up at the same time beginning at 7:10 a.m. to 8:30 depending on location along the routes, which will be about the same as last year.

Buses will pick up in the Murrayville and Woodson areas between 7:10 a.m. and 8:10 a.m. The bus will leave the Murrayville school at 8:10 a.m. for Jacksonville with high school students. Therefore, all high school students living in Murrayville will meet the bus at the Grade School. All high school students living in Woodson will meet the bus at the Woodson Grade School at 8:15 a.m.

Buses will pick up the Lynnville students between 7:15 and 8:15 a.m. All high and junior high students living in Lynnville will meet the bus at the Lynnville Grade School at 8:15 a.m.

All other students will be picked up between 7:20 a.m. and 8:30 a.m.

All the above times will be adjusted to later times as routes and conditions will permit.

The change in bus schedules will result in some adjustments in the school day. All elementary schools will begin at 9 a.m. except North and South Jacksonville, Lynnville, Woodson and Murrayville where the beginning time will be 8:45. Junior and senior high classes will start at 8:44 a.m. and close at 3:30 p.m.

Elementary schools will close from 3:15 p.m. to 3:45 p.m.

Book rental fees will be the same as last year, $2.50 for kindergarten and $5.50 for grades one to eight.

The schools offer an insurance program for accidents at school, and to and from school, as a service to the parents and children. This year the insurance will be carried with the Central National Life Insurance Company of Jacksonville at a rate of $2.00 per elementary pupil and $2.50 per high school pupil. Thus the total of fees will be $4.50 in kindergarten and $7.50 in all other grades. In the high school book rental is 75c per subject per semester.

All fees are due the first day of school and should be paid that day. Teachers will be in their rooms all day and will receive payments at any time.

None of the school cafeterias will operate on the first day, September 1, but all will serve meals on Friday, September 2. Meal prices will be the same as last year, elementary 30c and high school 35c. Extra milk may be purchased for one cent per carton.

Strawn Art Gallery Has New Director

Announcement was made Saturday of the appointment of Charles E. Scott of Memphis, Tennessee, as Director of the Strawn Art Gallery and Instructor in Art at Illinois College.

Club-Carrying Youths Arrested; Several Fined

Police were summoned at 11 o'clock Friday night to East College and Clay avenues, adjacent to the MacMurray College campus, where a gang of unruly youths was causing a disturbance.

Going into action at once to quell the disturbance, members of the night police force arrested eight teen-age youth and young men, some of whom were reported to be carrying clubs. One of the gang reportedly got away.

There was no actual fighting, police said, but they acted swiftly to prevent further incident. A dance was in progress at the college, where the state convention of DeMolay was being held.

The eight youths were taken to police headquarters and booked on charges of disorderly conduct. They gave their names as Elmer Mitchell. Richard Walker, Alvin Nelson, Claude Banks, Ronnie McPike. Mike Burton, Darryl Johnson, and Walfred Trumbo, all of this city.

Four of the group were fined $14 each Saturday morning in police court, the others to be arraigned later. Those paying fines were Mitchell, Nelson, Walker, and Burton.

Officers said all of the defendants are colored.

Police received another call at 2 a.m. Saturday to the vicinity of the college, but no more arrests resulted.

Mary E. Schewe Returns From Tour Of Europe

Mary Elizabeth Schewe, daughter of the Clarence W. Schewes of Alexander, recently returned from a tour in Europe. Miss Schewe, who will be a senior at Valparaiso University this fall, made the trip with a group from the University.

They left from Montreal, Canada June 9th aboard the M. S. Italia. From travel in England they went on to visit Denmark, then Germany and continued by bus through Italy, Switzerland and France.

The students flew from Paris to New York on July 26th making the trip by jet. The Alexander resident was a guest before returning home of a friend, Miss Karen Gill, at her home in Manhassett, New York.

Basket Dinner At Oak Grove Church To Honor Pastor

PATTERSON — The Oak Grove Baptist Church southeast of here will hold a basket dinner in the church basement Sunday, August 28, honoring their pastor, Elder Norman Hixon, and his wife. The dinner will follow the morning service. This will be Elder Hixon's last service as pastor of the church as he and his wife plan to reside in Louisville, Ky., where he will continue his theological studies.

Mrs. Hixon has been a teacher in the White Hall school system, during Mr. Hixon's ministry at the Oak Grove church.

Members and friends are invited to attend this farewell service and dinner.

Study Course

A two night study course will be held Wednesday and Thursday beginning at 7:30, at the Oak Grove Baptist Church, with Helen Galloway of the Southern Baptists from Carbondale. This course is a part of the Training Union program, and will include training for both adults and children. Anyone interested in this work is invited to attend these meetings.

Former Cass Girl Bride At Springfield

VIRGINIA—Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Jacqueline Sue Purnell, of Paragould, Ark., and Frank Sidney Pell, of Springfield. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Charles Clinton Purnell and the late C. E. Purnell, of Paragould.

The family came to Virginia from Arkansas and resided here for a number of years and shortly after the death of Mr. Purnell, his wife and two children returned to their former home. Here the bride received her education and was a graduate of Arkansas State College and is a member of Phi Mu. She has been employed as a teacher in the Butler school, in Springfield.

The marriage ceremony was performed at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Aug. 14, at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Pell, 2023 Briarcliff Drive. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rabbi Milton Schlinsky. The bride was given in marrige by her brother, Joseph W. Purnell, of Paragould.

A buffet supper followed the ceremony after which the couple left for a wedding trip to points in Florida. Upon their return they will reside at 545 Ridgley avenue, Springfield.

C. T. BROWNS VISIT RELATIVES IN CASS COUNTY

VIRGINIA—Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Brown of Whittier, Calif., spent the past two weeks with her mother, Mrs. Jerry Wilkey, and friends and relatives. They were accompanied to St. Louis Saturday by Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Murphy, where they boarded a jet plane for their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Murphy and family spent the past weekend with Mr. Murphy's mother, Mrs. Jerry Wilkey, friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred R. Harrison, Brenda, Tommy and Jerry, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. William Harrison and Mrs. Dorothy Harrison, all of Virginia, and Miss Phyllis Harrison of Springfield attended a family reunion Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Harrison of near New Douglas.

Dr. Newman, obstetrician and gynecologist, illustrated her profession by fashioning a hat from an infant doll, teething rings and medical instruments.

The meeting was conducted by the president, Miss Hull. Mrs. Wright gave the secretary's report and Miss Gontermann gave the financial report.

Appropriately for the program Altrusa Information the Governor of District Six, Altrusa International, Inc., Mrs. Ethel Boyle of Springfield, was the speaker.

She reminded members of the classified service club that service to others should remain first and foremost in attainment. Jacksonville's club is one in 52 in the District which includes Kentucky, Indiana and Illinois, and one in 500 in the overall organization.

Commendation was given the co-editors of the District's Sixth Summary, quarterly news publication compiled by Miss Marguerita Schoedsack and Dr. Mary Louise Newman of the Jacksonville club. Mrs. Boyle reminded members to attend the Sept. 23-25 District Conference to be held in Lexington, Kentucky.

Guests introduced at the meeting were Miss Cecelia Perrodin, Chief Nurse, Jacksonville State Hospital, presented by Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Raymond Sheppard, manager at the Toy Center, presented by Miss Thelma Bacon. Miss Bacon and the guests served as judges for the hat competition. The cash prize was in turn presented to the club treasury.

At the close of the meeting the floral centerpiece at the speaker's table was presented to Governor Boyle who in turn asked the flowers be taken to Mrs. Ella Bruce, member of the club ill at Passavant hospital.

Shower Fetes Brenda Shields At Greenfield

GREENFIELD — Miss Brenda Shields, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell Shields of Greenfield, was guest of honor Saturday evening at a pre-nuptial shower given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Cook. Hostesses were Mrs. Charles Hall, Mrs. Richard McPhearson, Mrs. Don Sample and Mrs. Fred Roth.

Guests were Mrs. J. Russell Shields, Mrs. Warren Cook, Mrs. Charles Burroughs, Mrs. Jerry Jilg, Mrs. A. R. Helm, Mrs. Gary Price, Mrs. E. E. Cook, Mrs. R. K. Wilhite, Mrs. Russell Riggs.

Mrs. Jessie Wilhite, Miss Carmen de Quevedo, Miss Mildred Cook, Mrs. Floyd Cook, Miss Marilyn Thaxton and Miss Sandra Strang, all of Greenfield.

Mrs. Gladys Fair, aunt of the bride-to-be, and Terry and Lorna Shields, nieces of the bride-to-be, all of Lompoc, California.

Mrs. Dale E. Bishop and Mrs. Elsie Bishop, both of Rockbridge.

Games were played and prize winners were Mrs. Charles Burroughs, Mrs. A. R. Helm and Mrs. Jerry Jilg.

The color scheme was lavender and white. The gifts were arranged on a decorated table on which a bride doll stood. Refreshments of cake, ice cream, punch, nuts and mints were served by the hostesses. Many lovely gifts were received by the guest of honor.

Miss Shields will become the bride of Dean E. Bishop, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale E. Bishop of Rockbridge on Tuesday, September sixth, at eight o'clock in the evening in the Rockbridge Methodist Church.

Rigg Descendants Hold 21st Reunion In White Hall Park

ROODHOUSE—The 21st annual reunion of the descendants of Archibald Perry Rigg was held in the shelterhouse in Lions Park, White Hall., on Sunday Aug. 21 with forty-five members present.

A basket dinner was served at noon with prayer of grace by Georgia Peterson, Chicago. A short business meeting was held following the meal. As the president, R. A. Rigg, was a hospital patient, and vice president Maynard Rigg was unable to be present, W. A. Rigg of White Hall was asked to conduct the meeting.

Two marriages were reported in the past year: Ronald V. Pendt, son of H. V. and Edith Anthony Pendt to Diana Burriss; Kathryn Staples, daughter of the late Myrle Staples, and Harold Oldham.

Four births were reported: a son, Steven Mitchell, to Mr. and Mrs. James Riley: a daughter, Dana Diane, to Mr. and Mrs. Keith Davidson; a son Brian to Mr and Mrs. Alfred Coe; a daughter Teresa to Mr. and Mrs. Philip Mangaracina.

There were two deaths; Lella Rigg Van Winkle of Peoria and William McCarthy, White Hall.

Officers elected for the coming year were: R. A. Rigg, president; Harold Peterson, vice president; Julia Anthony, secretary-treasurer.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Rigg, Mrs. Robert McCarthy, John, Cheryl and Ronnie, Mr. and Mrs. William Owens, Mrs. Pansy McCarthy, Mrs. Lena Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Monroe, Arthur Lee and Floyd of White Hall; Mrs. Ashlock and David, Mr. and Mrs. William D. Editorial Comment

No Decision

It should clear from recent developments that competition between the United States and Russia in the space field is more a qualitative than a quantitative thing.

Twice in the last few weeks we have retrieved capsules ejected from rockets traveling in distant orbit. More remarkable was our interception of a plummeting capsule 10,000 feet in the air.

Successful recapture of these elements is unquestionably an important stage on the way to solving the general problem of the re-entry of space vehicles through the atmosphere's searing friction.

All earlier successes in fielding space vehicles serving a variety of other purposes, including radio communication, earth mapping, photography and warning against hostile missiles, lend further emphasis to the fact that, qualitatively, we are holding our own.

But obviously no one can underestimate the Russian effort. Since the Soviet scientific pride is intense, we have learned to accept most of their claims in space experimentation.

In the latest instance, the Russians say they have safely sent into orbit and brought back to earth two dogs and a number of other animals. According to their report, these animals made 18 revolutions of the earth in 24 hours aloft, covering more than 433,000 miles at a height of some 200 miles.

Ingeniously, Soviet scientists had television cameras mounted in their space ship to observe the animals' reactions while they were whirling in orbit. The test could take them a big stride toward putting a man in orbit.

The evidence, then, is that both America and Russia have made significant gains, sometimes in the same direction but often on different fronts. This being so, it is not only foolish but inaccurate to make a general statement that either nation is "ahead" in space development.

The competition is much more subtle than such a statement implies. We are both having our victories, and it is likely to continue this way for a long, long time.

This One Will Be No Waltz

As might have been expected, two resourceful, risk-taking politicians, Vice President Nixon and Sen. John Kennedy are preparing to try nearly every imaginable approach—new and old—in their developing presidential battle.

They will fly on quick thrusts into many states. In some heavily populated areas in the Middle West and East they will resort to the old standby, the campaign train. They will use much state and regional radio and television.

On top of all this, they plan a remarkable series of face-to-face meetings—major debates on radio and TV and a few joint news conferences. The preliminary arrangements for these personal confrontations suggest that they may be unique in campaign history in this century.

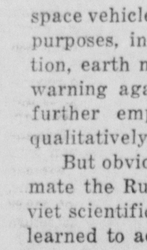

The word "debate" has come to mean little in American politics. As conducted in recent times, campaign debates have hardly been more than joint but largely unrelated appearances. Each candidate thumps away in his own fashion, and seldom deals the other even a glancing blow.

Kennedy and Nixon don't want it that way. They seem to be agreed that each man should be free to question the other directly and that the rules generally should favor verbal combat.

The risks involved here are tremendous, since either candidate could be shown up badly in a hot personal exchange. By the same token, the two men will expose themselves to further danger when they submit jointly to the heavy bombardments of newsmen.

That Nixon and Kennedy are willing to take these gambles indicates a great deal about them as politicans and as men. They both play hard to win and reach out well beyond the limits of caution. They are adventurous and imaginative.

The American people can be thankful they are. For if the debate and news conference plans go through as now conceived, the voters will be treated to perhaps the most original, exciting and revealing presidential campaign in modern times.

FINDING THE WAY

The True Face of Work

BY RALPH W. LOEW
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

"I'm sure glad that I can work." This frequently heard comment is the glad recognition of every individual for the privilege and opportunity of labor. This awareness is fundamental to an understanding of Labor Day.

Originally, this day was placed in the calendar to recognize the importance of labor and the obligation of the nation to protect the rights of every individual. All of the statements that are issued on this day agree that every worker deserves the sense of dignity which human beings crave for the full development of personality and daily life. Thus the growth of cooperation between management and labor, the study of automation, the concern with so-called fringe benefits are all in line with this basic understanding.

Beyond this, there is the other side which is so frequently overlooked, namely, the sheer fun of being able to work. We're going to have some real problems when we have delivered ourselves into weeks of three or four work days, for our muscles and minds require useful activity.

There was a commentator on this business of speeding up things who heard with awe that Thomas Gray had worked for seven years on his poem, "Elegy in a Country Churchyard." So he wrote:

They say you took seven years to write a poem
Laboring on every line as a telescope maker
Works over crystal. Well, what good did it do you?
Cut off from your fellows,
Your thoughts interned in your graveyard?
You finally became so much a part of your poem
That children of today keep asking:
"Who wrote Gray's Elegy?"
Why polish a phrase?
Why search for a rhyme?
If you had only been a free verse poet
You could have written and sold enough poems
To buy the church and the churchyard too,
Poor Thomas Gray."

But he didn't think of himself as "poor Thomas Gray," for there was something within him clamoring so loud that he was unhappy until it was said.

There was a tentmaker once, whom we call St. Paul, who knew what it was to work. He'd traveled across Roman highways, been up against the persecution of human rights, worked long hours and was never adequately paid in tangible wealth. You never found him boasting about it either. Except once or twice. Then he did it in self-defense as some taunted him, and he could reply, "I worked harder than all of them." And he added, "Yet not I, but the grace of God which was with me."

There you have a worker literally caught up in the spirit of the job to be done. Our danger is simply that we shall have improved our conditions for working and have lost the sense of vocation.

It's good to work when:
"Work shall be prayer if all be wrought
As Thou wouldst have it done
And prayer by Thee inspired and taught Itself with work be one."

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Cara Williams says she could still be married to John Barrymore Jr., if she wanted to be Italian.

"He's gone completely Italian," says red-haired Cara, referring to the son of the late John Barrymore and Dolores Costello.

"He sent me a first-class ticket to visit him in Rome for a reconciliation. I went, but I told him I preferred to remain an American. We didn't reconcile.

"Then he gave me a ticket home. As I boarded the plane, I started to go up the first class ramp. The agent stopped me: 'I'm sorry, Mrs. Barrymore, your ticket home is economy class.'"

Cara believes her husband to be one of the finest young actors but can't understand his sudden liking for life along the Via Veneto.

"When we were married here," she says, "I couldn't get him in the Villa Capri for a dish of spaghetti."

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Karen Dolin is an 18-year-old singer and dancer who is beautiful enough to be a Las Vegas chorus girl—and was.

Her ambition, however, is to become a movie actress. She studied with drama coaches. Finally she was spotted by a talent scout who sent her over for an audition for "Jack the Giant Killer."

The director, producer and other executives raved about her beauty and signed her on the spot.

"I can't tell you how thrilled I was," she says, "until I arrived on the set."

No one, it seems, had told her she plays a witch in the movie. Her beautiful face and red hair is covered with a mask that would scare Boris Karloff.

Favorable Poll Results Give GOP the Jitters

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — That Gallup poll showing Nixon-Lodge 50 per cent, Kennedy-Johnson 44 per cent with 6 per cent undecided, surprised, delighted and scared the GOP all in one gasp.

Right after the Democratic convention in Los Angeles Vice President Nixon's organization ran several private polls in key states. They showed Kennedy-Johnson ahead, 55 to 45 per cent.

But this was before the Republican convention in Chicago and the Democrats were much more in the public eye.

Reversal of this standing three weeks later is attributed to the success of the GOP convention performance, Nixon's acceptance speech and nomination of Ambassador Lodge for veep.

But this showing so early in the campaign worries the Republicans. When you're on top the problem is to stay there and the tendency is to slide. When you're on the bottom, you work harder and are likely to show gains.

AT THE END of the first two weeks in the special sesion of Congress, general feeling was that the Republicans had gained ground and the Democrats had lost.

Democratic leaders Kennedy and Johnson were on the defensive. Republicans were conducting a smart and hard hitting offensive.

Democrats were left vulnerable on civil rights. They had to go along with the Eisenhower administration in ratifying the Antarctic treaty, authorizing the 500-million-dollar Latin American aid program, and in taking Senate action to increase House appropriations for general foreign aid. Southern conservative Democrats teamed with Republicans to force compromises on minimum wage and health insurance programs.

The Democrats have one strike on them in that the House Rules Committee may block liberal Democratic programs on federal aids for education and housing. They have a second strike on them in that any extreme legislation they pass is likely to collect an Eisenhower veto.

DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL Committee headquarters has overflowed into four floors of a small office building around the corner from national committee chairman Henry M. Jackson's and brother Bobby Kennedy's command post. Unofficial office guide for the expanded space is: Second floor—paper, third floor—sex, fourth floor—brains, fifth floor—money.

Translating, this means that the distribution and mail center with the national committee's 700,000-name mailing list is on floor two. Women's division under Chairman Margaret Price is on three. Civil rights, radio and TV, speakers' bureau and library are also crowded in here. Research under Drs. Robert L. Oshins and Archibald Cox, Mike Feldman and Ted Sorensen of Kennedy's Senate staff are on four. And the finance division under Chairman Matthew H. McClosky on floor five.

REPUBLICAN Headquarters here is also having growing pains. Nixon-Lodge campaign manager Len Hall's 19th Street staff has expanded into the sixth floor of a new office building across the street to give its brains departments room to think. This includes the research department under Dr. George L. Glassmuck, University of Michigan political scientist, and the Nixon speech-writing professors under Time-Life Chief of Correspondents James L. Sheply.

SEN. GEORGE A. SMATHERS (D-Fla.) is in line to become Kennedy-Johnson campaign manager in the southeastern states. The Democratic ticket is still having its troubles in this area because of the ultra-liberal civil rights plank in the party's platform. Senate sidetracking of this issue in the special sesion of Congress, however, has done much to bring southern conservatives around to loyal support of the ticket, with only a few holdouts like Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia.

KENNEDY'S brother-in-law Sargent Shriver — Eunice's husband — has become the senator's top man on civil rights and farm programs, two of the most troublesome issues of the campaign. It's quite a departure for the Baltimore Yaleman and former Newsweek writer whose chief business interest has been Chicago's Merchandise Mart.

GAG AROUND Washington is that Kennedy is appointing so many assistants, experts, consultants, advisers, co-ordinators, committee chairmen and committee members —all over the country—that he can win the November election if the only people who vote for him are his own staff organization.

NOMINATION OF U.N. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge as Republican vice presidential candidate is looking better all the time. Right after the Chicago convention it was a questionable decision because of fear that Bostonian Lodge would not register well in the farm belt. Illinois Gov. William G. Stratton tried to stop it but couldn't.

The story has come out now that before the convention, farm state leaders like Senators Bourke Hickenlooper of Iowa and Frank Carlson of Kansas took soundings on vice presidential possibilities in the Midwest. They found that Lodge's name was better known than any others. The anti-Communist issue and fighting the Russians were considered a more important issue than solving the farm problem.

- Nothing makes her take such a hard-eyed, uncompromising look in the mirror as knowing she is going to see an old beau she hasn't seen in years.
- Nothing makes her madder than to have her husband criticize her cooking or her housekeeping.
- Nothing gets her dander up like having another woman she knows is as old as she is pretend to be younger.
- Nothing burns her up like having another woman feed her husband the kind of flattery she stopped feeding him as soon as she caught him.
- Nothing irritates her quite so much as to have her husband begin searching for something that has been put away and forgotten for years 15 minutes before guests are due for dinner.
- Nothing makes her abandon motherly modesty as fast as having another mother brag without restraint about her own children.
- Nothing a teen-age daughter ever says to her makes her feel more frustrated than "Oh, Mother . . ." when she makes what she thinks is a helpful suggestion.
- Nothing makes her prouder than to have her husband proudly acknowledge that he couldn't get along without her.
- Nothing endears another woman to her like having the other woman ask her advice.
- Nothing makes her feel so old as having her children look surprised when she reminds them that she hasn't completely forgotten what it was like to be young.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two things stand out after watching Congress in the past few weeks.

1. It is dominated by the conservatives of both parties.

2. Sens. John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson have been about as comfortable as a pair of polar bears in a Turkish bath.

Since the Democrats outnumber the Republicans overwhelmingly in both House and Senate, Johnson and Kennedy might have expected the climate to be more agreeable.

And it would have been, too, if some of their own conservative Democrats, mostly Southerners, hadn't turned the heat on them by trotting along with the Republicans.

There's no reason to believe the conservatives still won't prevail next year, no matter who wins the November elections. The results of this Congress, now hurrying toward a close, tell the story.

Kennedy, the Democratic presidential candidate, and his vice-presidential running mate, Johnson, came back here with the whole country watching to see how much they could make good on the Democratic campaign platform promises. They were rebuffed again and again.

Meanwhile, Kennedy's opposite number on the Republican ticket, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, had the luxury of being able to keep his mouth shut and just watch without getting too much mixed up publicly in what happened. There was a good reason for this.

As vice president he can't take part in the debate. All he can do is preside over the Senate and vote only to break a tie vote on the floor.

Take housing. The Democratic platform promised a program of two million homes a year. Before Congress recessed for the conventions last July, the Senate had passed a $1,200,000,000 housing bill.

But the House Rules Committee — dominated by conservative Democrats and Republicans—still hasn't let a bill get through so the whole House can vote on it. The result: Almost certainly no housing bill this year.

Take the medical care bill. The Democratic platform promised — as part of the Social Security system—to provide medical care for the aged.

Before the conventions, the House passed a minimum kind of medical care bill providing mostly for poverty-stricken older people. When Congress returned Kennedy and Johnson fought to have the Senate make good on the Democratic platform promise. They lost because 19 Southern Democrats joined the Republicans in turning them down. The Democrats had already voted solidly to reject a Republican plan offering a different kind of broader benefits. The Senate then passed a minimum kind of bill, too, and a compromise of the two limited versions was ready for passage Saturday.

Take education. The Democratic platform promised federal aid for school construction and teachers' salaries. Before the convention both houses had acted on a federal aid to education bill.

The Senate passed one providing $1,800,000,000 over two years for school construction and teachers' salaries. The House-passed bill authorized $1,300,000,000 over four years but only for construction.

Again the House Rules Committee comes into the picture. Because the two bills differed, representatives of both houses would have to confer and compromise on a single bill. The Rules Committee has blocked such a conference.

The result: Almost certainly no federal-aid-to-education bill this year.

Take the minimum wage issue. The Democratic platform called for raising the minimum wage—which covers people engaged in interstate commerce — from its present $1 level to $1.25.

Before the conventions the House passed a bill raising the minimum wage to only $1.15, which is about the most President Eisenhower would go for. The Senate came back and, under the leadership of Kennedy and Johnson, passed one fulfilling the platform promise: It would raise the minimum wage to $1.25.

The Rules Committee bottled this up a bit but now is permitting House and Senate to reach a compromise. The result will probably be a minimum wage of $1.15.

If anyone can be called a winner at this session it's Eisenhower, who wanted much less far-reaching legislation than either the Democratic platform promised or Kennedy and Johnson sought.

Senility Can Never Catch Him, He Moves Too Fast

BY MARIE DAERR

At 72, I. V. (Ivy) Volper has packed his new portable aluminum easel, his painting and his clothes into a station wagon and started off for a year of gypsying.

"When you have no regular job and no responsibilities, you'd better keep going—or senility will catch up with you," is Volper's belief.

Not that Volper stood still very long since he gave up a busy career as an advertising artist. He took on a part-time teaching job at an art school and kept a studio where he experimented with various painting styles. He was successful enough with these to have several exhibits in the big midwest city that was his home.

Recently, Volper's invalid wife died.

"I knew I had to make a new life for myself," Volper said. "I gave up the apartment where we had lived for 20 years and told the school director I wanted at least a year off from teaching."

Then he enrolled in a summer art workshop at the University of Rhode Island and planned what he smilingly called "a sabbatical."

"I've never been to New England," Volper said. "I've never seen the museums and galleries in Boston, Philadelphia and Washington. I've never visited New York's Guggenheim."

In Connecticut, old friends of Volper will give a party at which he will show his paintings. The trip will also include visits with a number of grandchildren, nephews and nieces. A few months from now, Volper expects to be in Miami.

"I visited friends there for a few days last winter," Volper said. 'I'm convinced that I would have pupils if I opened a teaching studio there."

By late spring Volper expects to come back to his home town. But maybe not for long.

"For years I've had a dream of going to Europe," he says. "I can't put that off forever. Think of the art collections I can set over there!"

Q—I've paid into Social Security for the time it started until July, 1940. Starting about 1945, I worked for two more years. A few other times, I worked for six months at a stretch. Since 1948 I've been practically idle. I am certain I have 20 quarters or more. Will I be able to get Social Security five years from now, at age 65, even if I don't work any more?

A—You will need either 28 or 29 quarters, depending on the month in which your birthday occurs, to be eligible for Social Security benefits. I suggest you get the postcard OAR-7004, add to it a request for your total quarters of coverage and mail it to the Social Security Administration in Baltimore. The information you receive in reply will tell you whether you are eligible for benefits.

Q—My mother, who is 67, was divorced from my father after 35 years of marriage. My father gets Social Security each month. Is my mother entitled to Social Security?

A—Your mother can not receive payments as the wife of a Social Security beneficiary.

Potato Pancake Recipes To Satisfy Inner Man

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise
Food and Markets Editor

Production of early summer potatoes, now coming to market, is exceptional. This will make them a budget basic food for your family menu.

Here are two variations of the potato pancake theme. The first is from home economists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the second from Luchow's in New York, the country's most famous authentic German restaurant.

Potato Pancakes
(Make about 18 pancakes)

Two eggs, beaten, ¼ cup milk, 2 cups grated, ground or shredded raw potato, 1 tablespoon grated onion, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, pepper.

Combine beaten eggs and milk in mixing bowl. Grate, grind or shred potatoes and add to egg-milk mixture as soon as each cupful is prepared. Use only the pulp of the potato, not the liquid. Add onion, flour, salt and pepper. Mix well.

Drop the mixture by tablespoonful onto a hot, lightly greased griddle or fry pan. Stir the mixture before dropping each pancake.

Cook the cakes slowly until they are well browned and crisp on the bottom. Turn, and brown the other side.

If cooked too fast, the pancakes will scorch before they are cooked thoroughly.

Serve immediately as a meat accompaniment or with applesauce or apple butter.

Luchow's Potato Pancakes
(Serve 6)

Two pounds (6) medium-size potatoes, ½ medium-size onion, grated; 2 tablespoons flour, 2 eggs beaten;; 1½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon grated nutmeg, 2 tablespoons minced parsley, 3 or 4 tablespcons butter, 4 strips crisply cooked bacon.

Wash and peel potatoes. Cover with cold water; drain. Grate at once and drain water that collects on grated potatoes. Add onion and mix. Add flour, eggs, salt, pepper, nutmeg, and parsley. Mix thoroughly. Heat butter on griddle or in large frying pan.

Place large spoonfuls of potato mixture in hot pan; bake 3 or 4 pancakes at one time until brown and crisp on each side, turning with pancake turner. Place on hot dish. Garnish with crisp bacon. Serve stewed apples with pancakes.

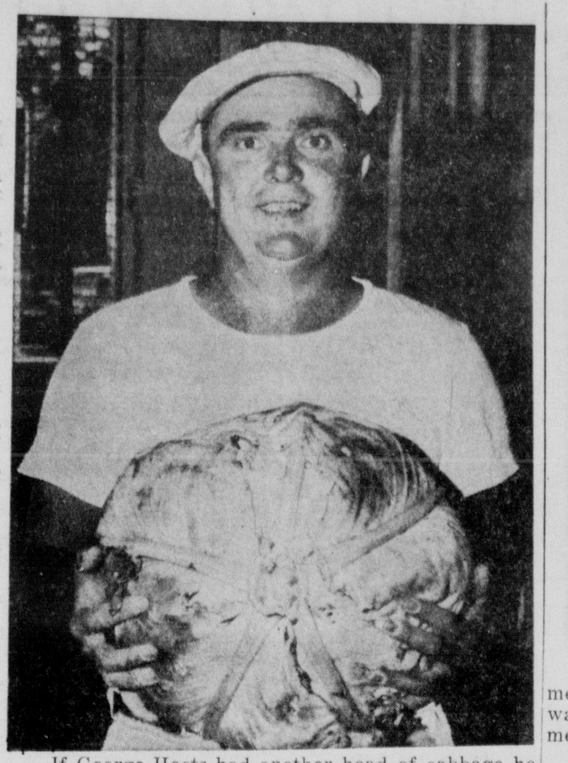

MONDAY'S DINNER: Pot roast with vegetables, potato pancakes, cucumber salad, rye bread or seeded rolls, plums, grapes and pears, coffee, tea, milk.

Two agricultural exchange students from India are raising a crop of corn at the University of Illinois as it's done in their native land.

The corn is planted very thick, up to 200,000 plants per acre. Then most of them are cut during the growing season to provide green forage for livestock.

The exhibit will be one of the 18 to be seen at U.I. Agronomy Day Sept. 14.

Irrigation In Illinois Doesn't Always Pay

When hot, dry August days and curling corn leaves turn a farmer's thoughts to irrigation, he might first profit by hearing the experiences of farmers who have irrigated.

Velmar W. Davis, U.S. Department of Agriculture economist at the University of Illinois, has completed a survey of 145 farmers who have used irrigation. He reports that many irrigation systems were installed in 1954 following the 1953 dry weather, but the number of installations leveled off in 1955 and 1956. Since rainfall was generally abundant in 1957 and 1958, few systems were installed, and some farmers sold or discontinued using their systems.

Only 13 of 77 farmers who were equipped to irrigate field crops used their systems in 1958, Davis reports. The average acres irrigated dropped from 45 in 1956 to six in 1958.

Specialty crop farmers, on the other hand, increased the average acreage irrigated between 1954 and 1958. Somewhat fewer irrigators, however, used their systems in 1957 and 1958.

Installation Costly

The average investment for irrigating field crops is high. Among 40 farmers, the investment averaged $7,433 per farm, or about $86 an acre irrigated.

In 1957, 26 farmers who reported irrigating corn averaged 2½ applications and 2 inches per application. They averaged 38 bushels more corn per acre than with no irrigation. With an average corn price of $1.15 at that time, they estimated a profit of $10.98 an acre, or a 13 per cent return on their investment.

In 1958, however, four farmers who irrigated their corn raised yields only 21 bushels above yields of corn without irrigation. This increase was not enough to pay all the extra costs. Davis estimates that they averaged a net loss of 3 per cent on their investment.

Most irrigating in Illinois is done on sandy or silt loam soils, Davis reports. These soils have less water-holding capacity than others. They are also most responsive to irrigation.

Corn and soybeans are the most commonly irrigated field crops. Gladioli, vegetables, strawberries and nursery crops are the most commonly irrigated specialty crops.

Is Investment Wise?

Farmers who are thinking about irrigation must decide whether the money invested this way will pay returns as high as if put to some other use, Davis points out. On many Illinois farms that are relatively unimproved, investments in fertilizer, improved seed, pasture improvements and more productive livestock will pay a higher rate of return over several years than a similar amount invested in irrigation.

On highly developed farms, however, where the best farm practices are followed, irrigation may be a profitable investment, Davis concludes.

Agricola, German "father of mineralogy," popularized the term "fossil." Taken from the Latin "fossilis," it means "dug up."

Outlook Meeting At Farm Bureau Hall Sept. 14

Farm Adviser George Trull announces several meetings of interest to Morgan County farmers and land owners.

All livestock producers are invited to attend Cattle Feeders Day at the University of Illinois on Friday, Sept. 2. Those who want to go, and lack transportation, are asked to call the Farm Bureau office.

A visit to inspect the soybean variety plots at the Lawrence Smith Jr., farm three and a half miles east of Pisgah is scheduled for Friday, Sept. 9, beginning at 1:30 p.m. Seven varieties will be seen, and Trull expects a member of the U.I. agronomy staff will be present to discuss soybean varieties, culture and disease.

Another group of local farmers have indicated they will attend the annual U.I. Agronomy Day to be held Wednesday, Sept. 14.

That evening the annual fall livestock outlook meeting will be held at Farm Bureau hall, beginning at 8 p.m. Delmar Wilkins, chief of the Farm Bureau Farm Management fieldmen, will discuss the economic situation and a St. Louis Producers Livestock Marketing association representative will talk on marketing trends and prospects.

Other livestock outlook meetings scheduled for this area include:

Scott, Sept. 1. Pike, Sept. 9. Cass, Sept. 13.

How India Does It! One Of 18 Displays On Agronomy Tour

In India farmers thin their corn in midseason and use this part as fodder for cattle. The rest stays on to produce grain for human consumption.

And what Indian farmers have been doing for hundreds of years is getting a Yankee twist and may some day wind up as something new for American farmers.

The idea of taking two crops from the same field of corn is being tested at the University of Illinois agronomy farm in Urbana.

The basic experimental design is this: between every set of grain rows are jammed up to six closely spaced fodder rows. The fodder rows will be harvested for green chop or silage, and the grain rows will be harvested as usual later in the year.

East-West Exchange

Two graduate students are working on the project, Narender K. Jain and Mahesh N. Mishra. They're from India, naturally — the north-central part.

The studies evolved when East met West at preliminary-idea sessions the students had with U. of I. agronomists.

Jain's and Mishra's adviser, Agronomist J. W. Pendleton tags this work as a future possibility for midwest corn growers. It's pointed toward the day when food and fiber needs will be greater than they are now.

One thing sure, the Indian-inspired studies are pointing up some overlooked capacities of hybrid corn.

A Dual Crop

In the studies, the Indian students aim to take off a crop of corn fodder and still get, say, a 100-bushel grain yield from the same field. To get this yield, they've planted corn twice as thick in the grain rows, since there are only about half as many grain rows as in normal fields.

Such crowding ordinarily hurts yields, but taking out the fodder rows just before tasseling time allows more sunlight to reach the grain rows, which may offset the crowding.

Theoretically at least, one acre of corn ground should produce the forage and grain that normally requires two acres. At harvest time this fall, the Indian students hope to prove their point.

They also have a related study under way in which they're growing corn strictly for tonnage, drilling it at a whopping 200,000 plants per acre. One plot, harvested on July 8, yielded 30 tons of green forage per acre. More corn was immediately drilled in its place, and sometime before frost it should be ready for harvest, making two cuttings of corn from the same plot.

Food Value Tests

For producing sheer tonnage, corn is showing remarkable abilities. The University of Illinois dairy and animal science departments are now running nutrient tests to see how such corn ranks in feed value.

Mishra and Jain's sojourn of study in the United States is financed jointly by the University of Illinois and the International Cooperation Administration. After their work here, they'll return to India to teach in agricultural universities.

Visitors at Agronomy Day Sept. 14 will see these plots and hear more about this research project. This test will be only one of the 18 stops on the tour of the agronomy research farm.

Illinois Farmers Outlook Letter

CROP PROSPECTS IMPROVE SLIGHTLY

Crop prospects improved a bit in July. The August crop report set the index of crop production for 1960 at 119, which is just one point above last year and 1958. The index is calculated with 1947-49 as 100.

This index of crop production is, of course, a new record. But new records are not news in America. New records are normal. If an industry does not set a new record each year, someone is almost sure to call for a congressional investigation.

The point is that perhaps we should not overpublicize our record-busting, since it is essential to growth and progress, not something to be feared. But let's go back to the farm outlook!

Corn. The total crop is forecast at 4,112 million bushels, 6 per cent less than last year. However, a substantial acreage will be used for silage. The production of corn for grain may total no more than 3,750 million bushels. This would be only about 3 per cent more than is being used and exported in this marketing year.

All classes of livestock (except horses and mules) are increasing. Thus the consumption of corn in the next marketing year may be about equal to the crop that is harvested this fall.

Soybeans. The 1960 crop is forecast at 548 million bushels. This is 10 million more than last year but is 32 million bushels less than was harvested in 1958. The carryover on Oct. 1 will be around 40 million bushels, down from 62 million a year before. A further reduction in the carryover is in prospect for 1961.

Wheat. The carryover on July 1 was 1,313 million bushels, or only slightly more than the 1,295 million bushels carried over in 1959. But the new crop is estimated at 1,362 million. While this is 21 per cent more than in 1959, it is 100 million bushels (or 7 per cent) less than was harvested in 1958.

Our production of wheat is further out of line with needs than is the production of any other farm product. Domestic needs run only about 490 million bushels for food and 64 million for seed. Another 50 million or so are used for livestock and poultry feed. Exports took about 511 million bushels (wheat and flour) in the year ended June 30. Shipments were made to more than 80 countries, but the bulk went to India, Pakistan, Egypt, Poland, United Kingdom (England), Brazil and Turkey. Most of the wheat exported was sold at prices 50 to 70 cents less than U.S. market prices or was essentially given away in various "aid" programs.

Other feed grains. Sorghum grain production is forecast at 539 million bushels, down 7 per cent from last year and 12 per cent below 1958. The oat crop is estimated at 1,167 million bushels, 9 per cent over last year but 10 per cent under the 10-year average. Barley output is figured at 411 million bushels, 2 per cent less than last year and 13 per cent less than two years ago.

U.I. Agronomists To Unveil 66" Soil Profile

URBANA—A stranger passing by might ask, "What's that big hole in the ground with the roof on top and steps leading down into it?"

But to the soil scientists at the University of Illinois agronomy research farm this "big hole" tells a fascinating story. With this simple excavation about 5½ feet deep, 10 feet long and 8 feet wide, they can explain the importance of every inch of the soil profile from the rich blacktop soil to the coarse glacial outwash material far below.

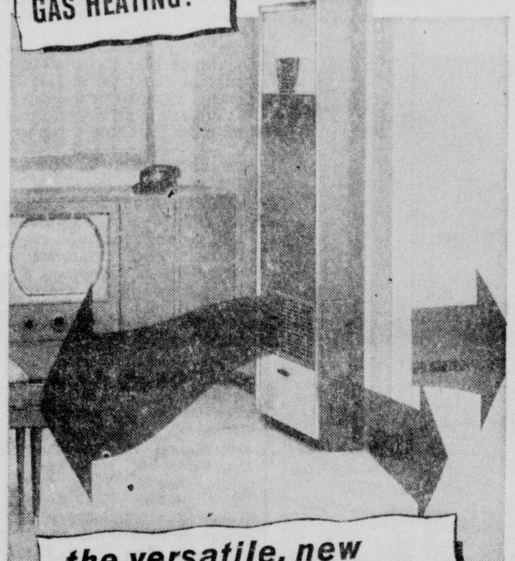

The profile is Flanagan silt loam, a common soil found in central Illinois that has an uncommon ability to produce high crop yields when properly cared for. Chemical analyses and field experiments give soil scientists a detailed knowledge of how this soil and others similar to it can produce the highest yields at the lowest cost.

Soil scientists B. R. Sabey and L. J. McKenzie built the profile just before a recent tour of internationally known soil scientists from 40 countries. It will be shown to the general public at Agronomy Day on Sept. 14. Agronomy classes will use it in their studies after that.

The soil profile is only one of 18 stops scheduled for the Agronomy Day tours beginning at 9:30 a.m. Lunch will be served at the farm at noon. The research farm is located directly south of the main campus at Champaign-Urbana.

Adventures Of Totem Turtle And His Friends, In 3 Parts

By Mrs. Otto Dorr

TOTEM TURTLE (Part One)

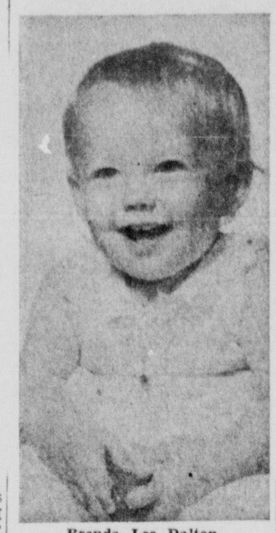

A hungary bluejay dropped to a low bush in a pasture. His black eyes watched for a plump grasshopper or a lively caterpillar, but nothing moved then a clod of humpy earth stirred nearby, "Perhaps a mole," thought the bird, "Maybe it will push out something to eat," but the lump moved cautiously, then a head peered upward and two short legs on each side pushed out. "Hello!" it called, "What is your name?" "I am Mr. J Bluejay," came the answer with a jerky bow," What is yours?"

"Only Turtle," the dusty looking animal observed; "Where did you get a long name?" Mr. J bounced to a lower twig, "Everyone is named at my home, the cat is Will, the dog Sparky, a squarrel Swish and a half grown rabbit Mose, because it mows the clover. Swish lives in a tree next to mine, she has a deep nest and a leafy patio for her children's naps. Come down to my yard, they will find a name for you."

"I can't," the turtle confided, "I'm afraid. It is hard to walk over humps and hollows." "You could go in the road," Mr. J advised. "I cannot get out of the way when great trucks rumble by, shaking the earth; I can hardly move away from their wheel tracks," then he looked closely at a weed stem, "but there is a nice grasshopper just in front of me, if you want a snack," "Nixie, nixie," the grasshopper whizzed out of sight," "I am not your lunch!!" for the bluejay dived just a moment too late. "Any way thank you. Somehow we shall find a name for you," and he flew off.

The disappointed turtle followed his usual paths about the pasture until, one morning, he heard his friend calling for help. "Something surely is wrong," he thought, "I wonder if I could get there in time to help." Timidly it crept under the fence, then it tumbled down a ravine and twisted through vines to the road's edge. It looked both ways and listened, there was no auto noise, so it stepped out in the dusty lane. Now the bluejay calls came louder and a squirrel scolded furiously.

Rockets And Space—

Plan To Send Man Into Space

By Walter B. Hendrickson Jr.

A few days after the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) was created, on October 1, 1958, it formed the NASA Space Task Group and gave it the responsibility for the detailed direction of the Project Mercury Manned satellite program, with the aim of sending a man into orbit and bringing him back safe.

The Space Task Group was formed from the scientists of the Langley Research Center, Langley Field, Virginia, and the Lewis Research Center Cleveland, Ohio. The NASA inherited these research centers from its predecessor the National Advisory Committee (NACA) Aeronautics. The Space Task Group operates at Langley Field, NASA Headquarters.

Many of the people in the Space Task Group had for the past few years been making studies of using ballistic-missiles as boosters for manned space ships or space capsules. During 1957 and '58 these activities were stepped up. This made it possible for the Space Group to show satisfactory early progress.

As far as the Space Task Group is concerned, at least, manned space flight is no longer just an imaginative idea. Every day the solving of many problems brings this group closer to their goal rocketing the United States' first astronaut into orbit and bringing him back alive. In the process of doing this the group is learning many things about man's limits in this area.

Little more than half a century ago, on the sands of Kitty Hawk, the Wright brothers mastered the secrets of flying in the air with heavier than air craft. Since that day most of the sky's barriers—like the sound barrier—have overcome by properly designed aircraft. Now man is rocketing instruments and animals into the upper air and space to find out about these regions where no plane can fly or balloon float.

Man is the most adaptable and versatile measuring instrument for slakeing his constant thirst for knowlege. This makes Project Mercury the logical next step in the exploration of space. While the space task group can't predict the exact nature of their findings in this effort to advance basic knowledge, they are sure that Project Mercury and other U.S. space programs will open the door to a new and better world.

To make sure that Project Mercury's purpose was accomplished quickly the NASA decided to use the simplest and most reliable approach available. This was to use the least possible amount of new developments, and to work up to the actual flight gradually. This is being done with models and lower speed rocket flight.

The NASA decided to use a drag or ballistic reentry vehicle. This capsule would be slowed down on return to earth by air friction after firing rockets against the direction of its orbit to slow it down just enough to drop to earth. After it had reentered the lower atmosphere a system of parachutes would lower the capsule into the south Atlantic Ocean it would float until picked up.

This capsule would be boosted into orbit by an Atlas Inter continental Ballistis Missile. If something went wrong with this rocket the Astronaut could press a red "chicken-button" which would start an escape rocket mounted on top of the capsule. (And astronauts are not afraid of being chicken.) This would blast the capsule clear of the stricken missile, then the parachute system would lower the capsule to earth.

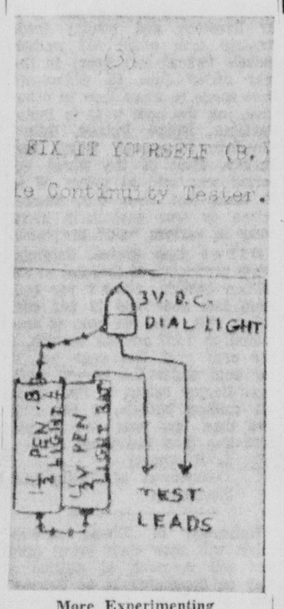

The picture shows a model of the Project Mercury capsule being test fired with this escape system.

So supple is genuine sealskin that an entire pelt can pass through a napkin ring.

How To Test Your Outfit

By Joseph A. Smith

More Experimenting

The next step was a thorough search for ideas in the Handbook, radio amateur magazines, etc. Whenever you found an idea you liked, you made note of it, and continued on. Finally, you started figuring out the over-all diagram and plan for your rig; a plan that incorporated all (or as many as you could afford) the ideas you wanted within one complete schmetic.

Perhaps once you had finished the complete schmetic, you took pencil, paper, and ruler in hand and worked out a tentative wiring pictorial diagram complete to the last resistor and condenser and wire. (It's time consuming and you're in a hurry to get that gear going, but it's easier to make changes and alterations in layout on paper than with the real thing later on.)

"Ah! We're going fine," you might say; but wait, more difficulties may crop up before we're ready to go on the air.

With the completed plan on hand, next you rush down into the radio parts dealer and buy the needed parts (over and above those that might be found in the Junk Box, that is,) return home, and start mounting the component parts on the chassis. Now the fun begins.

Continue Testing

What is the simplest test method you may ask? Why "Continuity Testing," of course. What is that you ask? Well, testing to see whether there is a break in any particular wire or line suspected of being broken or open in some manner.

Of course we know that an electrical current or incoming signal can not pass through a broken line since this same break offers infinite resistance to such passage. If you don't have a V.O.M. to check all wiring of a new piece of gear for bad solder connections (high resistance resin connections not always readily apparent to the eye) or loose connections, then the experimenter can hook a 3 volt flashlight bulb, two pen-light 1½ volt batteries, in series with two lengths of wire left as test leads. (See diagram).

This can be used as a simple continuity tester since it will, if the connection or wire is good, pass a small amount of D.C. current through the tested element and light the bulb. If it does not, obviously there is a break somewhere.

Has Limits

It isn't hard to see that this simple checking method has its limitations; condensers don't pass D.C. current (unless they are defective and shortened internally), and you can not measure the resistance of any given resistor in the circuit giving the trouble. Nor can it measure voltages or current passing through these circuits.

So, sooner or later the serious amateur or experimenter looks around for a volt-ohm-milliameter —one that fits his budget. Here again you can pay just about as much as you want to or relatively little if you make one yourself.

For accuracy and dependibility, however, it is well to purchase as good a V.O.M. as the budget can stand. For the limited budget fellow you can purchase an Army-Navy surplus pocket size tester for as little as $8 and several kits are available on the market.

Just one example of a good one is the EICO V.O.M. which is available in kit form for around $12. Naturally you can pay as much as $30 or more for a first class ready-built unit that will measure voltage, resistance, current, capacitance, ifductance, decibels of sound level, etc.

Vacation Time Fun

By Mary Pence Claywell

Part 15: Fun In Sun And Rain

Tommy's friends greeted him with, "Come on, Tommy . . . you're holding up the game! Play ball! Play ball! Get in here, Tommy, old boy!"

And you can bet . . . Tommy did just that!

My, but the old friends and the familiar ball diamond did look good; and Spot too, seemed to be on home territory also, just like his young Master. He made himself comfortable sitting on his haunches, watching another boy pitch a ball high into the air and wondering in his dog way . . . if he couldn't catch it on the way down!

"If he only would let it bounce," said the little dog to himself," I could at least run after it;" for you see, poor little Spot didn't have a chance at in on the way down as he had hoped.

After several tries, Spot decided it wasn't his game anyway, so he curled himself up on the boys' jackets for a little snooze. Of course he and Tommy often had a game of ball at home and, no doubt, he was soon dreaming about his importance in their two man game. For he was the main fielder and always ran to bring the ball back to his Master if it went astray.

Tommy found so many interesting things to do after his return, he began to wonder how he had stayed away so long:

Cool Swim

On hot afternoons, he and the boys cooled themselves in the city swimming pool, and as Tommy dived into the clear, cool water, he always thought of the ducks on Gramp's farm. Of course he didn't stand on his head with his feet sticking out of the water like the old ducks did.

"But I'm not looking for crawdaddies," laughed Tommy to himself, "besides I want all of me to get wet on days like this!"

Visits Library

Then on rainy days, there was the big public library where a boy could spend a whole afternoon without a dull moment. For its countless shelves were just loaded with good books.

Tommy loved a good book, and he felt one of his teachers was truly right when he said, "Books are our friends . . . and friends are no good unless you use them. But of course you must treat them with respect . . . or like your other friends, they don't last long." So Tommy never abused a book.

"It would be just like insulting one of the boys," he said to himself;" the boy would desert me, and the book would wear out . . . so I guess my teacher wasn't wasting words."

Getting More Fun On Outings

By Joseph A. Smith

Part 4: A Few Extras

Now let's assume that we have the means of taking along a few more of the niceities (as we can if we are going in an automobile or have a bicycle with saddlebags.)

Our outing will be more enjoyable if we include with our gear certain personal things to make our outing more comfortable. Obviously on a hike or short outing all these won't be needed.

It is easy to scale the quantity taken down to fit the expected need. The following ideas are for a longer outing.

Our personal accessory kit might include some or all of the following:

a) Soap and towel. (Yes, it sure won't hurt to wash your face even in the woods!)

b) 3 pkgs. of 10c Kleenex tissue. It will be useful in many ways.

c) Tooth brush and tooth paste. (They get just as dirty out there as at home!)

d) During summer time insect and suntan lotions will be welcome; obviously a small bottle will be best.

e) Dad will have to take a safety razor and brushless cream; as may the older boy too.

f) As stated before, a midget sewing kit may come in handy before you get home to Mom's sewing machine.

g) A camera, suitable film and exposure guide may be taken if desired (and space and weight allows.)

h) A compass is a must for any traveler in the woods etc.

i) Also, a two cell flashlight is a handy thing to have along at night.

Since we all like to eat (and who doesn't?) the following might be included in our cook kit as a minimum:

a) Matches either waterproof or in a water-tight container. (Ever try to strike a damp, sweated up, or otherwise wet match?)

b) A relatively sharp pocket knife, or small hunting knife is most handy for outdoor cooking.

c) Cook kit: (pan, skillet, cup and metal silverware.) Don't forget a can opener! I've heard of fellows going without food who forgot a can opener. A sharp knife is a poor substitute for a small can opener!

d) Sugar and salt. Either in small containers or wrapped in wax paper.

e) Water canteen. (Filled with water or coffee.) Drink only a little at a time; you'll sweat less and yet be satisfied.

Well, that's enough about clothes, etc. Now we'll give some hints about what your bike will need.

What Bike Needs

It is always wise to get that bicycle (or motorcycle if you own one) in excellent condition before you go. If you fail to do so you may end up walking part of the way!

As a bare minimum, clean the cycle up well first, then carefully tighten up every nut and bolt etc. on it. The one you miss just might later prove to be a troublemaker! Oil or grease, as the case may be, all appropriate places thoroughly but not excessively.

Fix and/or replace any possible bad parts before you take off on that trip. It can save a lot of headaches later. (The voice of some 97,000 miles of cycling.)

Now you might wonder what one should wisely take along with one on such an extended outing if, for example, it is on a bicycle. Well, every real rider will have his own ideas, but (for what they're worth) here are some suggestions:

a) A spare inner tube and 2 valve cores (cheap enough and better than possibly having to walk!)

b) A spare master chain link and chain breaker.

c) Spare tail light and headlight bulbs.

d) Tool kit including small screwdriver, suitable open end wrenches, etc. (Take only those actually useful; others are only surplus for more added weight.)

e) The cyclist will, of course, want a spare quart of cycle oil and a repair manual of his cycle.

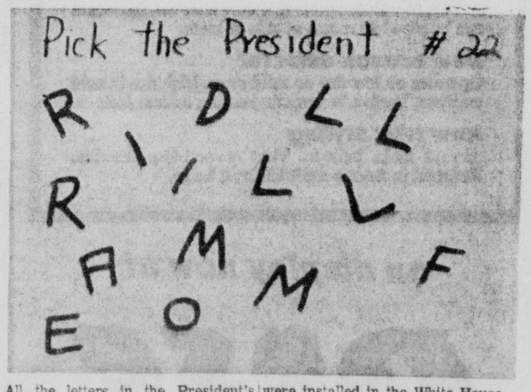

And now that the real but none of the less important details of gear are out of the way we will next turn to actual trip planning and traveling aids. Next week's article will deal with this idea in some detail. (After all, carefully planning your trip can save both time and distance (to the cyclist, both time and gas!) Less distance means less time on the road, and more time to see and do things you would like to.

Wonder World—

Wait – Don't Spray – These Insects Make Useful Products

By Rip Barnsdall

Honey, silk, and lac are three of the most useful products that are produced by insects.

Honeybees store honey as a surplus food for their own use during winter. People found that honey had a very sweet taste and was delicious when eaten as a food.

Raw silk is produced by the caterpillar of the silk moth. Many useful clothing products are made from silk.

Lac is given off by very small insects known as Asiatic Scale. The lac is secreted from the body of the insects. As the lac is touched by air it hardens.

Many of these insects will group themselves in a tight group on a tree branch. The lac given off by their bodies forms a hard covering over the branch.

People collect these layers and use them in the making of such things as shellac and varnish. The lac-producing insects are found in India, the Philippine Islands, etc.

The collectors place the branches with lac on them in boiling water. The lac separates and rise to the top. After being skimmed off, the lac is refined.

U.S. Mechanical Corn Picking Meet Oct. 21

One hundred acres of fine Missouri corn is shoulder high at the site of the 1960 National Mechanical Corn Picking Contest to be held Oct. 21 at Chillicothe, Mo.

The 12th annual contest will be held on the rolling green acres of the Ted Vanlandingham farm in the rich glacial area of north Missouri. The farm and contest site is located four miles east of Chillicothe on U.S. Highway 36.

The 12th annual event will bring 20 contestants from 10 states to vie for honors in both the 1 and 2-row events. Missouri entries will be chosen on Oct. 20 at the same location.

About 100 firms, representing the farm machinery industry and many other companies connected with farming in general, will display their wares at the biggest annual one-day agricultural show in the nation.

This Week.. at Dixon Springs

Area resources development adviser is the new title for Les Broom, formerly farm adviser of Pulaski-Alexander counties. Broom is now headquartered at the Dixon Sprnigs Experiment Station, in charge of an area development program sponsored by the Agricultural Extension Service. This change is due to a broadening of the rural development program conducted for several years on a trial basis in Pulaski and Alexander counties, under the direction of Stanley Ceglinski, assistant farm adviser. Stan has now replaced Broom as farm adviser in these counties.

The Program

The scope of this program is quite broad, as indicated by part of Broom's title — "Area Resources Development." The program includes, but goes beyond, the family farm to encompass industrial, recreational and community development. As an area development program, the following counties are included: Pulaski and Alexander, Union, Johnson, Massac, Pope, Hardin and Jackson.

Attends Summer School

To further broaden his experience, Broom attended a four-week summer school in rural development at the University of Missouri. In the near future, he plans to meet with farm and home advisers and agricultural extension councils as well as representatives of many organizations in the area to evaluate and appraise the resources and plan programs of operation. Any organizations or groups wishing to learn more about the program may contact Mr. Broom at the Dixon Springs Experiment Station.

A graduate of the University of Missouri, Broom has served as farm adviser since 1934 in both Illinois and Missouri. He has also taught school, farmed and worked as a land appraiser for the Federal Land Bank.

Les, his wife Lucille, and 14-year-old son, Bill, are living at Route 4, Vienna.

TANKER CATCHES FIRE

Jacksonville firemen raced seven miles north of the city on Route 67 after hearing that a tank truck's rear tires were in flames. The tanker was loaded with fuel oil instead of gasoline.

"Boy, hope they don't hit my truck," Floyd A. Ellspermann of Betholto, remarked to a Klump salesman when fire engines and state police cars started heading for the scene at full speed Friday evening about 6 o'clock.

Ellspermann had a flat tire on the right dual-wheels of his trailer but couldn't pull off the road because he was on a hill. He stopped just over the crest of the next hill on a narrow shoulder near the Arthur Kershaw farm north of the city, set the proper flares and tried to call a repair truck. He hitched a ride into Jacksonville and stopped at the Klump Tire Company. That's when the sirens and red lights started going north on North Main.

The 8,000 gallon pay load of fuel oil in the M & S Transport from Wood River apparently caused the flat tire to overheat and after Ellspermann stopped the truck it ignited the tires.

Firemen saved the truck and the entire load of oil but heavy damage resulted on the right rear wheels and tires.

State troopers handled the traffic and held back a crowd of more than 500 curious spectators who followed the fire engine. Traffic was blocked both ways on Route 67 more than one hour while firemen extinguished the blaze and determined the area safe for cars to pass.

The picture shows firemen cooling the rear wheels. The flames were extinguished with foam earlier. Temperature of the oil reached 170 degrees during the blaze.

Predicts 1960 Soybeans To Sell At $2 A Bushel

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—A University of Illinois agricultural economist last week estimated that Illinois soybean growers will average $1.95 to $2.00 a bushel for their 1960 crop, although prices may bulge above this at some time.

Speaking before the American Soybean Association annual meeting, T. A. Hieronymus analyzed the situation in this way:

The current crop estimate of 548 million bushels is the best figure available at this time. While it is 10 million bushels above last year, the total supply will be a little lower because of reduced carryover.

Soybean oil selling for 8 to 9 cents a pound and soybean meal at $50 to $55 in bulk at Decatur would mean an Illinois farm price of $1.95 to $2.00. To obtain this price, crushing margins would have to be about the same as in the past two years.

Oil A Problem

The market for soybean meal and soybeans for export continues to expand. Disposing of oil continues to be a problem, but demand will increase at moderately lower prices than at present.

The market for soybeans will continue to grow as long as prices remain in the $1.90 to $2.00 range. But higher prices will sharply curtail the market potential.

$60 Practical Top

Demand for soybean meal could increase substantially in the coming year. Feed grain prices will remain low, and livestock feeding will be profitable. But high use of bean meal requires that prices remain below $60 a ton. At $50 a ton, meal from the entire soybean supply could be used up.

Edible fat and oil supplies are large throughout the world. Although soybean oil has sold for around 8.25 cents a pound this past year the price probably won't be quite so high in the year ahead.

The lower soybean price support has now removed the influence of the loan program on the market price of soybeans and their products.

Farm Extension Committees Chart Work

The Morgan County Extension Council committees, composed of farmers who cooperate with the University of Illinois to carry on its educational program, met with Farm Adviser George Trull Wednesday to outline activities for the coming year.

The preliminary schedule of events indicate a busy year.

LeRoy T. Smith of Franklin heads the council. Warren Lakamp, route 2, is the vice president and James B. Swain, route 3, secretary.

The committees for the coming year are:

Agricultural Economics — LeRoy Sweet, chairman; Charles J. Williamson, Darrell Smith, Harold Hembrough, Eugene Nienhiser.

Agricultural Engineering — Roy Nickel, chairman; Warren Lakamp, James Swain, Hubert Fricke, Maurice Strang.

Livestock — Marvin Martin, chairman; Alan Heaton, Edwin Deitrick, Verne Bergschneider, Rollin Martin.

FAMILY SURPRISES ESTILL LEIB WITH BIRTHDAY DINNER

A surprise potluck supper was served Monday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Estell Leib celebrating Mr. Leib's birthday which occured Aug 23rd. A large decorated angel food cake, baked by the honoree's daughter, Mrs. George Wade, was served. A grandson, Gene Arthur Wade, sang the traditional Happy Birthday, to his grandfather.

Mr. Leib received many nice gifts. The evening was spent pictures and watching television. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. George Wade and Gene Arthur; Mrs Ronnie Johnson and son, Ronnie; Mr. and Mrs. James Wade and daughter, Debbie, all of Pittsfield.

Morgan Farmers To Form Bowling League Monday

The farm folks of Morgan county will take over all 14 alleys of the Bowling Center, West Walnut street, each Monday evening this season.

Last year eight teams made up the Farm Bureau League. This year there will be at least 10, says Organization Director John Chambers. The remaining alleys will be turned over to mixed team play.

Organization of the 1960-61 league will begin Monday evening, at 9 p.m. All interested are requested to either call the Farm Bureau office before that hour, or to come to the Center.

The league will bowl at the last shift through September and October. After the fall harvest, the members will play at 6:45 p.m. for the balance of the season.

To Report Value Of Wet Corn In Beef Ration

With many farmers planning to harvest wet corn this fall, a report on high moisture corn's feeding value should attract interest at the University of Illinois Cattle Feeders Day, Sept. 2.

Beef cattle scientists have compared the feeding value of high-moisture ear and shelled corn with regular dry corn.

In the first phase of the study, they fed dry ear corn, that averaged 15 percent in moisture content, to one group of heifers. A second group received wet ear corn with a 36 percent moisture content.

The second phase of the study featured shelled corn. One group received shelled corn dried to a 15 percent moisture level. Another group received corn that averaged 30 percent in moisture content.

The corn in all rations was fed as part of a standard fattening ration.

Preliminary data indicates that cattle receiving dry ear corn turned in a better performance than cattle fed high-moisture ear corn. The complete results will be presented at Cattle Feeders Day.

The program starts at 10 a.m. with tours of the beef cattle farm. The formal program begins at 1:15 in the Auditorium when the major research reports will be presented.

Rome's Terrific Heat Kills Danish Cyclist

Associated Press Sports Editor

ROME (AP)—Rome's blazing sun Friday caused the first fatality of the 1960 Olympic Games.

A Danish cyclist, Knud Enemark Jensen, 23, died in Sant Eugenio Hospital after competing in the 100 kilometer (62 mile) team road race.

He was taken to the hospital in a coma after competing in the gruelling race under a pitiless sun. He died of a brain hemorrhage.

The fatality cast a shadow over the first day of full scale competition. The Danish cycling team withdrew from all competition.

United States athletes, peppered up for an all-out struggle with Soviet Russia for unofficial team honors, got away to a strong start. Chris Von Saltza broke the Olympic record for the women's 100 meter free style swimming to set the pace.

The husky, blonde 16-year-old California girl won her heat in 1:01.9, one tenth of a second under the Olympic mark set by Dawn Fraser of Australia in 1956 in Melbourne. The finals are Saturday.

Italy, however, won the first gold medal of the games, taking the 100-kilometer (62-mile) cycling road race with Germany second and Russia third. The time was 2:14:33.53. The United States finished a surprisingly good 11th in the 32-team field in 2:24:00.96.

This gave Italy 10 points, Germany 5, and Russia 4 in the unofficial standings.

As competition opened in 10 out of the 18 different sports, United States swimmers set a sizzling pace in preliminaries.

And Lt. George Lambert of Sioux City, Iowa, took second place in the first pentathlon event, the equestrian, leading the U.S. team to temporary fourth place.

Lance Larson of El Monte, Calif., made the fastest time in the men's 100-meter swimming freestyle in which both he and Bruce Hunter of Cambridge, Mass., qualified for the semifinals. Larsen did :55.7 and Hunter :56.6. John Devitt of Australia had the second fastest time, :56.0, and Jon Henricks, the Australian who is the defending champion, :56.9.

In the women's 200-meter breaststroke, Wiltrude Urselmann of Germany also smashed the Olympic record in her preliminary heat. She did 2:52. The old mark was 2:53.1 set by Ursula Happe of Germany in 1956. Both American entrants qualified for Saturday night's finals—Anne Warner, Menlo Park, Calif., 2:56.3, and Patty Kempner, Beverly Hills, Calif., 2:55.5.

Miss Von Saltza, the reigning queen of American swimmers, and chief hope of the United States in the 100 and 400-meter freestyle events, looked her powerful best in smashing the Olympic mark.

The Saratoga, Calif., girl won easily and did not appear too extended. She was joined in the semifinals of the freestyle by 14-year-old Carolyn Wood of Portland, Ore., who did 1:04.3.

Despite the intense rivalry between the United States and Russia to take premier team honors at this biggest and costliest of all Olympics, the two track teams worked out amiably Friday. Track events do not start until next Wednesday.

There was one embarrassing moment — at least for the Russians. Vasily Kuznetsov, the great Russian decathlon man, asked to have his picture taken with his rival, Rafer Johnson of Kingsburg, Calif., holder of the world record in the event and flag-bearer for the United States in Thursday's opening parade.

Johnson called for his friend, C. K. Yang of Nationalist China, competing in these games as Taiwan. Kuznetsov hesitated.

"O.K.," he finally said, "but I don't know him." His frown, however, appeared mock. The three then were photographed together. Russia does not recognize Nationalist China.

Schoendienst, who had a bout with tuberculosis last year, went to his home in St. Louis, Mo., last week for a routine checkup. A physician said the tests were negative. The redhead also was suffering from a groin injury and a sore arm.

Roy Foxworthy Wins 61st Grand American

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP) — Roy N. Foxworthy of Indianapolis broke 100 straight targets Friday and won trapshooting's greatest event, the 61st Grand American Handicap.

The 31-year-old auto dealer outshot 2,431 other marksmen with his perfect score from 20 yards. It was the first perfect score since 1950 when Oscar Scheske Jr. of Belleville, Ill., broke 100.

On Foxworthy's heels with scores of 99 were Raymond Hinton of Decatur, Ill., firing from 19 yards; Luigi P. Michelon of Rockford, Ill., John Brizendine Jr. of Leetsdale, Pa., and Herb Fyffe of West Jefferson, Ohio, all shooting from 21 yards, and J. C. Newby of Eureka, Kan., and Richard Williams of Davison, Mich., both firing from 22 yards.

Dr. William E. Kraft of Collinsville, Ill., broke all of his first 75 targets but he missed six of the final 25 to drop far back among the also-rans.

BILLS COLLECT PALUMBO

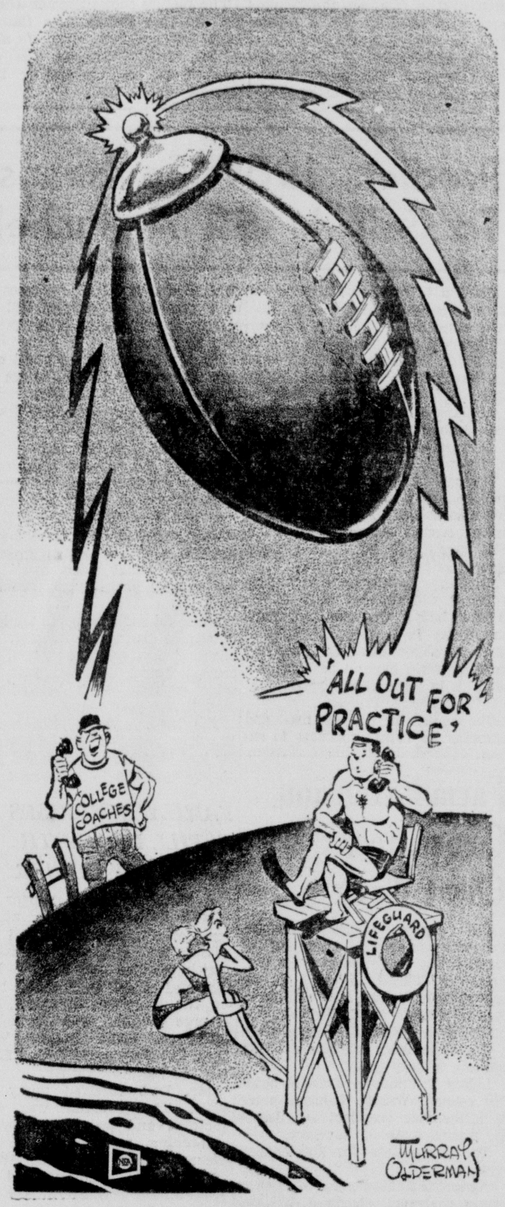

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The Buffalo Bills of the American Football League added veteran lineman Sam Palumbo to their roster Friday.

ARENZVILLE—Max Wessler, assistant Professor of Mechanical Engineering at Bradley University, Peoria, for the past four years, has been granted a leave of absence from the University to begin work on his Doctorate at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Mr. Wessler has accepted a position with Hughes Aircraft in Culver City, Calif., where he will be an engineer in the Launcher and Power Plant Department of Aero-Space Vehicles Division. Mr. and Mrs. Wessler and children, Kirk, Peter, and Tamara will reside at Culver City, Calif. and are now enroute to California.

Mr. Wessler is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wessler of Arenzville. He graduated from Arenzville high school in 1948, from Bradley University in 1952, and received his Master degree from the University of Southern California in Los Angeles.

The Dober reunion was held Sunday, Aug. 21 at the Will Heitz home in Cerro Gordo. A potluck dinner was enjoyed at the noon-hour, and the afternoon was spent socially. The oldest person present was Frank Dober of Arenzville, who is 86 years old.

Those attending from Arenzville were Frank Dober, Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Dober and granddaughter, Cindy Jenot; Mr. and Mrs. James Zillion, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Thomas, Tony, Paula and Alan; Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Ham, Rena, Gordon, Michael and Jimmy; and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Privia, Billy, Nancy, Debbie and Brian.

FUTURE UNDECIDED

ROME (AP) — Nicola Pietrangeli, ace of the Italian Davis Cup team who turned pro early this week, said Friday he had reconsidered and would not make up his mind about joining Jack Kramer's play-for-pay tennis troupe until after the first of next year.

Florida was purchased from Spain for five million dollars in 1819 by the United States.

Chinese Tarzan May Beat Johnson In Decathlon

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

ROME (AP) — They call him the "Chinese Tarzan" and "Asia's strong man."

He is remarkably big for one of his race—one inch under six feet and 178 pounds of well-tailored muscle. He is a picture of grace and coordination.

He is Chuan-kwang Yang of Formosa, 27, a student at UCLA in Los Angeles and Rafer Johnson's most feared rival in the rigorous decathlon of the Olympic Games.

"I make one mistake and Yang beats me," said Johnson, the Negro giant from Kingsbury, Calif., who holds the world record in the event. "He may beat me whether I make a mistake or not."

Johnson had to score a record 8,623 points to beat out Yang in the U.S. National Decathlon Championships this summer in Eugene, Ore. Yang scored 8,426 with only a 5-4 performance in the high jump, usually his best event.

"The next day Yang went out and high-jumped 6-4," said UCLA Coach Ducky Drake, now helping with the Nationalist Chinese team. "If he had done that at Eugene he would be the new world record-holder."

Drake has coached both Johnson and Yang.

"I wouldn't predict a winner," he said. "If one of them falls down on an event, the title goes to the other."

Yang's former coach and benefactor, Hen-wu Wei, who is here with him, says if the brilliant Chinese athlete loses the decathlon it will be because of the tremendous pressure.

"He is China's only gold medal hope and that is a big responsibility," says Wei. "Besides, he is upset that he must compete under the banner of Taiwan. We had to force him to go ahead."

The U.S. Air Force academy's basketball coach, Bob Spear, was promoted this summer from major to lieutenant colonel.

Opening Day Highlights

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Writer

ROME (AP)—With 16-year-old Chris Von Saltza leading the way by smashing the Olympic women's 100-meter freestyle swimming record, the power-packed United States team got off winging in the 1960 Olympic Games Friday.

Blonde, husky Chris, a pretty Californian, won her heat in 1:01.9, shaving a tenth of a second off the mark set by Dawn Fraser in the 1956 games in Melbourne. The semifinals are Saturday and the finals Monday.

In other major developments the first day:

Not a single U.S. competitor was shut out of the five swimming events on the program.

Bill Mulliken of Champaign, Ill., featured the U.S. men's march by splashing the 200-meter breaststroke in 2:38, fastest ever by an American.

The Italians won the only two gold medals of the day, whipping into the lead for the unofficial team championship. Both were in cycling.

The U.S. basketball team won its first-round game, defeating Italy 88-54 but still look disorganized. Big Oscar Robertson and Adrian Smith of Mayfield, Kan., each had 16 points. Russia—priming for the big battle with the United States—defeated Mexico 66-49.

Defending champion Hungary (but not the favorite this time), defeated the United States 7-2 in an opening round water polo game.

One Pledge—One Time, Means So Much More When You Give The UNITED WAY

Your One Gift Supports These 12 United Fund Agencies For One Year

DR. ROBERT R. HARTMAN
President, Morgan County United Fund

Call it hot or cold, the United States is at war! Today 2½ million men and women are serving in our Armed Forces — in training at home, or on combat-patrol on land, sea and air throughout the world.

Wherever they go, whenever they go, U.S.O. goes with them.

With the splendid cooperation of over 42,000 volunteers—U.S.O. last year was able to welcome over 36 million visits by service personnel at its 212 clubs in the United States and 25 overseas. It answered over 5,000,000 injuries; made housing placements for more than 15,000 military families; gave counseling service to 113,000; distributed 684,000 religious pamphlets; served 7,400,000 in snack bars; sent U.S.O. "live shows" to entertain the troops on G.I. overseas circuit playing to audiences with the fleet and troops at home and overseas.

Two New Agencies

Your Morgan County United Fund Board, continuing in its effort to make one gift serve all, is happy to include two new agencies in the Fund this year. They are the Visiting Nurses Association and Morgan County Mental Health Association.

The total askings of the 12 agencies in the Fund ran to $90,606 which was considerable more than the $73,763 raised last year. Our Budget Committee felt that a realistic goal was $85,000 and, therefore, cut the askings to this figure. This is going to be a hardship on several agencies. If there ever was a year when we need to exceed our goal, this is the year. We would most certainly like to give these agencies enough to insure their program for the community.

We are counting on each of you to give to the best of your ability when you are solicited. Residents of Morgan County have every right to be proud of our youth and welfare program. Remember you give to support 12 agencies for the year 1961 when you make your United Fund Gift.

National Fund For Medical Research

The Medical Research Program is a vital program, as broad as the basic sciences. It is not dedicated to the elimination of a specific disease, but to the elimination of disease through a complete understanding of the causes of disease and death. This is the whole man, the whole community, the whole country — an approach toward a sound health program.

The past year was the first year of operation of the Medical Research Fund. Morgan County United Fund was one of 250 Funds that contributed to the program. As a result of the first year, unrestricted research grants of $7,500.00 were made to each of the nation's eighty-five medical schools. This year, through increased support, it is hoped to grant research funds sizable enough to make substantial progress towards disease control.

Does Medical Research pay-off?

During the years 1937 through 1957 our death rate declined 15%. This represents a saving of 3,840,890 lives. It was estimated that about $7.6 billion dollars additional income was earned in 1957 alone, through the decline in death rate since 1937.

Travelers' Aid

A program of "new directions" is under way in Travelers Aid Societies across the country according to Mrs. Savilla Millis Simons, general director of the National Travelers Aid Association.

"In view of the fact that 90% of all travel in the United States is now by private car, we are working closely with highway police, service stations, oil companies, motels and many facilities connected with highway travel," Mrs. Simons reported.

"Of each thousand cars on the road, five will encounter serious personal problems needing the kinds of service offered by Travelers Aid before they reach their destination, according to our studies."

"The availability of the private car as a means of transportation enables unstable people to move from one place to another as a way of coping with their own psychological problems and inner tensions. Consequently, there are many families, including parents and young children, on the road without resources and without realistic or constructive plans. These people need skilled counseling and casework services."

"In railroad, bus, steamship and air terminals Travelers Aid continues to give greatly needed services, but these points of operation are not easily accessible to travelers on the highways. The big job of Travelers Aid these days is to make its services available to moving Americans regardless of their means of transportation."

Girl Scouts

"On my honor, I will try to do my duty to God and my country, to help other people at all times and to obey the Girl Scout laws." This promise which each girl repeats when she becomes a member of the Girl Scout organization explains the basic tenets of Girl Scouting.

Even from the beginning of being a Brownie and during the years of Girl Scouting up through Senior Scouting, service is the slogan of the entire organization.

Over 80 per cent of the troops in Illinois Prairie Girl Scout Council performed service projects and rendered community service in 1959, making tray favors for the sick and shut-in, visiting hospitals and nursing homes, helping with community projects such as the Blood Bank, giving service at hospitals, participating in civic events, taking part in dedicatory ceremonies and doing many other things in schools and in the community.

Franklin, Waverly, Meredosia and Jacksonville have a total of 43 troops of Brownies, Girl Scouts and Senior Scouts. Over 600 girls are members of these troops. A well-rounded program of recreation, crafts, character education, citizenship and camping is offered to the girls of Morgan County by the Girl Scout's program.

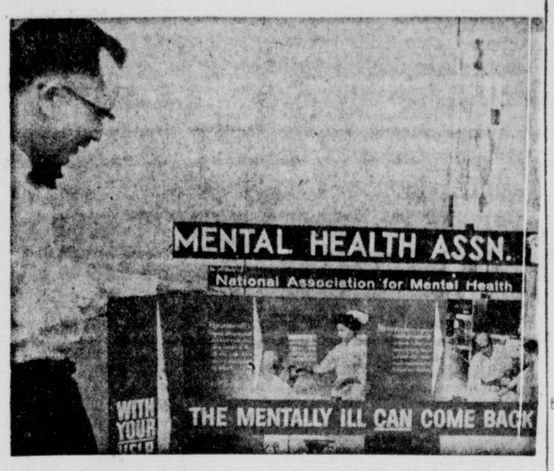

Salvation Army

The Salvation Army with its heart to God and hand to Man is available 24 hours a day in times of emergency. Its personnel are trained to comfort the bereaved, bring solace to the down cast and dry the tears of the forlorn and forgotten who walk alone.

Services are held each Sunday and mid-weekly at the Chapel for both adults and young people. Every corner of Morgan County is visited by the Salvation Army officer as he ministers to the needs of the people. Trained counsel is given to broken families and delinquent or underprivileged children. Transients find food and gasoline to help them on their way. Shoes and clothing are furnished the needy and Christmas baskets hearten many a home at the holiday season.

Morgan County Mental Health Association

A group of ministers, physicians, psychologists, psychiatrists and sociologists and others interested in the field of Mental Health have organized The Morgan County Association for Mental Health. The request for funds from the United Fund is for their first year of operation.

Fifty per cent of the money received goes to the State and National Associations for their work, a good share of which is for research in the Mental Health Field.

Locally the organization will "work toward the improved treatment of the mentally ill and handicapped—and for the promotion of mental health" through:

1. Cooperation with the state and other groups and agencies available which are working in this direction.
2. Education and information made available to the public of Morgan County, informing them more of the nature of mental illness, the methods and availability of treatments, methods of dealing with those who are or have been mentally ill, and the hopes of recovery.
3. Information regarding possible legislation for the improvements in methods of dealing with the mentally ill.
4. Give help and assistance to any who are working with the mentally ill, either in a professional or volunteer capacity.

The residents of Morgan County, because of the location of the State Hospital in Jacksonville are well aware of the top priority demanded by mental illness in the health field. The initiative shown by the group of citizens who have organized this Association is to be commended. They are a worthy addition to our United Fund.

C. Y. O. and Catholic Charities

The C. Y. O. or Catholic Youth Organization is strictly concerned with the social and recreational activities for high school, college and business youth. Guests of any religious affiliation are welcome to use the recreation rooms which are on the first floor of Routt High School. A number of special trips and events are also scheduled for the young people. Over 500 youths take part in these activities.

The Catholic Charities of the Diocese of Springfield sends a social worker to Jacksonville each Monday. Her headquarters are at Our Saviour's Hospital. She is also available for any emergency during the rest of the week. Services offered by the Catholic Charities are: Foster Home Placements, Catholic Children's Home at Alton, Institutional Placements, Adoptive Home Placements, Unmarried Mothers, Family Counseling, and Marriage Counseling.

This program has been conducted for the past 9 years. This past year 40 cases were handled: 3 Family Cases, 25 Children's Cases, 6 Adoptive Cases, 2 Foster Homes, 4 Unmarried Mothers. The Courts, Clergy, Doctors and other agencies work in close cooperation with this program.

Y. M. C. A.

The purpose of the Jacksonville Y.M.C.A. is: the spiritual, intellectual, social and physical education and growth of its members consistent with Jesus Christ; community service that tends to better social, economic, moral and spiritual conditions for society.

The program includes: Summer Swim Program, Competitive Swim Team, Adult Recreation, Hobby Shop, Camping, Basketball League, Colt and Pony Baseball League, Tennis, Gymnastics Instruction, Tri-Hi-Y Club, Hi-Y Club, "Y" Council and Social and Recreational Activities for Senior and Junior High.

Jacksonville Junior Police

The Jacksonville Jr. Police is an organization for boys 8-14 years of age. Its purpose is to teach these boys to respect the laws and rights of others, to practice safety and to bring about a friendly relationship between our youth and police officers. Over 700 boys take part in this program. A special officer is assigned to plan and promote activities which include: team sports, Saturday morning movies, community service projects, outings and hikes. The boys also work on money raising activities with hopes of building a cabin at Lake Jacksonville.

"Good Things Happen"

The Red Cross enables everyone to help make good things happen when you give, each person helps to:

- Restore the battered lives of disaster victims.
- Safety-proof our citizens through training in first-aid, water safety, and home nursing.
- Provide blood through our local hospitals for sick and injured.
- Alleviate the personal and family problems of servicemen, veterans, and their dependents, known as home service.
- Prepare young people through Junior Red Cross to become the responsible family, community, and National leaders of tomorrow.

Visiting Nurses Association

The Visiting Nurses Association of Morgan County was organized as a non-profit corporation three years ago. A board of 21 county residents administer the program. The work of the Visiting Nurses is conducted in conjunction with the Morgan County Health Department.

The staff of 7 nurses perform the services for both organizations. The work of the Health Dept., which is supported by county taxes, is in the field of preventive medicine. They conduct health education programs of various types, service the public schools, give physical checkups, and immunizations, etc. Each nurse is assigned a specific area. She also is responsible for making the Visiting Nurse calls in her area.

These are home calls, servicing many types of convalescent patients not necessarily hospitalized. Cases included are: changing dressings for amputees, fractures or other types of injuries; caring for cancer, stroke, arthritic, coronary, diabetic and other types of patients. They are able to perform many services that eliminate the necessity of a doctor's call.

Calls are referred by a friend or relative, welfare agency or by a physician. Each case is investigated and no service is performed before a physician is consulted.

A charge of $3.00 per call is made. Many patients are able to pay this charge, though it actually covers only 50% of the cost. The Visiting Nurses Association is responsible for a pro-rata share of the staff time, traveling expenses, secretarial help, etc., and must reimburse the County Health Office for this.

The Cancer Society, Illinois Public and Morgan County General Assistance reimburse the Visiting Nurses Association for calls on their clients. The funds received by Morgan County United Fund will underwrite this program and take care of those unable to pay.

The Federal government allocated funds for the first year to initiate the program. The second year, grants from the Heart Association, Cancer Society and several local groups took care of the budget.

None of these funds are now available and in the meantime an indispensible community service program has developed. (These past few months donations have been solicited to try to clean up an operating deficit before entering the United Fund.)

The Visiting Nurses' is a growing case load, as the community realizes the services to be rendered. Last year 880 visits were made and the figure will be far exceeded this year. This is a much needed community service and a welcome new member to the United Fund.

Boy Scouts

The Boy Scout program is one of character building, citizenship training, and physical fitness. Boys learn many skills that are useful to them in everyday life. Cubs (boys 8 to 10) is a family centered activity. Boy Scouts (11 years and up) emphasize camping skills and community service. Explorers (high school age) prepare the boys for citizenship and social adjustment.

Many boys outside of Jacksonville, in other communities in Morgan County, are organized into troops. These communities are Waverly, Woodson, Murrayville, Meredosia, Arcadia and Franklin. Adults active in the program number over 300 and boys over 700.

Our One Annual Appeal

- saves campaign costs
- saves time for everyone
- reduces annoyance of separate, competing campaigns
- makes sure your gift goes to legitimate and approved services
- provides an easy pledge plan for giving enough for all agencies for a full year.

TO REACH $85,000 WE NEED

50 Gifts of $300 to $1,500.

26 firms and individuals gave in this bracket last year. The "A List" Committee wants to increase this group to 50 this year.

450 Gifts of $50 to $300.

240 firms and individuals gave in this bracket last year. The Advanced Gift Division is working to increase this group to 450 this year.

5,000 Gifts of $12.00 or more.

Last year 5,000 donors gave $5.00 or less. The County, Employee, Business and Residential Divisions are asking these people to, if at all possible, Increase their gifts to at least $1.00 per agency in the United Fund, or $12.00 or more. Passing the hat for "Out of pocket" donations will not do the job.

Make a pledge to be paid monthly, quarterly or as you desire. The United Fund Office will send you a reminder according to your plan of payment. Some firms have pay roll deduction for United Fund.

Your pledge will allow you to give your share and all together we can give enough for all agencies for a full year.

Jiminy Cricket says, "The American way is for everyone to give according to his ability — voluntarily."
Have You?

The window sticker for those who give $12 or more ($1 per agency) will have this "12 Plus Club" printed on it.

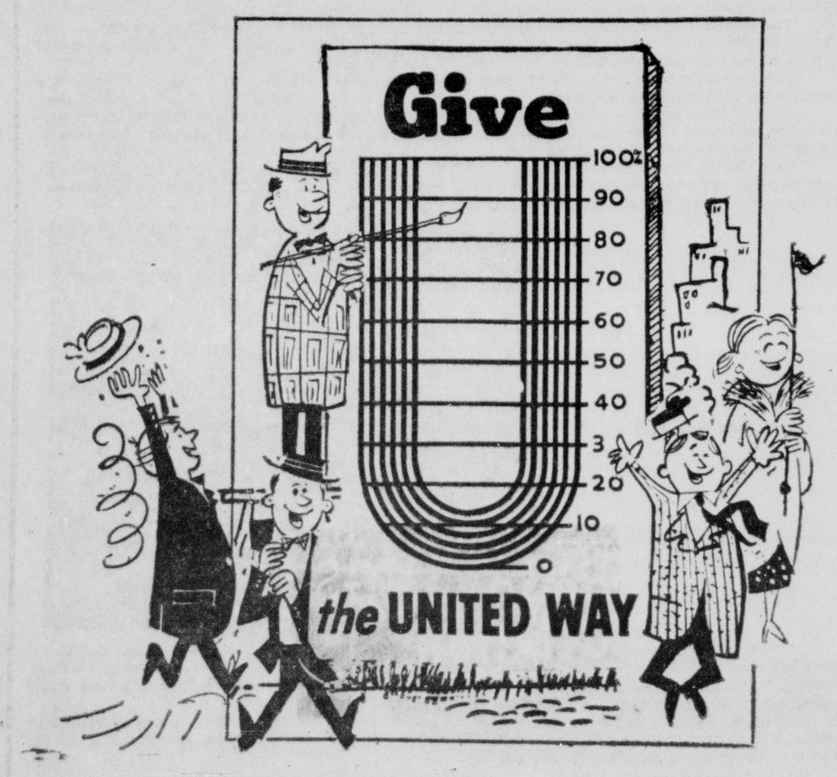

Be sure to put your sticker in your window so that the Business and Residential workers will not ask for your gift a second time.

Last year 9 Employee Groups worked on a Saturday morning for United Fund. If your Employee Group has a similar plan, please contact Harry Crabtree at the Gibson Construction Company. He is organizing this phase of the Campaign.

J. Edgar Hoover says:

"I feel strongly about giving the United way because it symbolizes one of the highest expressions of democratic citizenship. It is one of the rare responsibilities of free men to help your fellow man. That is the American way. A free people voluntarily joining hands at the community level to meet the health, welfare and recreational needs of their fellow man is democracy in action."

Religion Holds Key To Salvaging Lives

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

Religious training is often prescribed today as an antidote to juvenile delinquency. But in a strictly rulebook sense, authorities say, it may not be.

They say the effect depends on the approach.

"The do's and don't's of religion are not a primarily stabilizing force for the troubled child," said Brother Augustine Benedict, who has worked with about 2,000 wayward youngsters over the past 10 years.

"It's unfortunate if religion is sometimes presented in this negative way."

Applied in its real context, however, he said, it holds the key to salvaging warped young lives. Brother Augustine had dedicated his own life to this proposition, and most of his young charges have gone on to prove the point.

"Must Convey Love"

"Basically, to help the child, we must represent to him as much as we can the love that God has for each individual person," he says. "We ourselves must convey that love to him. We must restore his own sense of worth in God's sight."

That, he said, is the essential core of religion, not the corollary edicts about "Don't be stealing" and "Don't be lying."

"These negative statements are understood only in the light of the love God has for a person, who in turn wants to show his own love by his conduct."

Brother Augustine is director of Lincoln Hall an expertly run Roman Catholic training school for juvenile offenders on New York's outskirts. Like similar institutions edging the city, it's fed a steady stream of young toughs from children's court.

A Hard Task

Reforming such boys—these defiant, distrustful, drifting young aliens to any firm anchorage—is a crucial problem of the day, with delinquency at an all-time high.

The Rev. Robert W. Spike, a Congregational Christian official who spent six years as chaplain of New York City's Youth House, a boys' detention home, said he found that Sunday school was no insurance against delinquency.

"I never found a boy who couldn't conjure up the name of some Sunday school he attended," the Rev. Spike said.

Why the failure? Brother Augustine, 47, an amiable, reflective man with lanky frame and crew-cut hair, says the fault is inadequate or superficially presented religion.

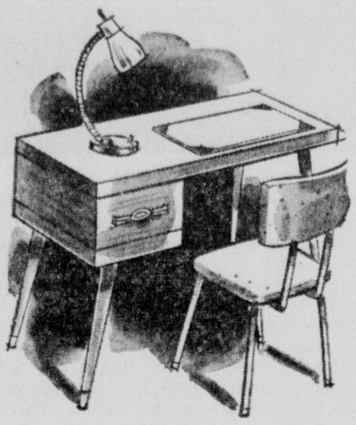

Breakdown With Parents

A member of the teaching order of Christian Brothers, he said that most of the many juvenile cases he has dealt with result basically from a "breakdown in relations with parents," which inevitably causes a "gap in religious upbringing."

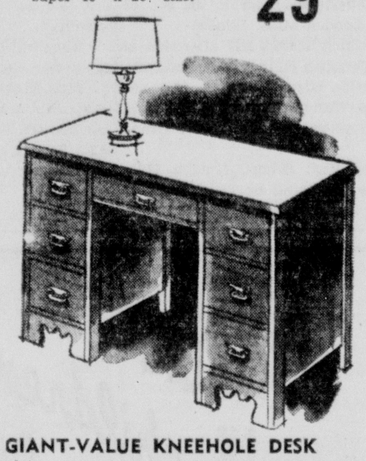

"It's important to remember," he said, "that any notion we get of God, we get from others."

Thus, if ties of affection and trust between parent and child are disrupted, so too, is the child's concept of God's love. The child's rehabilitation, Brother Augustine said, depends on restoring what he lacked — a trusting relation with persons—and through that, his assurance he is esteemed, that he has inherent worth.

Charles Moore Family Ready For Art Fair Today

Members of the family of Charles Moore, well known local artist, inspect his work as Mr. Moore gets ready for the annual Outdoor Art Fair to be held today at the Strawn Art Gallery from 3 to 5 p.m.

In addition to Mrs. Moore the couple's children shown are, Harry, age 12; Anna Mae, 10; Nancy, 6 and Janis, age 9, pictured above on the lawn at the Art Home.

The popular event draws many people each year. Pictures are displayed outside and many are offered to prospective buyers. Indoors will be floral arrangements supervised by Mrs. Harry Merriman. The Jacksonville Area Artists League sponsors the Outdoor Art Fair. There is no admission and the general public is cordially invited.

RNA Family Picnic Held At White Hall

WHITE HALL — Twenty-five members of Royal Neighbors of America Camp No. 987, their families and guests attended a picnic supper in the Lions Park on Tuesday night. Lena Hudson, recorder, gave the prayer of grace and bingo was played following the supper. Hazel Deavers won the attendance prize.

Mrs. Harry Lipe of Garden Grove, Calif., has been visiting friends and relatives here and in Roodhouse for several days. She is the former Nelle Davis, daughter of W. W. Davis of this city. She leaves Friday for a visit with her cousin, Mrs. Lerene Woodard, in Springfield and from there will visit in St. Louis where she lived many years before returning to her home in California. Her daughter, Patty, is an officer on the Los Angeles, California Police Department.

Mr. and Mrs. Muryle Greenberg and twins, Bob and Jane, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Otto Lyman and family. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Schuman and son, Steven, of Alton were weekend guests at the Lyman home.

The fourth annual reunion of the descendants of Carrie, Benjamin, Alexander and William Strang will be held in the Shelter House of the Lions Park at 6 o'clock on Sunday, Sept. 4, with a basket supper.

Miss Martin Guest Of Honor On Birthday

MURRAYVILLE — Mrs. Bessie Maberry entertained a group of relatives at dinner Sunday in honor of the 81st birthday of her aunt, Miss Mattie Martin.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Barnett and Mr. and Mrs. Chester Kirkpatrick of Winchester, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Renner and Mr. and Mrs. Fred King of Alton, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Newberry and Della of Godfrey, and Mr. and Mrs. Eloy Howerton of St. Louis, Mo.

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Lonergan were supper guests Saturday evening of their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Bailis in Pittsfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hamitt visited recently for several days with his sister, Mrs. Maude Wade in Bloomington and her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. George Green at Effingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Reining were overnight guests Saturday of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Reining of Rushville and were dinner guests on Sunday of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wankel in Beardstown.

Rev. Roy Hedrick of Jacksonville was the guest speaker at the Baptist church Sunday morning and evening.

Paula and Pamela Cole of Norfolk, Va., have been visiting at the home of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hammitt.

Mrs. Jimmie Million, Randy and Cindy of Collinsville and her mother, Mrs. Mildred Beasley of Jacksonville spent Tuesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Million.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford L. Alred, Joe and Emory of Paxton, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Edwards, Patty and Larry of Belleville were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford C. Alred.

Mr. and Mrs. George Burge and Mr. and Mrs. John Kerr of Hooker, Okla., were callers Sunday on Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hammitt spent several days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Lane at Rankin.

Rev. and Mrs. Vale Walkington and sons have returned home from a vacation visit with Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Handling in Couch, Mo., and they also visited relatives in East St. Louis.

EXPLAIN THAT ONE

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Police weren't too surprised to find a .22 caliber gun and a knife on a 16-year-old boy they arrested. But officers were unable to explain how the youth obtained seven police car keys.

Make Wedding Plans

Beverly Ann Jones

Mr. and Mrs. Earl L. Jones, 666 South West street, announce the engagement and October wedding plans of their daughter, Beverly Ann, and Warren Marnell Daley. Mr. Daley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Kenneth Daley of London Mills, Illinois.

They plan to be married at two-thirty o'clock the afternoon of Sunday, October second, at Central Christian church in Jacksonville.

Beverly graduated from Jacksonville High School in 1955 and received her B.S. degree from Illinois Western University, Macomb, in June of 1959. She is presently employed by the W. T. Grant company at Galesburg.

Mr. Daley graduated from Valley High School, London Mills, and attended Illinois Western. He is employed by Dale Products, Division of Outboard Marine Corp., Galesburg.

Georgia Lee Roosa

WINCHESTER — Mr. and Mrs. George Roosa announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Georgia Lee, to Albert Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson of Jacksonville.

They will be married at six-thirty o'clock the evening of Sunday, September eleventh, at the Christian church.

Miss Roosa graduated from Winchester High School in 1959 and is a receptionist in the office of Anderson, Clayton company, Jacksonville. Mr. Wilson was a member of the class of 1956, Jacksonville High School, and is engaged in farming in the Lynnville community where the couple will reside after a short wedding trip.

Jerseyville Schools Await 'Go' Signal

JERSEYVILLE—With vacation days drawing to a close this week for area students, preparations have been completed for the opening of all schools of Community Unit No. 100, Jersey and Greene counties, on Monday morning, Aug. 29. Two parochial schools, the Holy Ghost in Jerseyville and St. Mary's, Westwoods, will open Monday, but the third parochial school, St. Francis Xavier in Jerseyville will not open until the following week on Tuesday, Sept. 6.

Secure New Teachers

The teaching staff for the unit was completed Wednesday evening with the employment of Mrs. Mary B. Wallace, 1007 Giddings avenue, Jerseyville, who will teach the fourth grade at Kane. She will succeed Marin F. Carmody who has been transferred to the fifth grade at East Elementary in Jerseyville. Mrs. Wallace has attended Eastern State College at Charleston and recently has been enrolled on the Alton campus of Southern Illinois University.

Everett L. Bruer of Cuba, Mo., was employed at a recent meeting of the board. He has been assigned as principal at Otterville to succeed Raymond Smith who was transferred to the principalship at the Fieldon Attendance Center.

Mr. Bruer is a graduate of Southwest Missouri State Teachers' College and holds a Bachelor of Science degree. He has had 24 years teaching experience, all in the same county in Missouri. He taught for eight years in Owensville and was school principal for five years of that time. He will locate in Jerseyville, but Mrs. Bruer is under teaching contract for the 1960-61 term at Owensville.

Upon the opening of school, pupils are to be enrolled in their rooms or classes with the day starting at 8:30 a.m. The students will be dismissed at 11 a.m. that day. A full day of school is planned for Aug. 30 and the lunch program will begin that day.

Principals Attend Lunch

A meeting was held Aug. 26, of all unit principals at the unit office on North State street beginning at 9:30 a.m. A luncheon was served at noon at the high school cafeteria which was attended by all new teachers and members of the board of education. This afternoon, the new teachers held a meeting with their building principal.

On the opening day of school, meetings of the faculty will be held at each of the unit schools.

An announcement was made here Thursday of the improvements that have been made during vacation months. Floors have been tiled in the all purpose rooms at Delhi, Dow, Fieldon, Kane and Otterville and the kitchen and cafeteria at the high school, and the hallways at Dow, East Elementary and Elsah.

The teaching staff has been increased to include two additional persons in guidance services. For the first time, the guidance will be extended to include junior high classes of the entire district.

FRY FAMILY SPENDS VACATION IN PATTERSON

PATTERSON—Mr. and Mrs. Bob Fry and children of Lockport came Sunday and are spending a few days of their vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burleigh Fry, and other relatives in this vicinity and will also visit with her parents in Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hubbard are expected to arrive home the latter part of the week from Excelsior Springs, Mo., where he has been a patient at the McCleary Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Fry and children of Rock Falls and his mother, Mrs. Corrine Fry, of Chicago have been visiting with the former Mrs. Fry's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Newton, and other relatives. Mrs. Corrine Fry also visited with Mr. and Mrs. Burleigh Fry.

Miss Rosa Arnold is spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. Ewell Arnold and other relatives in or near Jacksonville. Miss Arnold stays in the home of C. H. Dawdy and daughter, Lucille.

ASSISTANT PASTOR TRANSFERRED FROM JERSEYVILLE PARISH

JERSEYVILLE—Rev. Terry R. Shea who has been assistant pastor of St. Francis Xavier's church in Jerseyville for the past three years, has been named pastor of St. Barbara church in Witt, Ill. The appointment was made Thursday by Bishop William A. O'Connor of Springfield.

The assignment is effective Aug. 31 and Father Shea's successor in Jerseyville has not been announced.

During his residence in Jerseyville Father Shea has been active in civic and community affairs in addition to his church work. He holds membership in the Jerseyville Lions Club and was 1960 chairman of the Jersey County Red Cross Drive. He is deeply interested in sports and has been a consistent booster of the teams of the Jerseyville schools in their athletic programs.

Franklin Scouts And Dads Enjoy Outing At Lake

The Webelos Den of Cub Pack 158 of Franklin enjoyed an overnight stay at the Boy Scout Cabin on Lake Jacksonville Thursday, Aug. 25. This was a Father and Son affair.

After fishing and other outside activities during the evening, the Cubs and their fathers enjoyed a steak supper prepared by pack secretary James Rawlings over an open fire. Before retiring for the evening, the group enjoyed viewing interesting slide films presented by Wedelos leader Bill Rees. These slides included points of interest of many states and Canada where Webelos leader Rees and Cubmaster Byron Smith have visited. Many slides were of aircraft and airports as Messrs. Rees and Smith flew their own planes on most of these trips.

Even though the cubs retired late, they were up early to the smell of Bacon and Eggs. After eating, they participated in a fishing derby and the group returned home about midmorning.

Those attending the outing were cubs Willie Rees, Ernie Haynes, Jimmy Rawlings, Randy Scott, Eddie Scott, George Jones and Den Chief Bobby Darley; Fathers Bill Rees, Howard Scott, James Rawlings, Byron Smith, Robert Darley and Ray Jones; and guests Leland Smith, Richard Rees and Jimmy Jones.

All of these cubs have completed their Webelos requirements and are scheduled to graduate at the September pack meeting. They will then be Eligible to join a Boy Scout Troop.

The outing was planned and supervised by Webelos Leader Bill Rees and assistant Webelos leader Howard Scott.

DEFENSE WEAPON

ST. LOUIS (AP)— Two men, one armed with a pistol, grabbed Nicholas Milla as he was getting into his car in a parking lot. They demanded his money, but Milla got out something that caused the pair to sprint away.

He's a deputy constable and when he displayed his badge it apparently was too much for the would-be holdup men.

$200 Scholarship For Calhoun Apple Queen

HARDIN, Ill.—The 1960 Calhoun County Apple Queen will receive a $200 scholarship to the Patricia Stevens Finishing School in St. Louis, it has been announced by Mrs. Jerry Corbett, chairman of the queen committee of the CAAC, which annually sponsors the Calhoun County Apple Festival and Junior Fair. The scholarship is a courtesy award of the modeling school, Mrs. Corbett said. In addition, each of the ten candidates in the contest will receive $25 from the CAAC.

Judging in the queen contest will be in three parts, as in former years. The candidates will attend a tea on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 4, where they will be judged on personality. Their second appearance will be Sunday night on the stage at the fair grounds, in bathing suits, and the third will follow immediately with the candidates in formal dress.

The coronation will take place on Monday night at 9 p.m., on the fairgrounds stage. Among the special guests expected to be present on this occasion are Miss Donna Sarginson of Medora, who is Miss Illinois County Fair, and all past Calhoun Apple Queens, who will be introduced. Ted Mangner, St. Louis radio personality, and Charles Sullivan, Carrollton merchant, have been selected as judges. A third judge will be named this week.

The first five girls to enter the race are Miss Janet Heimer and Miss Barbara Spears of Kampsville, Miss Vonetta Sievers and Miss Rose Ann Pohlman of Batchtown, and Miss Naomi Young of Hardin. A total of ten young women will be in the contest.

Miss Heimer, 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Heimer, and is a senior at Community Unit 40 high school in Hardin. She is sponsored by the American Legion Post 1083 at Kampsville.

Miss Spears, 17, a senior student at the same school, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Spears. She is sponsored by the Kampsville Booster Club.

Miss Sievers, 18, is a 1960 graduate of Unit 40 high school, and is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sievers. She is sponsored by the Batchtown Chamber of Commerce.

Miss Pohlman, 21, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Pohlman, and is employed in St. Louis. She is also sponsored by the Batchtown Chamber of Commerce.

Miss Young, 18, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orion Young, and is a 1959 graduate of Unit 40 high school. She is employed as a telephone operator, and is sponsored by the Hardin Chamber of Commerce.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

TRAGEDY MARKS SLAM BIDDING

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Since slam bidding has never been and probably never will be an exact science, I will wind up with a real tragedy.

	NORTH 27 ♠ K ♥ K Q 10 5 4 ♦ Q J 7 5 3 ♣ 4 3
WEST ♠ A 4 3 ♥ 9 8 3 2 ♦ 10 8 4 2 ♣ J 8		EAST ♠ Q 9 8 6 2 ♥ 7 6 ♦ 9 6 ♣ Q 10 7 2
	SOUTH (D) ♠ J 10 7 5 ♥ A J ♦ A K ♣ A K 9 6 5

Both vulnerable

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♥	Pass
2 N.T.	Pass	3 ♦	Pass
3 ♥	Pass	4 ♥	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	5 N.T.	Pass
6 N.T.	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead—♠ A

Very few players would get to a slam with these particular North, South cards, so North and South deserve congratulations for reaching a slam, but unfortunately they got there in no-trump.

South's two no-trump was a slight underbid. He had 20 full points. So after North bid two suits and went to four hearts South felt that he should make one more bid. He should have bid five diamonds, whereupon North would almost surely have bid six in one of his own red suits but South chose the rather fancy bid of four spades.

After the four spade bid, North was ready for a slam and bid five no-trump to give South a chance to place the final contract. All South had to do was to bid the slam in either red suit, but carried away by his own brilliance, South went to six no-trump.

Of course, South would have romped home with 12 tricks if West had not been one of those suspicious souls. East dropped the nine spot and West continued the suit to set the hand.

♥ CARD Sense ♦

Q—The bidding has been:

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♦	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
3 ♦	Pass	3 ♠	Pass

You, South, hold:
♠ A 2 ♥ A Q J 10 5 ♦ K 9 8 7 6 4 ♣ 0
What do you do?

A—Bid four spades. That acedeuce of spades must be sufficient trump support by now.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You hold the same hand. Your partner responds one no-trump to your one heart opening. What do you do?

HIT MILLION MARK

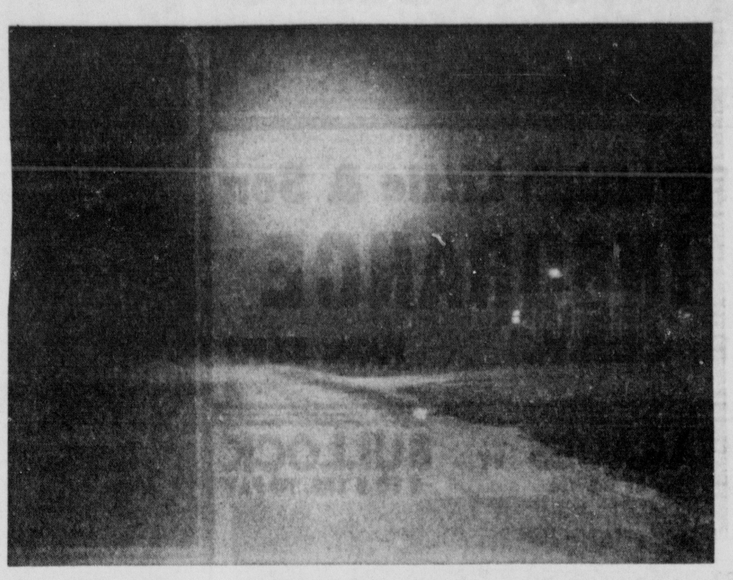

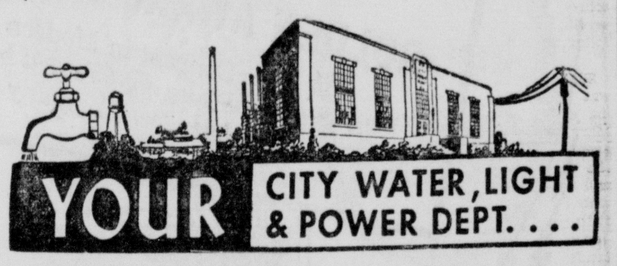

LINCOLN, Ill. (AP)— While the men in the nation's capital ponder debts in billions, the city aldermen here reached the million-dollar class.

For the first time in history, the city's appropriation budget topped the million dollar mark. The fund of $1,005,016 will help raise salaries for 65 municipal employees by 3 per cent.

Scout Troop 107 Takes 3,000 Mile Tour In West

Twenty-five scouts and six scout leaders left Jacksonville Aug. 10 on a 3,000 mile tour of Colorado and other western states. Camping everywhere along the way the group saw numerous unusual sights and enjoyed conducted tours of several national institutions.

The party was taken on a tour of the United States Air Force Academy, the Mesa Verde, Colo., cliff dwellings where Indians lived between 1100 and 1200 A.D., and a narrow gauge railroad.

The group rode the unusual rail line from Durango to Silverton, Colo., visiting deserted mines and villages along the way. A highlight of the trip was swimming in a hot water mineralspring pool.

After a lengthy 11-day trip the group returned to Jacksonville on Sunday, Aug. 21.

One — The scout troop as it enters one of the many buildings at the United States Air Force Academy in Colorado.

Two— Scout leaders Joe Grojean, John Linebaugh, Leland Rhoads, Martin Newman, Bill Hawks and Jerry Vasconcellos, who made the trip with the Scouts as drivers and supervisors.

Three — A view of the narrow gauge railroad the troop rode from Durango to Silverton, Colo.

Brothers Who Gave Money To Italian Villagers Find Everyone Wants Some

By LEONARD MILLIMAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

The Saturno brothers "much prefer the quiet life."

But they are discovering you can't give away 1½ million dollars like a sackful of gumdrops and then fade away into obscurity.

No longer millionaires, the brothers from Reno, Nev., are discovering nearly everyone likes money. And an astonishing number would like to get it from the Saturnos.

It started a year ago when Joseph, now 72, and Victor, 64, gave $350,000 worth of Bank of America stock to the 284 residents of the impoverished Italian village of San Marco D'Urri, from which their parents emigrated to the United States.

Immediately people began "pestering us to buy factories." But that was only the beginning.

Last month they announced gifts of more than a million dollars, primarily to help Italian war orphans. That did it!

Letters poured in. They have no idea how many. But before they left for Europe they were receiving about 25 letters a day at the home of a sister in Oakland, Calif.—"and nobody knows we are here." Even more went to their Reno address.

They are going to San Marco D'Urri for the Aug. 31 dedication of a monument to their parents.

About half the letters are from the United States. "They say," Victor observed in San Francisco before leaving for Europe, "we see where you are giving your money away. How about passing some over to us."

The Saturnos became millionaires in obscurity and apparently without effort.

They inherited a sizable nest egg from their father, Leopoldo, who accumulated the basis of the family fortune starting as an immigrant farm laborer.

"Dad was a specultaor, shrewd and sharp," Victor recalled.

Their father retired 10 years before his death in 1919, but even then couldn't pass up a good real estate deal. He made much of his money buying farms in California and Nevada, living on them awhile, and selling them for a profit. He made much more buying Bank of Italy stock when the bank was founded and holding the shares until the bank grew into the Bank of America, world's largest banking institution.

The boys carried on after his death, largely through expanded stock purchases.

But it was the life on the farms that gave them the love of the solitude and outdoors.

"We grew up on the Truckee River," Joseph said, "and began fishing and hunting when we were 10. We've fished and hunted all the lakes and mountains of the Truckee area."

Schools and the workaday world of most people never appealed to either brother. Only Joseph ever had a job.

He worked for the Nixon National Bank of Reno in 1906.

"But he thought he was penned in too much," said his sister, Mrs. M. J. Cadenasso, and he quit after three years.

Victor grows poetic in talking of some of their favorite haunts.

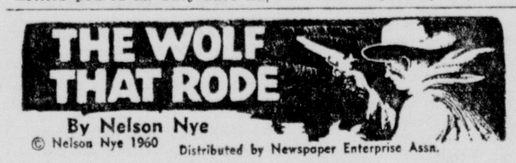

However, the brothers are reversing what Victor says is their philosophy.

"For a period of time we enjoyed greatly the wild commotion of our big cities; yet deep down within, there is a call for that shaded mountain trail where one may pause, listen to the song of a bird and then meander on with one's thoughts unto more of nature's silence."

For 50 years they've been on shaded mountain trails.

Now with their sister and brother-in-law, they are driving around Europe "seeing things tourists usually see."

Of their giving away most of their worldly goods to charities, the Saturnos say they weren't church goers, "but we believe in the Golden Rule."

THE STORY: Brett Fasken, realizing Trone is the victim of a rustling frame-up, decides that the only way to counteract it is to report it immediately to the sheriff. Brett realizes that his own sister is behind this move to outlaw Trone.

Lola was gone when Brett came out with the rifle, the dust of her passage settling back over the ridge. Brett got into the saddle and reined the roan toward the hills that hid this part of Fasken range, When presently—for no sure reason—he glanced around, he found Trone watching from the open door.

He crossed the little hills. The sun dropped lower. The air was twisted and wriggly with heat, distorting whatever a man tried to look at, and smoky with haze where in the deeper distances the sky came down to brush baked earth.

The grass underfoot in this light was gray. Seared and tough it gave off curls of dust, in some places so brittle the merest touch broke it, reducing it to chaff. Riding west across boundries, staying away from the roads, it shouldn't be much over a four-hour trip. Plenty of time to see most of the things Brett would rather not look at—time enough to drive a man crazy, feeling the jaws of this thing closing in on him.

Just past dark he picked out the lights of Hobbled O, golden slashes in the blue-black immensity of unfathomable space. His father's ranch. . . .

No. Jo Fasken's ranch. He remembered the look of her the night he'd walked out with the money she'd flung at him fluttering about the harsh strike of his boots. She would never forgive him. No chance to start over—not for Brett Fasken, committed to keeping Trone's place out of her hands. And this on top of what he'd done to Clint Wilder.

She was like some great octopus, strangling this range, caring for nothing but power.

The bunkhouse was dark. Two lamps still showed when Brett rode into the yard, both in the house. One of these, the farthest, behind a drawn shade, was in Brett's old room; the nearer was in what they'd always used for an office. Light from this ranged out across the dust, revealing the day pen open and empty.

So the crew was gone.

I've been a fool, Brett thought, to come here without a gun.

No, this wasn't the time for that sort of thing. He'd been right. Trone's rifle was on the horse—he hadn't even thought to find if it was loaded! No matter. You didn't go into a house with a rifle to report stolen cattle and hope to convince anyone you'd come with clean hands. Violence grew its own kind of fruit—as who should know better than Brett Fasken!

He moved across to the door of the office and knocked.

The door opened and Brett's sister was in front of him, against the light tendrils of hair fanned out around her head, silently surveying him, one hand still grasping the knob she had turned.

"Come in," she said, stepping back to give him room. She walked around him to the desk and stood there, straight as he remembered, eying him without expression. "Shut the door," she said.

Brett heeled it to and put his back against it. She was still a handsome woman, but the years showed, every one of them.

"Don't you ever pull a comb through that hair any more?" Brett just couldn't help it. She could hit on more ways to get under his guard than a coiled tiger snake and he struck back—needing to hurt—just as he always had, without stopping to think. "Goin' round in pants! You tryin' to live up to that name they've hung on you?"

"Same old Brett," she said with her lip curled. "You're wasting your time. I said all I had to say to you before you left."

"I'm here," he said, "to report some blotched stuff we found that belongs to you. Packin' Trone's brand on top of Hobbled O, but he never put it there. I'm ridin' for Vic now. He sent me over to tell you—"

"There isn't anything you can tell me about that thief that will help him now. I've got him dead to rights—"

"He never touched those cows. He's been flat on his back in bed with a bullet."

She didn't believe him. She had made up her mind long ago about Trone. She had Trone where she wanted him now. Brett had to say something. He said, "Stoker's been notified."

All that got him was a look of contempt.

"You'd better go." She tipped back her head, still eying him, and spoke with a cold disdain. "That girl's turned your head. She's making a fool of you."

"Leave her out of this."

Jo laughed. "If you can't stand the truth the door's right behind you. Men! she sneered. "I'm surprised you'd dare leave her long enough to come over here. From what I've heard—"

"Never mind what you've heard! You better be thinkin' what's going to happen if Currycomb gets into this. Flagler's no chump. He's not going to sit with his knees crossed while Tice and your outfit are puttin' the skids under him. I'll tell you somethin' else—you got any regard for his health you better keep that kid away from me."

Her eyes went flat as fish scales. Her cheeks turned purple and then dead white. "You lay hand to that boy . . . Get out! Get out!"

Edward Bacon, Beardstown Man, Dies Friday

Edward Earl Bacon, Beardstown resident, died Friday at 12:30 a.m. He had become ill Thursday afternoon, but had been under a doctor's care for some time.

He was a Morgan County native, born Aug. 1, 1891. He was united in marriage to Louella Steadman, Dec. 23, 1914, and she preceded him in death. He was then married to Mary Berger who also preceded him in death. In 1958 he was married to Ila Cosner of Jacksonville, and she survives.

Also surviving are one son, Edward Bacon, of Beardstown; two brothers, Jerry Bacon of Jacksonville and Claude of Tallula; and one sister, Mrs. Dora Clark of Roodhouse.

The body is at the Cline Funeral Home where services will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday. Interment will be in Walnut Ridge cemetery in Virginia.

Mrs. Barwick, Cass Native, Dies In West

ASHLAND — Mr. and Mrs. John Adkins of Prentice received word of the death of their daughter, Vera Adkins Barwick, which occurred at a hospital in Glendale, Calif., following a stroke the day she entered the hospital on Aug. 1.

She was born June 18, 1900 at Prentice and attended Ashland grade school and Illinois Woman's College, Jacksonville. She spent most of her life in central Illinois, and went to California in 1935, where she made her home until her death.

Before going to California, she spent most of her time in giving lectures on her tour in Russia, England and Germany, which she made under the sponsorship of the Caterpillar Tractor Co., of Peoria, from 1930 to 1931. She was invited to speak on her knowledge of life and customs of the people of these nations by several church, civic and educational organizations.

Mrs. Barwick had been in failing health for approximately 17 years, following an industrial accident in California. She was a member of the First Southern Baptist church in Glendale, Calif., and is survived by her parents; three brothers, John Thomas Adkins, Prentice, Armour Adkins of Philadelphia and Oakleigh of Saldora. She also leaves two sons: Randall Johnson of San Diego, Calif., and Elliott Johnson, of near this city. Four grandchildren also survive.

Funeral services were held in Glen Haven Mortuary in San Fernando, Calif., on Aug. 4.

Mrs. Mary Jones, Former Waverly Resident, Dies

Mrs. Mary Walker Jones passed away at Crawfordsville, Ind., Thursday morning. She was a sister of Lewis Walker of Waverly.

Mrs. Jones was born June 7, 1895, at Waverly. Her parents were Nicholas and Ida Huffman Walker. Her husband preceded her in death a number of years ago.

Surviving are one foster son, Lee Baldwin of Miami, Okla.; one brother and two sisters, Stan, Nellie and Stella Walker, of Crawfordsville; one sister, Mrs. Helen Rusner of Portland, Ore.

She was a member of the Methodist Church and the O.E.S.

Funeral services were held Saturday at Crawmordsville, Ind. The body will be brouht to the muneral home in Waverly on Sunday with raveside services to be held at Waverly East Cemetery at 3 p.m.

Hammond Funeral Held Thursday

CARROLLTON — Funeral services for Mrs. Frances Burton Hammond, wife of Robert Hammond, were held Thursday at 2 p.m. with the Rev. Robert Pitsch, pastor of the Methodist church, officiating. William Alfeld was the soloist with Mrs. Donald Langer playing the organ accompaniment.

The pallbearers were Billy Burton, Richard Carl Wright, K. B. Wright, Ronald Hudson, John Melvin and Lester Doyle. Interment was in Hickory Grove cemetery.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—The scene was a well-furnished living room and the characters were husband and wife, played by Les Tremayne and Audrey Meadows.

As they talked back and forth, Tremayne stodo beside a table meticulously building a batch of the driest dry martinis ever concocted from water, colored water, ice and an olive.

Director Alfred Hitchcock, sitting just out of camera range, kept his eyes fastened on Tremayne as the actor poured a hefty slug of water from a gin bottle into a container. He nodded slightly as Tremayne uncorked a vermouth bottle, poured a bit of the liquid into a glass beaker and then, after due consideration, poured back into the bottle all but a few drops. The few drops then went into the simulated cocktail.

The scene ended and the crew moved the equipment to another set next door.

Meanwhile, Hitchcock sat quietly to one side, occasionally conferring with a member of the crew or a performer in a conversational tone. There were no histrionics, no dramatic cries of "Action" or "Cut!" When Hitchcock was satisfied with the way a scene had gone, he merely glanced over toward the men at the camera and nodded his head.

Hitchcock was directing the final scenes of the first show in his fall series, "Mrs. Bixby and the Colonel's Coat." During the rest of the season he'll direct two or three more, but his first show is particularly important. "Hitchcock Presents," after several seasons as a Sunday night confection in the CBS line-up, moves to NBC Sept. 27 and into a Tuesday night spot. All concerned are fretting a bit about the impending time and network change after all these years in the same spot.

Hitchcock strolled over and I asked him if he planned to tone down his sometimes macabre tales now that the program would be seen at 8:30 p.m.—an hour earlier than in the other years and at a time when more young people would be watching.

"Let us say," he corrected gently, "that hereafter the children will be able to get to bed earlier."

NBC has pulled together a musical tribute to the late Oscar Hammerstein II and will show it tonight, 8:30-9 p.m. (EDT).

PUBLIC AUCTION OF VALUABLE FARM

Pursuant to the power and authority set forth in the Last Will and Testament of W. Chauncy Carter, deceased, the undersigned Executor will sell at public auction on at 11:00 o'clock A.M.

at the South door of the Morgan County Court House in Jacksonville, Illinois, the following described real estate, to-wit:

The North East Quarter, except 60 acres off of the North side thereof; 11 acres off of the North end of the West Half of the South East Quarter, and one (1) acre off of the North end of the East Half of the South East Quarter; and the North East Quarter of the South West Quarter. All being situated in Section 5, in Township 14 North and Range 10 West of the Third Principal Meridian, in Morgan County, Illinois, and containing 150 acres, more or less.

TERMS OF SALE: 25% cash in hand at time of sale and balance within 30 days from date of sale upon approval of title and tender of Executor's Deed. Said real estate will be sold subject to the 1960 taxes, payable in 1961, but purchaser will be allowed a credit against sale price equal to the taxes due in 1960, which will be paid by the estate. Full possession will be given on or before March 1, 1961, but purchaser will have the right to enter upon stubble ground for the purpose of preparing ground and sowing wheat. Premises will be sold and conveyed subject to all public and private roads or easements as now existing and located. A complete Abstract of Title showing good and indefeasible title will be furnished.

GENERAL DESCRIPTION: The above described real estate is excellently located on the West side of U.S. Highway No. 67, about 1 mile South of Jacksonville and a quarter of a mile South of the Drive-In Theatre. Approximately 95 acres are tillable, of which about 80 acres are highly productive prairie soil. Improvements consist of a large 2-story house, with electricity, various outbuildings and good wells.
